Army Officer Replies To Graphic Editorial On Nahanton Street

A recent editorial in The Graphic not only has commanded the attention of military officials but may pave the way for the allocation of federal funds for the construction of a new highway to the Nike battery located near the Newton-Needham line.

It is the latest and newest developent in a prolonged controversy over Nahanton st.

A few weeks ago, army authorities expressed the hope that Nahanton st. would be modernized and rebuilt. They said that it is not adequate to accommodate the heavy trucks and tanks which have to use it to reach the Nike base.

The Graphic, in commenting on that request, offered the opinion that if the army wants a new roadway constructed to accommodate the big tanks and trucks which lumber to and from the Nike battery it should build one and not look to the taxpayers of Newton to do so.

Gibbs Says Gas Rebate 'Big Steal'

"A big steal" was the way Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton has described a bill to provide users of the Massachusetts Turnpike with a rebate on their state gasoline tax.

Senator Gibbs asserted similar legislation had been sought and killed during the last two years.

Under the measure, motorists would apply for a rebate of the tax on gasoline used on the 125-mile toll road. The rebate

Look, Dr. White! Newton Has Lots Of Adult Cyclists

Last night it became dad's turn—and mom's, too.

Young America who participated in their own bicycle safety program last week looked on. They reserved judgment. Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley who put the adults through their paces, however, said they did pretty well.

In fact, before the seminar, which got under way at 7 p.m. was concluded, Officer Feeley was willing to go on record as saying that Newton has a fine batch of both child and adult cyclists wiling to take Dr. Paul Dudley White's advice.

Not only that but the majority would be able to return completely in one piece—sans accidents.

If you meet a member of the Newton Chamber of Commerce with his coat collar turned up and his hands burrowed deep in his pockets don't hop to the conclusion the heat's got him.

He's probably a member of the Chamber's, executive committee trying to visualize in mid-summer how our shopping districts will look in December. Among the Exec Committee's assignments is to determine whether or not Newton's ready for a city-wide Christmas lighting program on a unified, cooperative basis.

A fella's got to get himself into the mood to carry out a job like that properly. And if there's anything to that "mind-over matter" stuff, maybe that Exec Committee assignment isn't so tough after all.

Newtonville Woman Named B. U. Nursing School Dean

Dr. Marie Farrell of 96 Withington road, Newtonville, is the new dean of Boston University's 10-year-old school of nursing, it was announced this week by President Harold C. Case.

Dr. Farrell becomes the second dean in the history of the school, following the retirement of Dean Martha Ruth Smith. Miss Farrell joined the faculty of the school of nursing in 1947 as professor of nursing, serving in both teaching and advisory capacities since her original appointment. She has served as acting dean for the past two years.

Born in West Pittsfield, Mass., Dean Farrell obtained her undergraduate degree as well as her master of arts and doctor of education degrees at Teachers College, Columbia University New York. After a teaching career at Teachers College from 1934 to 1943, she became consultant on nursing education for the United States Public Health Service.

Boston University's new dean of nursing has served actively on state commissions in New York and New Hampshire in establishing nursing programs for state agencies and state universities.

Dr. Farrell's professional and academic associations since 1952 have been numerous and varied. She has served as a member of the advisory committee of the W. K. Kellogg

Aldermen Study $46,500 Request

Two appropriations totailing $46,600 have been submitted by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., to the Board of Aldermen and have been referred to the Aldermanic finance and public works committees.

A $37,600 appropriation was recommended by the Mayor for the acceptance and construction of Cragmore road. Also proposed was an expenditure of $9000 to eliminate a drainage nuisance in Greenwood street.

Graphic Forecast Water Curbs Here

The regulation issued by Mayor Whitmore prohibiting the watering of lawns throughout Newton between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. for the duration of the emergency drought period, was accurately predicted in last week's Graphic which reported that householders in the city faced drastic curbs on the use of water unless the extended dry spell was broken by a heavy rainfall.

That Clean Look Follows Mayor's Appeal to Public

Old streets had a new look and some of the new ones looked newer as the city gave a very satisfactory response to Mayor Howard Whitmore's "Keep Newton Clean' appeal.

No Watering of Lawns Between 7 AM-10 PM

Widespread cooperation with Mayor Whitmore's order banning the watering of lawns between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m., was reported today in all sections of Newton.

In a few isolated cases police have instructed householders, who were unaware of the Mayor's edict, to turn off their hoses and sprinklers.

Second-offenders, who disregard the warnings of police, will face court prosecution, it was learned.

Generally speaking, however, there was almost complete compliance with the regulation promulgated by Mayor Whitmore.

Although exact figures were not available, it appears that the 20 percent reduction in water consumption, which was the objective of the Mayor's move, has been accomplished as far as Newton is concerned.

At many homes hoses and sprinklers were turned on promptly at 10 p.m. But in a majority of cases it seemed that householders had abandoned any idea of watering their lawns for the duration of the drought period.

Showers helped to ease the effect of the ban on the hosing and sprinkling of lawns and gardens except between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Hundreds of residents philosophically shrugged off the new restriction with the observation that their lawns already have been so severely burned and browned by the prolonged dry spell that they can't become much worse.

Mayor Whitmore's action in prohibiting lawn-watering for a 15-hour period each day was taken at the request of Metropolitan District Commission, not because Newton was con-

Minister Is Star Witness

The Rev. James H. Burns of 61 Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands, an executive of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, is considered by his friends here as having been the star witness thus far in the efforts of Paul Dwyer to exonerate himself of a double murder in Maine 20 years ago.

The sensational testimony of the Rev. Mr. Burns that he was in fear of his own life while he attended the Dwyer murder trial in South Paris, Me., has been the highlight of new statements made in the case.

The Rev. Mr. Burns declared that Paul Dwyer, 17 years old at the time of his trial, was in fear of his own life and that he pleaded guilty to a murder

Joan Lafford, Fine Player -- Teacher Keeps Burr at Top

For 30 years they've been calling Newton's Burr Playground "The Longwood" of the city's whole municipal tennis system.

For off Burr's courts have come a stream of pretty good racket wielders since the 1920s. They've come in a quantity and a quality that's truly remarkable.

And don't be over-nasty about taking any bets that one of the other play areas of the city is going to slip by Burr in the years immediately ahead. It's true that they've been coming fast all over the city in recent years. It's true, too, that tennis is city-wide in popularity today.

However, Burr isn't ready to cede its claim to top honors for the mostest and the bestest in the younger line of tennis talent .

Not while they still have Joan Lafford to show Burr playgrounds how it's done. Joan, recreation leader at Burr, combines personality, teacher-training and a successful tennis background to produce some mighty fine players.

This summer she's conducting the largest tennis clinics Burr has known in years.

Mr. Thompson, who has been active in Northeastern Alumni affairs for more than a quarter of a century, has served two years as vice president of the Alumni Association, was chairman of the 25th reunion held by the class of 1930 and has held other offices in the Alumni Association.

State Commission Lauds Newton's Junior College

Newton Junior College has attracted most favorable attention from the State Commission on the Audit of State Needs. Since the commission came into being it has been studying the State future needs in the field of private and public institutions of higher learning. It concludes that even a limited peep into the near future shows a most alarming prospect.

In one of the few bright spots in its survey thus far, however, it finds that Newton Junior College and the recently-organized Quincy Junior College offer tremendous promise. It indicates they hold much hope for the bad days it professes to see ahead.

Newton Fellow Workers Feel Deep Sorrow for Father of Slain Boys

A great outpouring of sympathy for Jean L. Logan, father of the two Stoughton brothers who were victims of a double slaying, has taken place among his fellow employees at the Stowe-Woodward Company in Newton Upper Falls.

Mr. Logan, 40, is chief engineer at the plant.

Known as a reserved, pleasant, but quiet man, the grief that the father has suffered since the bodies of his two boys were found, has been understood by his fellow workers.

Statements attributed to him in newspapers that he has no bitterness toward Raymond Ohlson, who is accused of being the double killer, only reflect the depth of the father's great grief it was pointed out by some of those who know him best.

Some of his fellow workers have said it is in keeping with his character that he is not displaying violent emotions

His statement: "I have no bitterness toward the killer. What good would it do? It won't help my sons. It is no use to be angry—to try and take it out on anybody else. Nothing will help," made many of those who know him best remark that this is typical of the way in which he can keep his reserve.

His first reaction that he would like to "break the killer in two" was considered only a natural attitude, but as the hours passed his reserve swiftly returned.

Audit Group Sees Education Break-Down

Colleges In Mass To Slam Doors On Many Hundreds of Newtonites

Even if all existing private and public institutions of higher learning expand their facilities to maximums now planned there'll be a large number of college-age young men and women in Newton who'll find college and university doors closed to them, just a few years hence.

It will not be due to the fact that the potential college students can't qualify from a scholastic standpoint. It's just that the colleges will be filled to overflowing.

There just won't be any room for the "Just one mores."

That's the dire forecast of the State Commission on the Audit fo State Needs. The Commission has been studying the question of higher education since it came into being early in the present State administration.

The further it goes in its study, the more convinced it has become that unless something is done about it quickly a lot of people who want to go to college will just have to look beyond this Commonwealth to realize the ambition.

In Greater Boston, alone, says the Commission, 58,000 to

Chief Warns Fire Hazard Still Exists

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., declared today that a fire hazard still exists in Newton despite recent showers and that outdoor fires are still banned in the city.

Chief Perkins issued this statement in commenting on a communication from State Director of Forests and Parks Raymond A. Kenney listing the rules and regulations governing outdoor fires of any kind.

During the present emergency a permit for an outdoor fire may be issued only by the fire chief himself. It cannot even be granted by a subordinate officer in the fire department.

Under the provisions of the regulations promulgated by the State Department of Conservation even Chief Perkins may issue permits only in extreme cases where public necessity will not allow of delay.

Where permits are granted for outdoor burnings, the burning must be supervised by a member of the fire department.

The emergency regulations do not apply to outdoor grilles of barbecues in private homes where the coals on which steaks or frankfurters are cooked are entirely surrounded by metal so that there is virtually no chance of a flying ember starting a conflagration.

Despite the scattered showers as the month came to an end, weather bureau officials reported that Newton had an abnormally small amount of rain during July. As a result trees, shrubbery and even buildings are so dry from the prolonged drought that a fire could spread quickly. That condition is responsible for the special precautions concerning outdoor fires.

Furcolo's Deftly-Put Quips May Cause Him Political Woe

Governor Foster Furcolo apparently has the same ready talent for the fast quip that former Governor James M. Curley possessed back through the years.

Curley frankly confessed in his book that his faculty for turning a quick phrase, which tickled the public humor, gained him laughs but lost him votes and possibly elections. Whether Furcolo's tendency in the same direction will help or hurt him politically is something only time will determine

There is no question at all, however, that the Governor is playing with political fire in making Democratic State Senate Leader John E. Powers the target of his witty but sharp observations.

Furcolo and Powers met in a head-on collision in their battle over the sales tax issue. While the measure never reached the Senate, there is no doubt whatever that Powers was more responsible than any other individual for the defeat of the sales tax.

Most political observers, well aware that the sales tax fight and other differences have created a definite

Australian Scout Leaders Like Newton's Hospitality

Nine Australians who've seen quite a bit of this world, enjoying its hospitality quite extensively as they go their way from country to country and city to city, have an idea that about the best place on the globe in which to live is a city called Newton.

Next to the Land Down Under, that is.

Newton zoomed to the top of their list of "Most Friendly Places We Have Been" when they took a good look at the city and sampled the hospitality of some of its families.

The Australians are nine Boy Scout leaders engaged in taking a leisurely trip home following the International Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge.

Newton got into the act and on their agenda when George Shannon of Newton, scoutmaster of Norumbega Council's jamboree troop, and David Hoover of Wellesley, member of the Section 18 staff, met the Australians at Valley Forge. Shannon and Hoover learned the visitors planned to drop in on Boston on their way home.

They immediately arranged to have them make Newton their headquarters during the Massachusetts stay. Plans were formulated through the Norumbega Council officers for local Scout families to act as hosts.

Host families were Mr. and Mrs. William Mark of Auburndale, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Peterson of Newton Centre, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Starkweather of Waban, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tower of West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Cliffoffrd French of Wellesley.

The nine Australians were first tendered a small reception at the Hoover home and there met the host families.

Jack Crosby of Auburndale, Section 19 Jamboree staff member, escorted them on a one day tour of Boston, taking the Freedom Trail in the morning and visiting Lexington and Concord in the afternoon.

A mid-day lunch in a restaurant facing Charles River gave the visitors a taste of Boston schrod.

More trips, such as a visit to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, delighted the visitors.

After three fine days they flew to England for the start of a continental trip—part of their route on their long way home.

The Australian contingent was nine in number, and was led by K. J. Brewster, who is headquarters commissioner for scouts of Victoria and one of the leading volunteer Scout leaders in his country. In connection with their participation in the National Jamboree at Valley Forge and the Jubilee Jamboree in England next month, the group is making a trip around the world.

They left their native land in early June, and toured this country extensively before coming to Valley Forge. After the English Jamboree, they will tour England and the Continent before returning via the Suez Canal to Australia, where they will arrive in December.

fronted with any water shortage.

As explained in The Graphic last week, Newton, because it is the first city on the MDC water system, had a plentiful supply of water and except in a few districts where fires occurred was able to maintain an adequate water pressure.

However, the request by Chairman Charles Greenough of the Metropolitan District Commission for a 20 percent reduction in the consumption of water applied to all 26 cities and towns supplied water by the MDC.

Water consumption in Newton has reached an all-time high during the past few weeks. Never before have residents of the city used so much water in a comparable period as they have during the month just ended.

Mayor Whitmore in issuing his regulation restricting the hours during which lawns may be watered appealed for full public cooperation so there would be no necessity for court prosecution.

In his emergency statement the Mayor said:

"In view of the serious prevailing drought conditions and the urgent request of the Metropolitan District Commission that all communities cut water consumption by 20 percent, restrictions on the use of water are hereby imposed by prohibiting the watering of lawns between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m.

"Your cooperation is urgently requested so that further restrictions and the prosecution of violations will not be necessary.

"This regulations is now in effect and will remain so until officially rescinded."

a reply to The Graphic editorial which states:

"Dear Sir:

"Your editorial, entitled 'Let the Army Build It,' has come to my attention.

"Thank you for your kind words about NIKE soldiers being stationed in your community.

"In your editorial, you referred to the heavy wear Nahanton st. is receiving from Army vehicles. You state that the tax burden of improving Nahanton st. would be too gerat for the city to bear and that if Army must use the highway, it should finance its own roads.

"I can advise you that there may be a solution to this problem. Under the provisions of 23 US Code 106, the Federal Commissioner of Public Roads, on application from local authorities, is authorized to contribute funds to installation, on certification by the military that the road is necessary for national defense.

"I am bringing this matter to the attention of the Commanding General, 56th AAA, at Fort Devens. It may be possible for the Army and the community, working in consonance, to affect an equitable solution of the problem."

That letter to The Graphic was signed by Major Patrick L. Klein, public information officer at the 1st Region U. S. Army Air Force Defense Command in Fort Trotten, N. Y.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., when informed of Major Klein's letter, declared that he would give it his immediate and careful attention.

At the same time the Mayor disclosed that the matter of Nahanton st. is under study and that the possibility of relocating the bridge over the Charles River is being considered.

Nahanton st. actually has been in the news for some time. Even before the Army politely voiced the wish that the street be rebuilt, the Needham town fathers made a similar request in a letter to Mayor Whitmore.

Needham has rebuilt Kendrick st., which is the continuation of Nahanton st., and the officials of that community felt that Newton should follow suit on its end of the thoroughfare.

Whether The Graphic editorial may prod the army into assuming a share of the cost of any reconstruction job undertaken on Nahanton st. is something time alone will determine. But at least it has drawn a formal reply from the military.

Mayor Whitmore said that he has been in consultation with both State and Federal authorities on the matter and that he will immediately examine the law referred to by Major Klein.

Paul Fithian In Title Roll

Paul Fithian of 236 Gerry road, Chestnut Hill, a 21-year-old actor for whom a notable career is being predicted, is featured in the title role of the Tufts Arena Theatre production of "Amphitryon 38," which runs through Saturday evening, August 3.

He portrays the pompous husband of Alkmena, who is unaware of the god Jupiter's intentions upon his beloved.

A graduae of Middlebury College, Mr. Fithian's college experiences took him inside of theater not only in America, but also in Spain, where he spent his junior year at the University of Madrid. Acting in the Madrid Little Theater, he secured invaluable dramatic training that will serve him well in the ambitious season at Tufts.

Returning to Middlebury for his final year, Paul played the leading roles in "Hedda Gabler", "Stalag 17", "Sleep of Prisoners" and "The Chalk Garden." Honored by his college, he was presented a special citation at graduation last June for . . . "outstanding active participation in dramatics."

The 21-year-old actor has been seen in two other plays at Tufts this season, in addition to "'Amphitryon 38." As Monsieur Bernard in "Dr. Knock," and as a god in "The Good Woman of Setzuan,' Mr. Fithian has been kept quite busy, and will continue this rugged pace throughout the summer.

With his eyes focused upon a career in acting, Paul, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fithian, has no immediate plans except work and more work. Still a bachelor, the tall tow-headed thespian spends his rare free time painting, and during the winter season escapes to the hills whenever possible, for his favorite pasttime—skiing.

Colleges-

66,000 college age (18-21) young adults will be qualified for higher education, yet there will be only 47,000 places to accommodate them.

In Newton, the commission estimates, there are 4100 young persons of college age. By 1965, it estimates, there will be 6500.

The colleges just won't be big enough to handle the increase, even if they carry out all present plans, the commission asserts.

The Audit listed the following as the chief causes of the growing shortage of college places:

1. The war baby boom "which is already swelling the grammar and high schools and crowding the present college facilities." By 1965 there will be twice as many college age youths as in 1950 which means double the number of better-than-average students taking the available places.

2. The need for more skilled enginers, technicians and administrators for such industries as electronics, machinery, plastics, aircraft and in the developing atomic power field.

3. The rising standard of living which makes college possible for more and more students.

"The great and growing shortage of teachers on all levels is another reason why our college and teacher-training facilities must be rapidly expanded, just to keep up with the population pressures in our elementary schools," the Audit pointed out.

The Audit said its college shortage figures are conservative since they assume that the same proportion of Bay State students will be able to get into colleges elsewhere as at present.

"But the even greater pressure on colleges elsewhere," the Audit pointed out, "plus the rising costs of education, mean that a larger percentage will have to go within this state and very possibly to a college within easy commuting distance, thereby tightening the pressure on already overcrowded Massachusetts institutions."

Camp Director Ralph B. Johnson has announced that more than 40 camp staff members will provide the most active leadership for one of the widest ranges of activity ever provided at Camp Quinapoxet.

The Troop is the working unit at Camp Quinapoxet. Each Troop plans and conducts the program that it considers to be best for itself. Activities include swimming, boating, canoeing, sailing, mountain-climbing, hiking, conservation, forestry, pioneering, fishing, riflery, archery, Moskeet, volley ball, skish, etc.

Society Needs Attention, Too

The universal shock expressed by everyone who has read or heard of the Brockton atrocity which claimed the lives of two small, innocent boys will not soon be forgotton in this State.

Here in Newton where details of the wanton slaying of Merrill Lovinger on Feb. 4, 1955, remain starkly vivid in memory, the reaction is the same as it is all over the State.

How can such things occur in civilized communities? What must be done to guard the innocent.

There is no doubt but that the unspeakable Brockton slayings will serve for a short time, at least, to slow down the persistent, often ill-concealed latter-day drive to ease up on the administration of the laws drawn for the protection of society.

There is every indication that these two Stoughton brothers were sacrificed to a diseased mind.

There is also every indication that this Commonwealth somewhere along the line fell down badly in affording the protection those boys and society have every reason to expect.

Who is to blame?

In the weeks and months ahead it is pretty certain the murder of the Logan brothers will be discussed at great length. It can be fairly forecast right now that no one will be adjudged legally responsible for letting a madman loose.

We'll have more talk about tightening laws. And when that talk has run it due course we'll get back to the thinking of the few well-meaning but badly disillusioned Do-Gooders who believe we're too hard in judging the perpetrators of murder.

"We can't be too hard," the Do-Gooders tell us. "We must educate. We must rehabilitate. Crime is a disease. We must cure it by building airy, comfortable prisons.

"We must forget things like electric chairs. We must make parole more easy so that those who are locked up may be returned to society just as quickly as possible."

The little Logan brothers never read the Wessel Report with its provisions to make things a little easier for the poor men behind bars and to get them circulating back in society more quickly.

The Logan brothers didn't read about Teddy Williams getting four-for-four last Sunday. They couldn't read about that. They were dead.

Perhaps, some day soon we'll have another study commission formed to make another study made of crime.

No doubt, some mighty fine people will be appointed to it. They'll be high-minded, intelligent and inspired with a desire to do good things.

Let's hope that along with any concern they may have for making the lives of potential killers easier they'll also show a bit of concern for the Merrill Lovingers and the little Logan boys of tomorrow.

Political Overtones

coolness between Furcolo and Powers, have assumed the pair would go to some lengths to dispel any impression that there is any deep-seated hostility between them.

Powers has endeavored to do exactly that. He has declared repeatedly he and Furcolo are good friends, that he was opposing the sales tax, not the Governor, and that there will be many occasions on which he will be fighting at the side of his party leader.

Governor Furcolo, on the other hand, as far as this writer knows, has made no protestations of friendship for Powers. Seemingly he has gone out of his way to direct a deftly coined jibe at Powers.

That is a little surprising. Furcolo understandably was bitterly disappointed by the major defeat he suffered in the sales tax conflict. He undoubtedly blames Powers in a large measure for the rebuff and the blow to his prestige. But Governor Furcolo is a professional politician who knows that the period between gubernatorial campaigns is not over-long.

The Governor's indulgence in witticisms he apparently can't resist could cause a shattering eruption of political fireworks. Powers, old pro in politics that he is, is not likely to take too many of Governor Furcolo's wisecracks before he sends back a few of his own, and the South Boston Senator is not without the ability to turn a cutting quip himself.

"John has lost one of the ladies," was the Governor's witty comment when reporters told him of the vote in the State Senate by which he lost his fight for the power to appoint six additional judges to the Massachusetts Superior Court.

That was a reference to the fact that Senator Mary L. Fonseca of Fall River had voted with Powers to kill the so-called court-packing bill while Senator Elizabeth A. Stanton of Fitchburg had cast her vote for the measure.

Ordinarily, Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Fonseca, the two Democratic women members in the Senate, line up with Powers in whatever stand he takes for or against a bill. Powers has guided, advised and assisted the two lady Senators since they first entered the upper legislative chamber. They still look to him for counsel and leadership.

The fact that on this occasion Mrs. Stanton was on the opposite side from Powers, which rarely happens, prompted the Governor's remark.

Truth of the matter was that Powers did not make any attempt to line up Mrs. Stanton or anyone else against Furcolo's bill. The likelihood is that Powers could have persuaded Mrs. Stanton to record herself against the measure if he had undertaken to do so.

Powers, however, simply cast his vote against the proposal. He let it go at that. It is both reasonable and logical to assume that what he was doing was protecting himself on an issue which might have been used against him when he runs for Mayor of Boston two years from now if he had voted to add six more judges to the Superior Court.

In this instance Governor Furcolo not only presumably irritated Powers but very obviously annoyed and embarrased Senator Stanton who had stood with Furcolo on the judges' bill. That in itself was not exactly good political judgment.

While Powers remained silent, Mrs. Stanton slapped back at Furcolo with the assertation that by no means has Powers lost her. She quickly announced she stands "four-square" with the Senate Democratic leader.

The incident demonstrates quite clearly one of the reasons Furcolo has not enjoyed better relations with certain Democratic members of the Legislature during the past seven months.

It was rather surprising, incidentally, that Furcolo was able to muster 16 votes in the Senate in support of his court bill. No evidence whatever was offered to show that six additional judges are needed on the Superior Court bench or that the measure had any merit other than to allow Furcolo to make six judicial appointments.

Governor Furcolo's professed reaction to the defeat of the proposal was that "it's the Commonwealth's loss, but it saves me six headaches."

Most Beacon Hill observers consider the bill's rejection saved the Commonwealth the salaries of six judges who aren't needed and deprived the Governor of six appointments he obviously desired to make since he stepped in and put on the pressure to save the bill when it was originally defeated in the House of Representatives.

No Basis for Latest Rumors Powers to Run for Governor

During the heated debate in the House on the sales tax question some of the supporters of the measure, in turning their fire on Senator Powers, declared that he aspires to be the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1958.

There is absolutely no foundation of fact or truth for any such statement. Powers may one day run for Governor, but that day will not come next year.

Powers at the present time has one political aspiration and ambition. That is to be Mayor of Boston. He is aiming and driving for Boston's 1959 mayoralty campaign, and he is not looking beyond that contest.

Rumors and reports have been circulated on Beacon Hill that a prominent Democrat other than former State Senator Daniel Rudsten will challenge Furcolo at next year's pre-primary State convention.

That may prove to be the fact. The challenger, however, will not be Powers unless the political thinking of the Democratic Senate leader undergoes a complete revision.

Some political observers and a good many Democratic politicians believe Powers would defeat Furcolo if he ran against him on the sales tax issue in a Democratic primary.

They may be right in that contention. But it's not likely to be either proved or disproved. Powers is not planning to move up the political ladder as quickly as that. He'll run for reelection to the Senate next year and then strike out for Boston's mayoralty the following year.

There is widespread conjecture was to what Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Murphy will do in 1958. Murphy is one Democrat who remained completely aloof from the sales tax controversy. He took no part whatever in it and was not scarred by it.

It is generally assumed that Murphy was against the sales tax. If he was, he didn't say so, and he didn't incur the wrath of either faction. He stayed strictly out of harm's way.

Among the political insiders at the State House there is much more discussion of the possibility that Murphy might step out to oppose Furcolo at the pre-primary conclave than there is that Powers may do so.

Murphy and Furcolo have never really been friendly. Furcolo didn't want Murphy as his running mate for Lieutenant Governor and tried to persuade at least three other Democrats to accept the second spot on the Democrat State ticket before Murphy finally won the nomination.

The best information available at the House is that while Furcolo and Murphy work together publicly their relationship actually hasn't improved much during the months they have been Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Appeal-

wife would be quick to point out that there are still some people thoughtless enough to heave an empty fried clam carton out of the window of an automobile. She'd emphasize, too, that some people don't care if old papers blow off their lawn on to some one else's.

But on the whole a start has been made.

Street Commissioner Frank K. Perkins and Sanitation Superintendent Francis L. Donnelly noted that the hauls to the dumping lots ran considerably over what might be expected at this time of the year when so many people are away.

The public streets and sidewalks, playgrounds, school yards, parks and like spots still present a bit of a problem.

Some folks seem to forget that Newton's their city and that a clean city actually adds a tangible asset to their own property.

The cooperation thus far has been wonderful. It can be stepped up quite a bit and that's the aim of the Mayor and all good housekeepers.

Scout Relates Experiences On Western Trip

The following article was written especially for The Graphic by Herbert McKinney of Newton, one of the Explorer Scouts who have been on a camping trip in New Mexico.

By HERBERT McKINNEY

We are now at our camping headquarters in Cimarron, New Mexico. Everyone is getting ready for the long trip home.

In our last night at the Cimarroncito base camp our food supply was raided by a bear, which got all of our beverage mix, our pancake syrup and our sugar. Fortunately, we were able to get more supplies.

The next morning we left for Poebualno trail camp. At Poebualno we were supposed to shoot at running deer targets with 30.06 rifles. Also we were to take a course in hunter safety.

On the way to Poebualno we stopped at the Bench, a trail camp. From the Bench we had a wonderful view of the surrounding country. The next night we stayed at New Dean Trail Camp located in a canyon. It is surrounded by a fence to keep the animals out. At night the deer come right up to the edge of the fence and look over the campers. A few of the braver ones even jump the fence and graze on the camp sites.

From Poebualno we went to Ponil base camp. The road from Poebualno to Ponil follows the bed of an old narrow gauge logging railroad.

At Ponil we got burros for a four-day burro packing trip we will never forget. The trail we took went over a mountain. Everything was alright until we got to the top of the mountain. Then the burros started to run. We couldn't run fast enough to kep up with them, and so they dragged us down.

The camp we stopped at that night was called Indian Writings because of the symbols on the canyon walls. We had an opportunity there to work with archeologists who were uncovering old Indian houses. While at this camp site, one of our boys John Drury, had a birthday, and we used our biscuit mix and butter scotch pudding to make him a cake. It came out swell.

On the return trip to Ponil two of the burros threw off their packs and ran away.

Sullivan On Command Squad

Paul Sullivan of 129 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, will play guard this season on the first string team of the command football squad at Pensacola, Fla., where he is stationed with the Naval Air Force.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sullivan, the young athlete played on the varsity football team at NHS in 1953. He attended Thayer Academy where he played football and baseball, and the University of New Hampshire where he played hockey, baseball and football before entering the service last January.

Storyteller Spellbinds Newton's Small Fry

By PHYLLIS B. NEWTON

A sea of rapt faces, each belonging to a completely enthralled youngster, surrounds Newton's own storyteller, Virginia A. Tashjian, every time she holds court at one of her regularly scheduled summer story sessions.

"Absolute silence in the audience is not always the best compliment, however," says Mrs. Tashjian, a member of Newton's library department since 1943.

"When the children respond as you want them to—with rapt attention, with giggles and laughter, with a shocked gasp, or even with a tear in the eye—then you know the story-telling is a success."

"It takes long hours to choose and prepare a story for telling," says the lively, dark-eyed librarian, "but if you can achieve that certain response in your young audience, it is all well worthwhile!" The fact that Mrs. Tashjian is easy to know, informal, and the possessor of a warm and vital personality helps to establish a rapport between her and her little listeners almost at once.

Pegasus Popular

This talented lady, who has taken special courses in storytelling techniques and has lectured at Harvard as the guest of a professor of children's literature, finds that Greek mythology provides some of her most popular tales.

"Stories that really lend themselves to telling aloud are hard to find," she says, "but the youngsters love the one about Peresus killing Medea with the snaky hair and the one about Pegasus the flying horse. A fairy tale such as "Three Enchanted Mares" is also well-received, and when they ask me if the stories are really true—as they always do—my only answer is 'Now what do you think'?"

"There are many fine 'modern' stories, but I like to tell these old fables because they are such wonderful, suspenseful and dramatic tales—and because I feel the children will never hear them anywhere else. Little girls are partial to stories like "The Plain Princess" and "Molly Whuppie," while boys enjoy tales of courage like "Nazar the Brave."

Dialect Difficult

"I try always to include a story or two about life in other countries, such as 'Caliph and the Horse Thief,' but I shy away from dialect, limiting it to the least little touch. Although the youngsters love it, it is not a thing I do best!"

The fifth and last in this summer's series of story hours will take place next Thursday morning at 10:30 at the Boys and Girls Library, 126 Vernon St. Youngsters six and over will be welcome. Between 50 and 150 children enjoy these programs every week, with attendance growing steadily since Mrs. Tashjian began telling stories 14 years ago.

Between story hours, Newton's "lady of the bookshelf" is busy emptying the bookshelves at Nonantum where she serves as branch librarian. She is helping prepare for the removal of her branch to its brand-new building now under construction and scheduled to be ready for occupancy about Dec. 1.

All the books are being cleaned and re-classified as to literary merit and physical condition. Decisions must be made as to whether to retain them, dispose of them, or use them in another of the city's branches.

Visits Playgrounds

In addition, every summer, Mrs. Tashjian makes many visits to the city's playgrounds to bring children all over Newton an hour or so of her special brand of entertainment. It is not everyone who can confront an assortment of strange children and within minutes mold them into an avid audience.

"There are ways to do this," says this modest expert, "and it merely takes knowing how as in all other kinds of work. Generally, I start with a few sure-fire riddles or a very brief and humorous story designed to draw the group together so I can go on with a longer tale. The one problem at playgrounds is the varying age groups, but fortunately there are a few stories that seem to appeal to everyone."

During the school year, Mrs. Tashjian does book reviewing in classrooms throughout the city's 26 elementary schools and its four junior highs. She also appears at many assemblies and PTA meetings to speak on children's literature or on the history of Newton's library system with information about its many services.

Another important facet of her work is helping to select which of the 2,000 children's books published every year the city of Newton will buy. She reads between two and three books a night in an effort to intelligently choose the 400-500 best new books for Newton's young people.

Makes a Discovery

A graduate of Simmons College in 1943, the former Virginia Babian was awarded her degree in library science before coming to Newtonville as children's librarian. Mrs. Tashjian is the mother of a four-year-old son, Douglas, and makes her home in Watertown with her husband, an associate editor of a nationally-circulated Armenian magazine.

Virginia Tashjian's ability to enchant young people gives her lucky listeners a new realization that exciting stories are fun. From there it is but a short step to the discovery that more exciting stories come in books, and reading for pleasure becomes an extension of the listening for pleasure they have so much enjoyed.

sewers, water mains and drains will be among the projects proposed in the reports presented to Mayor Whitmore, it is anticipated.

The Mayor will turn over the reports to the Economic Development Associates which is making a $15,000 planning study for the city.

That group, in turn, will rate the various suggested projects in order of their priority and will work out what will amount to a timetable for the public improvements to be undertaken in the next six years.

The planners will complete their survey and make their findings in time so that their recommendations may be considered in preparing the city's budget for 1958.

100 Brides Face Loss of Voting Rights or Register New Names

More than 100 Newton women who were married during 1956 will be dropped from the city's voting list unless they register before the coming municipal election, City Clerk Monte G. Basbas disclosed today.

Basbas explained that the new brides are carried on the voting fist under their maiden names during the calendar year in which they are wed but must register under their married names the following year.

Notices, he said, have been and are being sent to the Newton brides of 1956 who were registered as voters before they were married.

City Clerk Basbas declared they may enroll as voters in room 101 on the ground floor of Newton City Hall between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on any business day. The city's voting lists will close 20 days before the election.

Basbas asserted that the law applies not only to women who change their names by marriage but also to men whose names are changed by court decree.

Persons who change their address but not their names are allowed to remain on the voting list merely by registering by mail from their new addresses.

The edict covering brides, Basbas emphasized, applies only to those who were married last year. Those who were wed this year need not re-register until next year unless they chose to do so.

At the same time persons who have reached their 21st birthday since the last State election or who will reach it by next November 5 were urged to stop at City Hall and enroll themselves as voters so they may cast their first ballot in the Newton city election.

Long Fight Looms On Walnut Street Funeral Home

Petition of Louis Schlossberg for the construction of a funeral home at 858 Walnut street, Newton Centre, appeared headed for further complications after a hearing by the Zoning Board of Appeals granted a petition of a resident opposing the home.

Counsel for the petitioner, Arline A. Hootstein of 84 Judith road, Newton Centre, informed the board that his client would be obliged to seek Superior Court action if the zoning board acted favorably on the establishment of the home.

Harris Reynolds, appearing for Mrs. Hootstein, asked the zoning appeal authorities to withhold their decision until the Board of Aldermen act upon a plea by the Judith road woman to change the zoning laws at the place of the project from "Business B" to "Residence C".

Arguing for Schlossberg, Attorney Ernest G. Angevine, former member of the Board of Aldermen, asserted that his client has a valid building permit. It was issued, he said, before a valid notice of the change of zone petition was published. He argued it would be unreasonable for the zoning board to withhold a decision until the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen, not scheduled until Sept. 9.

He further argued that the zoning laws permitted the erection of a funeral home when Schlossberg purchased the property. He pointed out the proposed site is opposite a cemetery.

The meeting was conducted by chairman V. Stoddard Bigelow, Fred P. Pegnato, secretary, and Edward R. Murphy, Maurice A. Reidy, Jr., and W. Cornell Appleton of the zoning appeals board. The board made no indication of how it would act.

It's 14 to 10 The Speed Demon Is NOT a Newtonite

If you happen to be gambling men and spot a motorist violating the rules of the road on Newton streets — the odds are 14 to 10 the violator is an out-of-towner.

At least that's the breakdown of a two big batches of motor car operators presented before the bar in Judge Donald E. Mayberry's session of Newton District Court on two days this week.

The complaints were mostly for speeding, though some just went past traffic signs with no attention to their meaning. The judge assessed a total of $110 in fines against the 14 out-of-towners. Against the 10 local residents the fines totalled $601.

In case you're interested, two of the out-of-town violators came from Waltham; two were from Soneham. The remainder came from Milford, Jamaica Plain, Natick, Weston, Roxbury, Watertown, Back Bay, Stoneham, Allston and Brookline.

Berding, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs, will be the principal speaker at the National Executive Committee Dinner of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States of America, on Tuesday evening, Aug. 13. The N.E.C. Dinner will be the opening function of the Jewish War Veterans' 62nd Annual National Convention in Boston.

The Convention, which will run from Tuesday, Aug. 13, through Sunday, Aug. 18, is expected to attract the largest turnout in the history of the organization, approximately 15,000 delegates and their families. It has been 17 years since JWV held an annual Convention in Boston. The last one was held in 1940.

Running concurrently with the JWV Convention will be the 30th Annual National Convention of JWV's National Ladies' Auxiliary. The women's organization was founded in Boston twenty-nine years ago and at least two of the eighteen signatories of the original Charter will be present at the Convention.

Divine Love Meets All Human Needs

How the understanding of God's inexhaustible goodness enables man to meet everyday needs will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love."

Scriptural selections will include the following from Ezekiel (34:11,14): "For thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out . . . I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (494:10): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Gibbs Opposes Bike Paths For Nantucket

Newton's Senator Donald L. Gibbs this week vigorously opposed a bill providing for the expenditure of State funds for the construction of bicycle path on Nantucket Island.

The measure was approved, however, over his objection.

Gibbs demanded to know why the State shouldn't establish bicycle paths in Newton and other areas if it is going to build them on Nantucket. He estimated that exclusive of land-takings the Nantucket bicycle paths will cost Massachusetts taxpayers between $42,000 and $65,000.

Peirce Playground Ends First Month With Races And Exhibit

Four weeks of fun, enthusiasm and learning got a critical review at the Peirce playground when a Play-Day was ordered to mark the completion of the first four weeks of regular summer activities.

Honored guests were parents —mostly mothers. They were impressed. They likewise had a good time themselves.

The program was under the direction of Playground Leaders Marita Forrest, Judy Brown and James Leonard. It consisted of competition in foot racing, skills and accuracy with the various competitors grouped according to age.

Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson distributed the prizes.

The parents liked the races but appeared to be even more interested in the exhibit of craft work under direction of Crafts Supervisors Gladys Forbush and Ralph W. Hamilton. It was quite a show.

The older boys put on show useful and decorative articles fashioned from wood and metal. The older girls were able to show some stuffed animals, puppets, felt cases, yarn octopi, waste baskets, pins, bracelets and clothespins dolls.

For admiration and interest the younger children put on a display of bracelets, potholders, bibs and some of the less complex sewing projects.

Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, district supervisor praised the cooperation ofr parents through the first four weeks of the season. She anticipates four more weeks of stimulating work and play before the parents are invited over again on August 23.

MRS. KENNETH G. DONALD

Mrs. Donald Is Small Firms Head 1st United Fund

Mrs. Kenneth G. Donald of 30 Beechcroft road, Newton, has been appointed small firms chairman for Newton's first annual United Fund drive this fall.

Long associated with civic and charitable endeavors, Mrs. Donald is a former president of the Radcliffe College Club of Cleveland and was chairman of the Radcliffe Fund drive throughout Ohio.

She is a member of the Newell Club, the Newton Auxiliary of the Francis Willard Home, the Newton Centre Garden Club and the Social Science Club of Newton. She is a member of the Brae Burn Country Club.

She will be assisted as small firms chairman by Mrs. Morgan Campbell of 293 Franklin street, Newton.

Mrs. Donald recently stated that she is a firm believer in the new drive which is designed to eliminate excessive soliciting from various charitable groups. "The 'E Pluribus Unum' aspect —that is, one organization representing a large number — greatly appeals to me and I am certain that it will to every other individual in the city who has been called upon to help the various agencies in almost innumerable drives. The new United Fund way of giving, whereby one donation is divided among the various organizations, will begin at last to provide adequate financial support for so many of the very deserving agencies.

"I am certain that with the unified efforts of all of us, we can make the fall United Fund drive a true representation of the charitable inclinations of the general public."

Mrs. Donald has announced that she has already received excellent cooperation from the Newton women in the new undertaking, including Mrs. Carmen R. Colella of 137 Bridge street, Nonantum, chairman; Mrs. Edwin Hawkridge of 77 Windsor road, Waban, chairman for Waban and Lower Falls; Mrs. Randall C. Kean of 392 Wolcott street, Auburndale, chairman for Auburndale; Mrs. Edwin M. Scribner of 15 Bracebridge road, Newton Centre, and Mrs. Abbott Spear of 121 Bishopsgate road, co-chairman for Newton Centre; Mrs. L. Sumner Pruyne of 88 Farlow road, Newton, and Mrs. Henry L. Johnson, Jr. of 32 Jameson road, Newton, co-chairman for Newton; Mrs. John Taplin of 15 Sewall street, and Mrs. W. C. Swartley of 254 Highland avenue, co-chairman for West Newton; Mrs. Daniel Kagno of 621 Walnut street, chairman for Newtonville; Mrs. Robert R. Logan of 4 Columbus terrace, chairman for Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls.

Wants $28 From City For Death Of His Pet Dog

Two unusual claims for damages will be considered by the Aldermanic committee on claims and rules when it meets next Monday night. Martin E. Cohen of Newbrook circle is seeking $28 from the city for fatal injuries to his dog which was killed by a water department truck. Mrs. Florence E. McNamara of Nonantum street, is asking $50 for damage caused to the tires of her automobile by a curbing that protrudes out into Nanautum street, near Hood street.

Why Insure Children?

SBLI An inexpensive policy on a child may protect a family from going into debt to meet doctor's bills and funeral expenses. If the child lives — the low premiums are a help when he grows up and starts paying them himself. But remember this — the best educational plan for any child — the best guarantee that he won't have to start work before he finishes school — is adequate protection on the life of the parent responsible for the support of the family and for the payment of premiums! DR. GORDON BROWNVILLE

Dr. Brownville Preaching Here

During the month of August, Dr. C. Gordon Brownville, well-known in Greater Boston as the popular former pastor of Tremont Temple Baptist Church, is preaching at the United Presbyterian Church at Newton Corner. Speaking at 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. each Sunday he will give a timely series of sermons on our basic Christian beliefs as set forth in the Apostles' Creed.

Last Sunday, in beginning the series, he preached on "I Believe in God the Father Almighty" and on "I Believe in Jesus Christ His Only Son." The Apostles' Creed, says Dr. Brown-

$37,500 For New Traffic Lights on Commonw'lth Ave.

A $37,500 appropriation to finance the installation of new traffic signal lights along Commonwealth ave. in order to regulate and handle the increasing flow of traffic to and from the Massachusetts Turnpike, was unanimously approved this week by the Board of Aldermen.

The Aldermanic committees on finance and public works both gave their sanction to the proposed expenditure after Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., had conferred with them to discuss the significance of the figures compiled in traffic counts on Commonwealth ave. before and after the opening of the turnpike.

Under the terms of an amendment attached to the appropriation order, the large 12-inch traffic signal lights will be placed in use on Commonwealth ave.

The money will be taken from funds provided by the State, with no actual expense involved for the city.

Mayor Whitmore in a message to the Aldermen declared that the increase of travel along Commonwealth avenue, resulting from the opening of the turnpike, makes the installation of additional traffic control devices both necessary and inevitable.

"It may be stated that while the increased volume of traffic on Commonwealth avenue has not yet had the serious adverse effects which had been feared, congestion at major cross streets and intersections is definitely increasing, particularly at peak hours," the Mayor told the Aldermen.

"It seems inevitable," Mayor Whitmore continued, "that congestion, delays and traffic dan-

Mayor Says That Curbs Must Be Continued

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., today publicly thanked and commended the people of Newton for their "complete and wholehearted compliance" with his emergency regulation banning the watering of lawns between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m.

The Mayor described the response to his order limiting the sprinkling of lawns to the late-night and early-morning hours as "an outstanding example of community cooperation."

He declared that while exact figures on the reduction in Newton's water consumption, since the restriction on lawn-sprinkling went into effect July 9, will not be available for a few days, the indications are that the 20 per cent cut in the use of water urgently requested by Metropolitan District Commission officials has been accomplished.

At the same time Mayor Whitmore emphasized that the prohibition on the watering of lawns during the 15-hour period between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. will be continued until further notice.

In appealing for continued public patience, understanding and cooperation, the Mayor explained that the serious drought conditions which necessitated the lawn-watering curbs in the first place have not been alleviated to the point where the normal use of water may yet be resumed.

The scattered showers this week, while welcome and helpful, have not eliminated the basic problem which is one of water pressure in the distribution reservoirs of the MDC water system, he stressed.

Police records support and substantiate the Mayor's statement that there has been an exceptionally good public response to his emergency regulation curbing the watering of lawns.

In the 10 days since the rule was promulgated only a small handful of complaints and reports were received concerning householders who turned on

Hungry Burglars Get Rich Booty

Hungry burglars carried away five 25-pound turkeys and a 20-pound sirloin strip from the Woodland Golf Club at 1898 Washington st., according to a report made to police by assistant manager George Demers.

Demers placed a value of 50 cents a pound on the turkeys and $2 a pound on the sirloin.

Boy Held in $3000 Bail After Wild Police Chase

A 16-year-old Somerville boy was held in $3000 bail for juvenile session in Newton district court this week on charges stemming from an early morning, 100-mile-an-hour chase from Newton to Framingham, during which he raced through four red traffic lights and five police roadblocks.

Police were unable to overtake the youth while he was driving an automobile he had stolen in Dorchester but finally caught him after he hit a stone wall in Framingham and tried to escape.

Two shots were fired, one of them by Patrolman William C. McNally, when the boy sought to get away into woodlands after wrecking the automobile in which he had driven wildly along the Worcester turnpike.

So fast did the boy drive that Patrolman McNally, endeavoring to overhaul him, got his own speedometer up to 100 miles an hour, then decided that was fast enough and couldn't catch the youth even at that speed.

Crystal Lake Has Been Re-opened

Crystal Lake was reopened for swimming yesterday after Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson was notified by the health department that tests made over a period of three days showed the bacteria count to be below normal. The lake was closed to bathers last Friday when it was found to have a rather high bacteria content.

Newton's 3 Oxnams Seek Top Archery Honors In Tournament In California

Dr. Robert F. Oxnam, vice president of Boston University, and his two sons, Robert and Phillip, are headed for California with other members of the Oxnam family.

They expect to return home a few weeks hence with some more laurels to add to these already in their trophy room.

The doctor and the two boys will take part in the 73rd National Archery Tournament at Sacramento, Calif.

They are among this region's winningest archers.

Dr. Oxnam is a member of the Newton Archers placed second in the Eastern States Tournament last Month and set new records in both the State and Eastern Tournaments.

He is vice chairman of the board of governors of the National Archery Association and plans to attend board meetings prior to the tourney.

Robert B. Oxnam, 14-year-old 1956-57 State and Eastern States archery champion, now holds all the junior records in these two organizations.

Fido Must Have Tag; Warnings Go Out To 1900

Purely from the financial standpoint you'd do well to make sure that pet dog has an official 1957 license tag on his collar.

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas estimates that some 1900 Newton dog owners have failed to attend to the matter. He's sending out second notices to owners of pets that were on his books as licensed a year ago. Along with the notices he's drawing attention to the fact that when an unlicensed dog causes damage and lands his owner in court the court must assess an extra penalty.

Exactly 1912 notices went out. The clerk realizes that many persons who had a dog last year may not have one this year. On the other hand, there's a good chance that their number is balanced off by those who've acquired a canine member of the household since Jan. 1.

Each notice contains an application blank. It may be filled

Newton Saves $48,000 In Sewer System Bill

Newton taxpayers will be saved approximately $48,000 as a result of the outcome of a prolonged fight to require the town of Randolph to pay a more equitable share of the expense involved in admitting it to the south metropolitan sewerage system.

Under the terms of a bill now on its way to enactment in the State Legislature, Randolph will pay $600,000 more toward the cost of linking it with the metropolitan sewer system than was originally proposed.

A bill passed a few years ago provided that virtually the entire expense of doing the work necessary to connect Randolph with the metropolitan sewer setup should be assessed back against the cities and towns already in the system, among them Newton.

Boston Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland, however, offered a forceful protest against a bill filed in the Legis-

500 More Elms Here Doomed By Spread of Tree Disease

It is no use! The axeman will not spare that tree!

The once proud, buxom elm trees which shaded homes, lawns and backyards over these many years, are about doomed to extinction in Newton—as in many other New England communities.

The Dutch elm disease which has been plaguing the trees continues to attack the elms. Director of Public Works Willard S. Pratt asked the Board of Aldermen this week for $20,000 additional in money to combat the disease. It was granted unanimously.

It is estimated that 500 elms throughout the Garden City must be felled because of the disease. Last year 147 diseased trees were removed.

The Dutch elm disease has been a persistent, determined killer.

Newton Doctor's Machine Restores Lost Heart Beat

Dr. Paul M. Zoll of 261 Brookline street, Newton Centre, has been projected into national prominence through an article published in Pfizer "Spectrum" about his invention of the Cardiac Pacemaker, a machine which has saved the lives of several persons after their heart had stopped beating.

The magazine is a medical publication which is distributed to all practicing physicians throughout the United States.

The article contains pictures and a story describing the Cardiac Pacemaker and cites how it was used to save the life of a 72-year-old patient in a New York hospital after his heart had stopped beating.

"For seven days spontaneous ventricular impulsas were lacking," the article read. "But two months later the man was ambulatory. His heart had been set going, kept going and left going by a technique of external electrical stimulation developed by Paul M. Zoll (Harvard Medical School and the Beth Israel Hospital, Boston)."

Dr. Zoll is chief of the Cardiac Clinic at Beth Israel Hospital and is also Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School.

His research was conducted in the Yamins Research Building of the Beth Israel Hospital, and was supported by grants from the Colonel and Mrs. Louis I. Rosenfield Fund, the Sidney R Green Heart Re-

11 Feet of Boston College Hockey Rink To Be in Newton

Because 11 feet of the new Boston College ice hockey rink will be in Newton (the rest of it in Boston), the Newton Building department has had an application to grant a permit for this much of the building. Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell announced the permit had been granted.

The part of the covered rink to be built in Newton is to cost $20,000. The section on the Boston side will cost $80,000.

The rink, the main entrance to which will be through the new Boston College Stadium, sets 340 feet back from Beacon street on a level 35 feet lower than Beacon street. The roof of the rink will be on a level with Beacon street.

It is expected the rink will be ready for use during the coming hockey season.

Progress Lags On Hamilton Addition

Ground has not yet been broken for the addition to the Hamilton School in Newton Lower Falls, which was originally scheduled for completion by this September.

Despite the delay, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. expects that bids for building will go out shortly and that the rooms should be ready for occupancy not later than February. Meanwhile, to accommodate the overflowing enrollment, two

It would seem that they went to an awful lot of trouble to get it, but all the thieves who broke into the home of Angelo J. Bassett at 5 Agawam rd. took away with them was a package of tomatoes which had been left on the kitchen sink.

They entered the Bassett home by breaking a first-floor window. Whether they lost their nerve or are simply tomato-addicts is uncertain.

Furcolo Must Make Sales Tax Fight on Two Fronts in 1958

Governor Furcolo appears to be in a position where he will be obliged to wage his sales tax fight on two fronts next year.

He undoubtedly will make a new drive in 1958 to get a sales tax bill through the State Legislature. To fail to do so would mean that he was backing away from the issue in an election year.

The Governor presumably also will endeavor to persuade next year's Democratic pre-primary State convention to reverse its traditional position and go on record as favoring a sales tax.

Such a move would be certain to touch off a knockdown battle. Furcolo, however, seems to have no alternative but to force the issue and fight it out in the convention as well as in the Legislature.

Some political observers are convinced that Furcolo will drop the sales tax issue until after the 1958 campaign and will neither submit another bill at the next legislative session nor do anything about the matter at the pre-primary convention.

Both those surmises seem a little silly to this onlooker. Furcolo certainly will not be able to avoid a show-

Newton's 1956 Fire Losses $647,483 - Highest in 10 Yrs

Newton's fire losses last year were the highest since 1946, Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., declares in his annual report.

Losses totalled $647,483 as compared with $58,144 in 1947.

The increase reflects the steadily growing population of the city and the exceptionally heavy advance in building construction, residential, commercial and industrial.

In his report the chief advocates the creation of a fire academy or training centre for his department; replacement of three engines in three successive years starting in 1958 and the construction of new house drying facilities.

The report to Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., recording the losses for the past 10 years shows 1955, $352,379; 1954, $160,683; 1953, $184,673; 1952, $318,842; 1951, $149,199; 1950, $374,509; 1949, $135,610; 1948, $103,696, and 1947, ,$59,144.

Chief Perkins in emphasizing the need for the city's own training facilities for fire-fighters points out that currently Newton is obliged to send trainees to the Brookline training school. A severe handicap of this system is that the local department is short-handed while the men are detailed to the Brookline school.

The chief urges that a modern training center be establised at Station 7, Newton Upper Falls, with a drill tower, smoke house, ladder house and all necessary appliances to promote efficiency in fire fighting operation.

He recommends that the hose drying tower be established at Auburndale's Station 5.

In discussing the need for new engines, the Chief's report says, "I recommend that the following engines be replaced in successive years, beginning with 1958 so that in the event of more than one becoming unserviceable, it would not create an undue burden to the city.

"Engine 1, a 750-gallons per minute pumper at Newton Corner, purchased in 1939, now 17 years old; Engine 3, a 750-gallons per minute pumper stationed at Newton Center, purchased in 1936, now 21 years old and Engine 8, a 600-gallon per minute pumper, stationed in Newtonville, purchased in 1933, now 24 years old."

The department was extremely busy through 1956, Chief Perkins' report shows. It had a total of 2101 calls, an average of almost six per day.

A breakdown of the calls showed 325 bell alarms; 1571 telephone; 115 verbal; 82 radio; 8 ADT. The runs were as follows: two buildings destroyed; 553 buildings partially destroyed; 66 automobiles; 528 ddump, bogs and brush fires; 525 miscellaneous; 92 mutual aid; 80 false alarms; 44 first aid and emergency; 141 telephone calls, followed by a box; nine second alarms; three third alarms and 53 needless alarms.

Robert P. Breen Wins Appointment To Kings Point

Congressman Laurence Curtis today announced the appointment of Robert P. Breen of 116 Auburn street, Auburndale, to the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y.

The successful cadet-to-be is the son of Dr. James J. Breen.

In 1957, he graduated from Newton High School where he was an honor student, and a member of the school legislature and the football team. He will report Aug. 19 to the Academy, where his four-year course will lead to a license as a Merchant Marine officer, a commission as ensign in the naval reserve, and a Bachelor of Science degree.

Congressman Curtis said he will be glad to hear from men in his district who desire to apply for the service academies—Army, Navy, Air Force and Merchant Marine.

down battle on the sales tax at the convention. Such Democratic leaders as Senator John E. Powers are almost certain to seek to place the assembly on record as against a sales tax.

And if Governor Furcolo fails to make a new fight next year in the Legislature, he undoubtedly would lose the support of those persons who now look upon him favorably because of his sales tax stand.

The implications which will underlie next year's Democratic State convention will be both interesting and explosive.

Senator Powers, Speaker Michael F. Skerry and other prominent Democratic legislators, who opposed the sales tax, will have positions of power at the conclave and will wield a great deal of influence with the assembled delegates.

Skerry was the chairman of the 1956 convention and presided over its proceedings. Powers headed the resolutions committee which drafted the convention platform.

The likelihood is that they will perform the same in roles at the 1958 conclave unless Governor Furcolo moves to prevent them from filling those positions, and that would be an overt act which might provoke open warfare within the Democratic party. It is improbable Furcolo would take any such risk.

With Skerry running the convention and Powers running the platform committee, there would be no possibility whatever of Furcolo slipping through a plank endorsing the sales tax without a floor fight which would have to be decided by a vote of the delegates.

That brings up this very interesting political question. SUPPOSE THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION STANDS FIRM AGAINST THE SALES TAX AND INSERTS A PLANK IN THE PARTY PLATFORM OPPOSING SUCH A TAX, AS IT DID IN 1956, CAN THAT CONVENTION THEN CONSISTENTLY RENOMINATE FOSTER FURCOLO FOR A SECOND TERM AS GOVERNOR?

It certainly would be the height of political inconsistency if a convention were to take a stand on one side of the hottest issue of the day and then were to give its gubernatorial endorsement to a man who takes a directly opposite position.

Some political experts think that Governor Furcolo might have a difficult time gaining renomination from the convention if he were to lose his fight for a platform plank favoring a sales tax.

That may or may not be true. So far, of course, no Democrat has indicated his intention of challenging Furcolo at the convention. Former State Senator Daniel Rudsten, who is conducting a surprisingly strong campaign against Governor Furcolo, is planning to bypass the convention and make his big fight in the primary.

An astonishing amount of talk has developed on Beacon Hill, however, concerning the possibility of backing some Democratic legislator of the stamp of able, young Representative Charles R. Doyle of West Roxbury against Furcolo at the pre-primary convention.

Doyle would have the issues to wage a primary campaign against Furcolo if he chose to do so. He led the fight in the House of Representatives against the court-packing bill which would have allowed the Governor to place six additional judges on the Massachusetts Superior Court. Doyle also took a strong stand against the sales tax.

It's possible that developments in the coming months might catapult the popular West Roxbury legislator into political prominence. Irinocally, he directed Furcolo's campaign in his district last autumn but has since split sharply with the Governor over his policies.

Whether Representative Doyle might yield to the urging of fellow legislators and enter the gubernatorial race is uncertain. That is a question which may well give the Governor's advisers some rather uneasy moments.

The probability is that the sales tax fight in the Legislature next year will not be settled until after the Democratic State convention in early June.

A long-range guess now is that if Furcolo wins his battle to have the convention go on record as favoring a sales tax, he'll also win his fight in the Legislature. But if he suffers a rebuff on the issue at the convention, the prospects are that he'll be defeated again in the Legislature.

Noted Lady Newspaper Editor Deserves a Reverent Salute

The newspaper business is pretty much considered a man's world, but a grand old lady of journalism who died the other day in Holyoke at the age of 84, left a mark upon her community, her State and even her nation that few men have equalled or will equal.

She was Mrs. William G. Dwight, editor and publisher of the Holyoke Transcript-Telegram, and she held the respect and admiration even of newspapermen who knew her only from a distance and who don't easily give their respect and admiration to other members of their profession.

A remarkable woman, who has been the editor and publisher of the Holyoke Transcript since the death of her husband 27 years ago and before that was a reporter and editorial writer, spanning a total of 66 years in the newspaper field, Mrs. Dwight was probably the leading citizen of Western Massachusetts.

A great many people, not alone in this State but across the nation, are leading better lives today because of the things in which Mrs. Dwight believed—and helped to make come true. As a member of a Governor's Commission she cast the deciding vote which made Masachusetts the first State in which an old age pension system was recommended by a public body.

She started and spearheaded the fight in Western Massachusetts to give women the right to vote long before that campaign assumed national proportions.

It was in her home city of Holyoke that her great talents and energies achieved the greatest results and the greatest good for the community.

A truly wonderful lady has departed from the newspaper scene. She richly deserves a revent salute from the profession she served with such honor and distinction and whose highest ideals she upheld.

search Fund and the Patrons of Research of the hospital.

Support also came from the Jacob A. Slosberg Memorial Fund of the Massachusetts Heart Association, the association itself and the National Heart Institute, U.S. Public Health Service.

The Pacemaker has been acclaimed by the medical profession as being one of the most dramatic developments in heart research in recent years. It was first used at the Beth Israel Hospital to bring back to life a 65-year-old patient after his heart had stopped beating, and has since saved the lives of many patients at the Beth Israel Hospital, and at other institutions throughout the country.

The machine, which weighs aproximately 13 pounds, is an electrical device which has two small electrodes or discs strapped or held on the patient's chest. When the pulse stops beating, the machine is turned on to send electrical impulses to the discs on the patient's chest.

The electrical impulses stimulate the heart and enable it to continue beating until such time as the heart is capable of functioning on its own. However, the Pacemaker will not repair a damaged heart.

Today, at the Beth Israel Hospital, eight Pacemakers are serving as life-saving apparatus during surgical procedures and cardiac emergencies.

Not a single objector or supporter appeared at hearings this week before the Board of Alderman on petitions by the Boston Edison Co. for the installation of additional electric light poles on nine Newton streets. The only testimony was given by a spokesman for the Edison Co.

The applications, all approved by the Aldermen, call for the erection of new lights on the following streets:

Hammond st. (1 pole approximately 30 feet northeast of Beacon st.).

Woodchester drive (1 pole opporite Woodlawn drive).

Pond Brook rd. (6 poles).

Newland st. (4 poles).

Brentwood ave. (4 poles).

The church deacons have announced that for pastoral needs during the interim period, the congregation should call upon the Rev. Arthur Flagler Fultz, who is now available. He is at LA 7-1406 during the month of August when the church office is closed.

New Polling Places Proposed For November City Election

A large number of Newton voters will be casting their ballots at new polling places in the future—beginning with the municipal election, Nov. 5.

This is because of the redivision of the City of Newton into 8 wards. All registered voters are to be notified by post card from Monte G. Basbas, Newton City Clerk, of the Ward and Precinct in which they reside and where they will vote.

The Ward Lines Committee has recommended the polling places be as follows:

Ward 1, Precinct 1, Stearns School, 265 Watertown street; Ward 1, Precinct 2, Fire Station, 332 Washington street; Ward 1, Precinct 3, Cabot School, 229 Cabot street; Ward 1, Precinct 4, Hawthorne Playground, 11 Hawthorn street; Ward 2, Precinct 1, Horace Mann School, 680 Watertown street; Ward 2, Precinct 2, Newton Junior College, Washington Park, or Newtonville Library basement; Ward 2, Precinct 3, Day Junior High School, 100 Walnut street; Ward 2 rPecinct 4, High School Drill Shed, Elm road.

Ward 3, Precinct 1, Davis School, 492 Washington street; Ward 3, Precinct 2, Peirce School (old) 88 Chestnut street; Ward 3, Precinct 3, Davis School, Waltham street; Ward 3, Precinct 4, Franklin School, 125 Derby street; Ward 4, Precinct 1, Burr School, Ash street; Ward 4, Precinct 2, Hamilton School, 545 Grove street; Ward 4, Precinct 3, Branch Library, 375 Auburn street; Ward 4, Precinct 4, Burr School (?), Ash street.

Ward 5, Precinct 1, Emerson School, 5 Hig hstreet; Ward 5, Precinct 2, Hyde School, 68 Lincoln street; Ward 5, Precinct 3, Angier School, 1697 Beacon street; Ward 5, Precinct 4, Beethoven School, 30 Beethoven avenue; Ward 5, Precinct 5, Angier School, 1697 Beacon street; Ward 6, Precinct 1, Rice School, 1180 Centre street; Ward 6, Precinct 2, Weeks Jr. High School, 7 Hereward road; Ward 6, Precinct 3, Church of the Redeemer, 365 Hammond street; Ward 6, Precinct 4, Mason School, 1242 Centre street; Ward 6, Precinct 5, Bowen School, 280 Cypress street.

Ward 7, Precinct 1, Underwood School, 77 Vernon street; Ward 7, Precinct 2, Underwood School, 77 Vernon street; Ward 7, Precinct 3, Ward School, 10 Dolphin road; Ward 8, Precinct 1, Oak Hill School, 130 Wheeler road; Ward 8, Precinct 2, Spauling School, 250 Brookline street; Ward 8, Precinct 3, Country Side School, 191 Dedham street; Ward 8, Precinct 4, Memorial School, 60 Stein Circle.

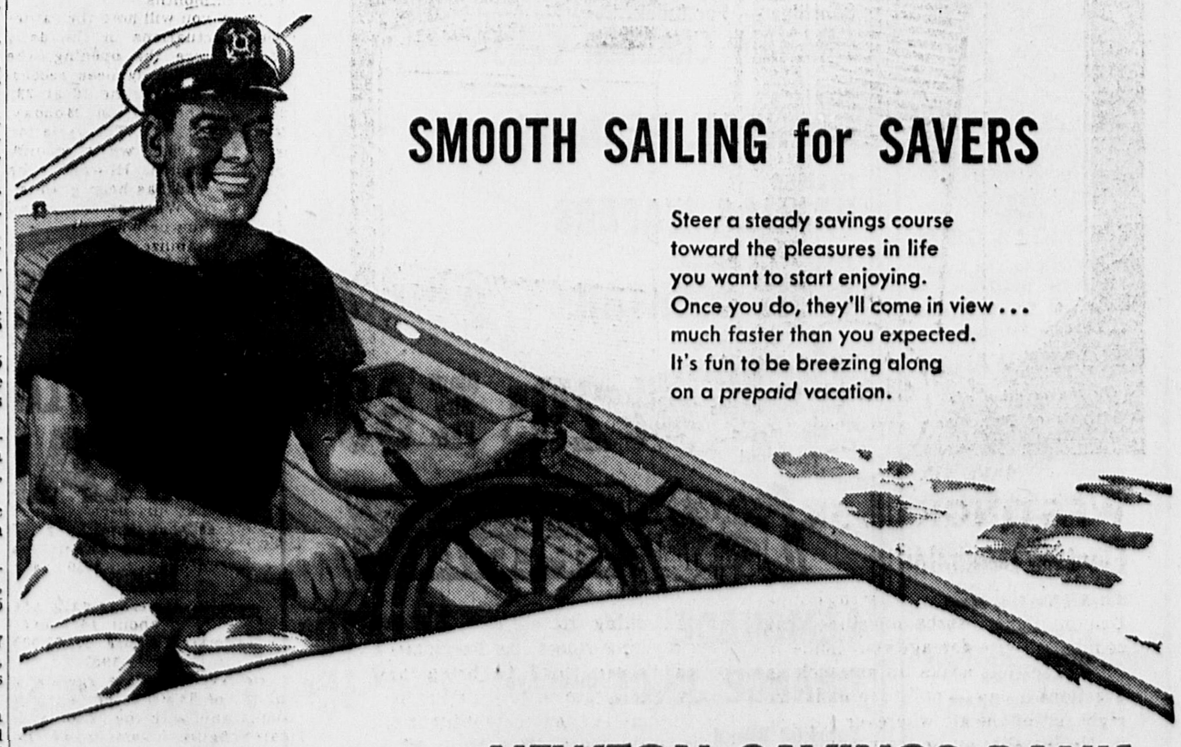

Where schools are to be used, the School Department has given its O.K. to the Stearns School, Cabot School gym, Horace Mann School basement, High School Drill Shed, Davis School, Peirce School, Davis Schools, Franklin School, Burr School, Hamilton School, Emerson School, Hyde School, Angier School, Beethoven School gym, Angier School, Weeks Jr. High School, Mason School 2 playrooms, Bowen School gym, Underwood School, Ward School gym, Spaulding School gym, Country Side School gym, and Memorial School gym.

However, it questions the use of Newton Junior College. It prefers that no use for a polling place by made of the Day Junior High School and that no use be made of the Rice School. It also recommends the Junior High School be used rather than Oak Hill School and raises a question whether the Murray Road School, Lexington street, might not be more suitable than the Burr School, Ash street. The Ward Lines Committee itself had pointed out that the Burr School would be too small for two precincts.

Sewer Bill-

lature providing that $1,000,000 be appropriated, in addition to the amount already spent, to complete the mains necessary to bring Randolph into the sewer system.

A number of legislators, including those representing Newton, joined with Hyland in his fight, and after a hot dispute the matter was referred to a special recess commission headed by Senator Philip G. Bowker of Brookline and on which Hyland was a member.

That commission, after lengthy hearings and conferences, produced a plan specifying that Randolph should pay $600,000 more than was originally proposed. It was Hyland's contention from the beginning that such communities as Newton, Milton, Dedham, Needham and Boston should not be compelled to pay for providing an adequate sewer system for Randolph.

Now the matter has been satisfactorily ironed out. A bill drafted by the commission was submitted to the Legislature and is apparently certain of adoption. It will mean a tidy saving of $48,000 for Newton taxpayers.

The notice reads:

"Your attention is respectfully called to the provisions of law relative to the licensing of dogs. All dogs three months or over must be licensed on or before March 31. All dogs that become three months old after March 31 must be licensed on reaching that age.

"An extra penalty is imposed for any damage caused by an unlicensed dog which makes it advisable to have your dog licensed immediately.

"The fee for a male dog is $2; for a female dog, $5; for a spayed female $2, providing a veterinarian's certificate of operation is filed with the city clerk.

"For renewal of your license I will appreciate your kindness in filling out the form below and mailing it back to me."

Chase-

Police of Newton, Wellesley, Natick and Framingham all tried to flag down the 16-year-old speedster.

In Newton court, the youth was charged with refusing to stop for a police officer, operating to endanger, malicious damage to property, leaving the scene of an accident, going through red lights, and larceny of an automobile.

Patrolman McNally first noticed the boy driving along the Worcester turnpike about 3 o'clock in the morning.

When the youth failed to obey his order to stop, McNally gave chase, at the same time notifying Newton police headquarters which, in turn, dispatched two other cruising cars to the turnpike and alerted police in Wellesley, Natick and Framingham.

Five times police tried to flag him down, and five times the youth swerved around the roadblocks they had set up.

Not until he hit a traffic light pole and then a stone wall were the police able to catch up with him. They quickly caught up with him, however, when he tried to get away on foot.

Traffic Count on Commw'lth Ave. Shows Marked Increase

Figures gathered in traffic counts made by the city to ascertain the number of vehicles which used Commonwealth avenue before and after the opening of the new Massachusetts Turnpike are listed below.

In all instances the count was made at a location just east of the Weston Bridge and covered traffic moving in both directions.

The figures for four days before the opening of the turnpike were:

Date of Count	Day of Week	Twenty-Four Hour Total	Peak Hours and Volume A.M.		P.M.
May 10	Friday	16,421	7-8	1548	5-6	2034
May 11	Saturday	9,304	11-12P	600	3-4	764
May 12	Sunday	10,419	11-12P	569	3-4	1157
May 13	Monday	11,621*	8-9	1198	4-5	1455

* Two hour period 2-4 p.m. not recorded. For this period on preceding Saturday and Sunday, volume was approximately 1400 each day.

Following are the figures for 11 days after the turnpike was opened to the public.

After the opening of the Turnpike the following counts were taken at the same location for two-way traffic:

Date of Count	Day of Week	Twenty-Four Hour Total	Peak Hours and Volume A.M.		P.M.
May 26	Sunday	11,991	7-8	604	3-4	1089

gers will continue to increase at these locations as the volume of vehicles increase regardless of whether it is caused by particular generating sources or from the constantly increasing growth in the number of registered vehicles. The installation of additional traffic control devices appears necessary and inevitable."

Mayor Whitmore based those statements at least partly on the results of traffic counts made just before and since the opening of the new turnpike. These surveys show an increase of about 31.5 per cent in traffic along Commonwealth avenue.

The Mayor pointed out that the count taken on four days prior to the opening of the turnpike showed an average of 12,461 vehicles passing along Commonwealth avenue during a 24-hour period.

This average jumped to 16,392, a rise of 3931 or 31.5 per cent, on a count made 11 days after the turnpike was opened to public use.

Mayor Whitmore pointed out that in 1956 the consultants engaged by the city estimated that 15,000 vehicles a day would use Commonwealth avenue, before the opening of the turnpike and that approximately an additional 4000 vehicles daily would use the avenue after the turnpike was opened.

The consultants figured that about 19,000 vehicles would move over Commonwealth avenue daily with the turnpike in use. The estimates made by the consultants were higher than the figures compiled recently as a result of an actual count.

In commenting on the statiis tics which have been compiled, the Mayor said:

"It should be borne in mind that too general and too firm conclusions from the above figures should not be made. As yet, too few counts have been recorded, and have only covered the late spring and early summer months.

"Also, you will note the rather wide fluctuations in the daily counts since the opening, the high count having been recorded on Tuesday, June 10 at 23,268 and the low on Monday, May 27, at 11,973. The variation is almost 100%, which is difficult to explain. However, the volume trend has been gradually upward. Whether this trend will continue or whether it will tend to stabilize is difficult to forecast at this time.

"The report to the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority on Traffic and Revenues of March, 1954 by DeLeuw, Cather and Company estimated that in 1957, the first year of operation, approximately 29,000 daily vehicles would enter or leave the eastern terminus of the Turnpike at Route 128.

"The first report of the Authority since the opening of the Turnpike has just been released and states that approximately 33,800 vehicles a day on the average through June 30, have used the Turnpike.

"The actual average daily use to June 30 is about 16% over the estimated figure of 29,000 daily for the year 1957.

"However, the average daily volume of 33,800 is not exactly comparable with the 29,000 estimated figure inasmuch as the latter was for the eastern terminus alone and not for the entire route which is what the 33,800 figure included. Daily figures at the eastern terminus are not available from the report," the Mayor continued.

"The figures presented from the counts taken at Weston Bridge do not necessarily indicate the peak volume of traffic for Commonwealth avenue on all or any particular day as undoubtedly from time to time other location counts would reflect an equal or greater volume.

"For example on Thursday, July 11, the total daily volume at Weston Bridge was 15,573, whereas at Lake street it was 15,779. On May 14 the volume at Lake street was 21,551 and on the 15th it was 21,597. Counts for these two days prior to the opening were not taken at Weston Bridge," Mayor Whitmore concluded.

The school authorities were accused of "wanting nothing but the best for themselves" during the discussion of the measure.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon recorded himself as opposed to giving the school department any more funds at all for this purpose, maintaining that they should get along with the $10,000 already allocated to them.

The $10,000 which was sought in the appropriation recommendation submitted to the Aldermen this week was to be used for the installation of new heating and lighting systems in the building.

Chairman Earle D. Wood of the Aldermanic finance committee, in proposing the $5000 slash, expressed the conviction that the school authorities could get along with a few less electric outlets.

"It's time someone pointed out to the school department that it can get along with a little less than the best," Alderman Wood observed crisply.

The Board of Aldermen gave their approval to a $6940 appropriation which will be used to defray part of the expense of building a one-room addition to the Newton Highlands branch library. The $6940 will be added to a $5000 bequest to construct the room which will be used to accommodate children who now use a room in the basement of the Hyde School.

Summer School Sessions Close

Weeks Junior H.S. and Bowen School Finish Sessions

Automobiles bearing licenses from Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey and points west have been parked outside of Weeks Junior High and the Bowen School for the past six weeks. They brought to Newton some of the finest teachers in the United States, carefully selected to participate in the Harvard-Newton Interne program, a plan designed to train liberal arts graduates to teach school.

About 25 of these master teachers have been imparting their wisdom to 375 students at Bowen and 270 students at Weeks. At the same time they have been instructing close to 50 "internes" in teaching techniques.

Newton is one of nine Greater Boston communities cooperating with the Harvard Graduate School of Education in this program. For the third year, both the training schools have been located in this city.

At the Bowen School, Edward M. Clarke is administrator and Dr. Robert H. Anderson of Harvard is director of the elementary school apprentice teaching program. Only one of three student applicants was accepted for the summer course, which provides an enrichment program for youngsters grade three through six. The cost is $20 per child.

At Weeks, Dr. Judson T. Shaplin, associate dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, is serving as director of interneship.

Raymond W. Blaisdell, former principal of Weeks now serving as director of Harvard's secondary internship plan, is principal of the summer session. In addition to the academic courses, which aim at enrichment and avoid specific units the classes are scheduled to study in the fall, typing, art, industrial arts and recreation are offered.

Both schools have a record enrollment this summer. Classes are scheduled to close tomorrow.

The master teachers, who are salaried employees of Harvard University have been selected on the basis of education, teaching experience, and experience with training students. They teach with from three to five internes in each class observing their methods.

This fall the internes will work in pairs within the nine participating school systems—teaching for half a term and studying at the graduate school for the other half.

800 Complete Courses at High School

About 800 young people, and a few not quite so young, will complete a six-week session of summer school at Newton High tomorrow.

According to Walter M. Taylor, director of the summer school, enrollment is a third higher than last year, and the highest in the school's 16-year history.

One half of the students come as "repeaters" to upgrade D's and F's in order to receive credit for graduation. But a surprising 30% of the students attend classes to improve passing marks and to get better foundations for future study.

The remaining 20% are attending classes for "personal satisfaction", with more than 60 previewing courses they will take in the fall. These are the basics—U.S. history, plane geometry, chemistry, biology, and 10th and 11th grade English.

For the first time in the school's history, students may get credits for courses they are taking for the first time. For example, if a student studies biology for two summers, he will get five full diploma credits. This arrangement takes the pressure off the winter session, and enables the student to enjoy more variety and depth in his required courses and electives during the regular term.

School officials hope to extend this idea in keeping with a general trend towards year-round use of school buildings which tends to ease school space requirements.

Some of the 52 classes held between 8:30 a.m. and noon are part of the Harvard-Newton interne program, which also operates at the Weeks Junior High and the Bowen School. This plan uses master teachers from all over the U.S. to train liberal arts graduates in teaching techniques.

The cost per course to Newton residents is $16, and out-of-towners pay slightly more. A total of 87 schools have been represented in this summer's enrollment, including 25 public high schools, 25 preparatory schools, 17 parochial schools, eight junior high schools, and eleven colleges. Several adults have attended the session this summer, many to learn typing.

Taylor, who is also director of the Newton Junior College, describes the summer school as "totally self-supporting". Custodial fees, lighting bills, and other costs are met, along with the largest item—instructional salaries. There are 32 teachers, a majority of whom are members of the Newton school system.

Students include the children of families who summer in Newton from other states, one of them being the son of a Red Sox coach whose home is in Texas.

Extra curricular activities were encouraged for the first time this year, with a program of tennis tournaments attracting wide participation. Taylor reports that a series of educational week-end trips is a possibility for another year.

Local Youth Accredited with Telling Russians in Red Sq. About Hungary

A 25-year-old Harvard Law School graduate from George street, Newton, is reported to have stood in Red Square, Moscow a few days ago and informed his Russian listeners of some of the facts of life—facts concerned with the blood bath to which the Soviet command treated Hungary.

The youth has been identified as George Abrams, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Abrams of 16 George street.

According to reports, young Abrams, a member of the American delegates to the World Youth Festival, took time out from the Festival to talk with groups of Russians in various parts of Moscow. Abrams is said to have taken along a copy of the New York Times containing stories and reports on the methods used by Red Russia to crush out the Hungarian bid for freedom.

The account of Abrams' appearance said that he usually found one or two Russians among his listeners who would translate his remarks to the various knots of people.

On the whole, Abrams is quoted as saying, his words were received with interest.

Further reports of the World Youth Festival said that Americans and Russians were permitted to debate freely the merits of democracy and communism.

The U. S. State Department sought to discourage American participation in the Youth Festival but put no visa blocks upon those American delegates who insisted on going.

The younger Abrams' father is a member of the bar. The youthful Abrams graduated from Harvard Law School this year. His sister, Ruth, 26, is a member of the bar. He received his B.A. degree from Harvard in 1954, graduating cum laude. He prepared for Harvard at Phillips Andover. During his undergraduate days in Cambridge, he was managing editor of the Crimson.

He has taken his bar examination but the result will not be anounced until next month.

On his return home young Abrams expects to enter the army.

3 Women Injured As Driver Loses Control of Car

Three women were injured in an accident at Auburn and Maple streets in Auburndale, which occurred when one of the three reached down while driving, to pick her handbag off the floor an in so doing lost control of the car.

The injured women were Mrs. Inez Brennan and Rita Bond, both of 215 Auburn street, Auburndale, and Mrs. Veronica Simonvich of 440 Western avenue, Brighton.

Mrs. Brennan, the operator of the automobile, told police that she was driving along Auburn street at a speed of about 15 miles an hour when her handbag fell off the seat and onto the floor.

She said she reached down to retrieve it and that as she did she lost control of the car which hit a traffic control box, damaging the automobile and shaking up the three women.

All three women suffered bruises. They were treated by Dr. R. E. Sylvester.

Thus far, there has been no rush—but, of course, the workers must be available for election day. The appointments to the positions are to be made by Aug. 15 by Mayor Whitmore.

Qualified voters who are candidates for the jobs should apply to City Clerk Monte G. Basbas. He has pointed out that the law requires an equal number of Republicans and Democrats be appointed in each precinct whenever possible.

City Clerk Basbas declared 198 workers are employed at the city's polling places. This year three additional precincts have been added because of the new Ward 8. All but 50 of the needed workers have been recruited.

their hoses and sprinklers during the forbidden hours.

Police checked immediately on all the calls, most of them anonymous concerning alleged violations of the Mayor's rule.

In virtually every instance it was found that the householder, forgetting the ban, had absentmindedly turned on his hose or sprinkler. The water was turned off immediately when a police officer reminded the offender of the rule.

Not a single persistent or flagrant violator has come to the attention of police anywhere in the city. So far there has been no cause for prosecuting anyone for wanton disregard of the Mayor's regulation.

Mayor Whitmore himself expressed the greatest satisfaction and gratification over the widespread cooperatio.. with his order.

"I am deeply grateful to the people of Newton for the way in which they have cooperated with the regulation prohibiting the watering of lawns between 7 o'clock in the morning and 10 o'clock at night," the Mayor declared.

"I realize that it is not a pleasant thing to see a lawn, on which you may have spent many hours of work, become burned and browned because of lack of water. I know, too, that it is inconvenient for many people to wait until 10 p.m. before turning on their hoses and sprinklers.

"But it was imperative that Newton comply with the urgent MDC request and reduce its water consumption 20 percent. The restriction on the watering of lawns appeared to be the most feasible and practical way of achieving such a reduction," Mayor Whitmore continued.

"I am deeply grateful for the remarkable and wholehearted response of the citizens of Newton to the order which conditions made it necessary for me to issue," the Mayor asserted.

"It was an outstanding example of community cooperation in an emergency resulting from the prolonged dry spell, and I express appreciation for it. I am not surprised, but I am proud of the people of our city," Mayor Whitmore stated.

Mayor Whitmore explained that Newton has an adequate water supply. He pointed out, however ,that this city must cooperate with the Metropolitan District Commission which has the responsibility of supplying water to many other communities.

Practices Classroom Procedures

Army PFC Edward G. Murphy, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael L. Murphy, 15 St. James terrace, Newton, practices classroom procedures in Germany while taking the Western Area Command's discussion leaders course for troop information and education specialists. Murphy, a member of the 566th Medical Detachment in Landstuhl, arrived overseas last December. He entered the Army in May, 1956 after his graduation from the University of Notre Dame.

large classrooms have been completed in the basement of the school to temporarily house the fifth and sixth grades.

The project got off to a slow start early this year when the school committee changed some aspects in the original request for space it had made of the Board of Aldermen.

According to Stuart Spaulding, chairman of the Board's public buildings committee, additional delay was occasioned during July when his committee returned to the architect as "unsatisfactory" a set of specifications for the addition.

Hugh A Stubbins Associates, who are designing the structure, were asked to rewrite the specifications to comply with a three-year-old ruling that requires the names of three manufacturers to be listed as possible suppliers of fixtures, etc., if any firms are named at all.

Many cities and towns do not have this requirement, and Stubbins' engineers had drawn up the specifications naming only one manufacturer and model number in each instance.

"This practice," says Spaulding, "tends to limit competitive bidding and consequently increase costs. When we receive the rewritten specifications, I expect they will be approved immediately."

Some obstacles have been hurdled, however. The Board of Aldermen has authorized the expenditure of $250,000 for the four classroom structure, which will include a playroom, a health unit, and a principal's office.

The School Buildings Assistance Commission has approved the plans, and Newton officials have appeared before the state emergency finance board to request approval of its borrowing the funds.

According to Willard S. Pratt, Director of Public Works, very little time should elapse between advertising for bid and award of bid, as most of the specification details are being ironed out beforehand.

Also in the works is the addition to the Countryside School in Newton Highlands, where enrollment has grown by leaps and bounds. Already the conference room and the library have been pressed into service as classrooms in the five-year-old school. Preliminary plans for a six-room addition have been reviewed and approved, but not advertised for bid as yet. The Stubbins firm is also designing this addition.

In Oak Hill, contractor B. J. Pentabone is filling and grading the land for the city's second high school. The work is about half-completed, and recently the School Committee were shown tentative "cartoon-type" plans and a scale model created by architects Korslund, le Normand and Quann, Inc.

Completes Active Duty Training

Army Reserve PFC Edward F. Marco, whose wife, Pauline, lives at 29 Oakland street, Cambridge, completed two weeks of active duty training July 21 at Fort Eustis, Va.

Marco received annual summer training with members of his local reserve unit, the 338th Transportation Group, regularly in Boston.

The 27-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Marco, Newton, attended Rindge Technical High School.

N.E. and Canadian Girl Net Stars, Joan Barry's Guests

Miss Joan Barry of Newtonville will serve as hostess at a supper for the girls of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association squad and those of the New England Lawn Tennis Association group this week.

The girls will face each other at the Waban Neighborhood Club, Aug. 18 and 19, in the second annual Challenge Cup Matches.

Miss Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Barry, Jr., of 211 Highland avenue, Newton, is former ranking New England junior player. The Barrys are well-known in New England tennis circles and have been actively engaged in the junior tennis movement for many years.

Mrs. Hazel Wightman, coach of the New England girls' team, is expected to announce the names of the girls on her squad shortly.

The boys squad will have a practice session under Coach Jack Lynch at the Waban courts on Monday, Aug. 12, and again at the Fessenden School on Saturday, Aug. 17.

Charles Hare, former British Davis Cupper, and Mrs. Mary Hardwick Hare have been added to the list of invited guests who will attend the matches Aug. 18.

On that evening there will be a record hop for the players, conducted by committee member, James Coleman, Jr., of 56 Nehoiden road, Waban.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend the matches both on the 18th.

The matches will offer an opportunity to see at first hand the progress made in the field of junior tennis over a period of eight years. Tournaments for juniors have more than doubled since 1948. Oldsters are taking time out give a helping hand to the boys and girls.

Parents are taking an interest in the program by joining the New England Tennis Patrons, the organization behind the program. They are keenly aware of the fact that tennis is a clean, worthwhile sport that can be played for many years after the days of school and college have ended.

"Take it from me," says Chairman W. W. Hoblitzell of the International Challenge Matches, "many of our participants can keep up with most of the better adult players in New England. Just watching the activities on Aug. 18-19, will be enjoyable day for adults and children. Remember that the admission is FREE."

Quabbin Becomes Beach at Waikiki For Girl Scouts

If you happened to pass the Newton Girl Scout Council's day camp at Quabbin recently and heard the strains of "Aloha Oe"—it wasn't the heat and you weren't suffering from a mirage which had suddenly placed Hawaii on your horizon.

More than 150 Girl Scouts were welcomed to the beach by Mrs. Maxine Kumin, director of waterfront activities for the Council.

The entire camp gathered on the beach to participate in the closing activities of the second encampment. The closing theme was "Hawaii".

The theme was carried out by the wearing of leis, flowers in the hair and skirts which were patterned after the Hawaiian style. Mrs. Betty Hassell, director of arts and crafts, assisted the units in preparing for this Hawaiian holiday. Water stunts and relay races added to the fun. The program aid unit had made waxed flowers and after a swimming exhibition set them afloat as the entire group joined in the singing of "Aloha Oe".

Assisting Mrs. Kumin in directing these activities were Mrs. Janet Eschenlauer and Mrs. Berenice Hurwitz, waterfront instructors. The units were in charge of the following councillors: Mrs. Zelda Glazier, Mrs. Edith DiRusso, Mrs. Florence Wilde, Miss Alice Jacobson, Mrs. Lillian DiPasquale, Miss Jane Bugbee, Mrs. Phyllis Roth, Mrs. Marjorie Burns, Mrs. Thelma Shuman, Mrs. Barbara Lilly, Mrs Julia Hanks, Mrs. Jean Sudhalter, Mrs. Hilda Arenberg, Mrs. Dorothy Blomquist, Mrs. Jeannette Brody, Mrs. Mildred Axelrod, Mrs. Bonnie Clinton. Mrs. Mildred Alban is administrative Director and Mrs. Grace Lepore is program director. Mrs. Bea Hampe has been acting as program director during Mrs. Lepore's absence at Edith Macy, the National Girl Scout Training School at Pleasantville, New York.

FRANKLIN N. FLASCHNER

Flaschner A Candidate For Alderman A-L

Franklin N. Flaschner this week announced himself a candidate for Alderman-at-large from the Ward 5 section in the November municipal election.

Flaschner earlier this year was named "Young Man of the Year" by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce. That award was conferred upon him following his general chairmanship of Newton's Red Feather drive last fall.

An attorney, he is a partner in the Boston law firm of Singer, Stoneham & Kurland.

Mr. Flaschner received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Yale, later graduated from Yale Law School and did graduate work in government and economics at Harvard University's Littauer School. He served in the navy during World War II.

He and his wife, Beatrice, who grew up in Newton, live with their three daughters, Ronna, Susan and Wendy, at 564 Quinobequin road, Waban. They recently moved from Oak Hill Park where they lived since 1949.

Mr. Flaschner was the first president of the Oak Hill Park Association and is also a past president of the Oak Hill Improvement Association, the Memorial School PTA and the Friends of Framingham.

He is currently president of the Newton World Affairs Council and serves on the Boards of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, the Massachusetts Mental Health Association and Temple Shalom of Newton.

"For many years," Mr. Flaschner states, "I have been deeply interested in the city government of Newton. I have been proud of it and have looked forward to the privilege of participating in it as an elected representative. I believe my educational, professional and civic experiences qualify me for the office of alderman-at-large, and I hope to merit the confidence in my candidacy already expressed by a number of citizens from all over the city."

Henry Boudreau Wins Sales Promotion Contest

A Newton filling station proprietor has been chosen as a winner of a year-long sales promotion contest sponsored by the Shell Oil Company. Henry Boudreau, who runs a Shell service station at 320 Watertown street, received a $75 check for his showing in the competition.

The contest was designed to improve the quality of service station operations. Shell dealers throughout the United States were invited to participate.

A total of $500,000 was distributed in contest awards based on sales and maintenance performance. The competition closed May 31.

The service station operators were rated on the inside and outside appearance of their stations, their service to the public, the volume of their sales, and other factors.

Boudreau won warm praise from Shell Company officials for his showing. "Mr. Boudreau is an asset to Shell, and by putting his station on a top-notch level he is rendering a real service to his community," declared George T. Hopkins, Metropolitan Boston district manager of the Shell Oil Co.

Aside from running his filling station, Mr. Boudreau sponsors a softball team for the benefit of the Jimmy Fund.

Residents Say Early Morning Noises at Plant Annoying

A group of residents from the Elmwood st. section protested to the Board of Aldermen at a public hearing this week concerning the noise at night and early in the morning from the Royal Crown plant at 49 Elmwood st.

Two witnesses told the Aldermen they had called the police because of the noise, one at 1:15 a.m., the other at 1:55 a.m.

The complaints were made at a hearing called to allow officials of Royal Crown of Boston, Inc., to show cause why their permit to store gasoline and other items should not be rescinded.

The hearing finally was continued for six weeks, at the end of which time the Aldermen will ascertain whether conditions have been corrected to the satisfaction of persons living in the vicinity of the Royal Crown plant.

George McGoldrick of 6 Elmwood ave. said representatives of the Royal Crown firm had promised, when the permit was issued, that there would be no manufacturing on the premises after 8:30 p.m. except in the busiest season of the year.

McGoldrick asserted that manfacturing has gone one at the plant until 12:30 and 1:15 in the morning. He said the attending noise makes it impossible to sleep during the summer when windows are open.

He declared that he called the police at 1:15 a.m. on a Sunday and that the officers got the plant to close down.

McGoldrick said that when the windows are open persons living in nearby houses are disturbed by objectionable language from the workers in the Royal Crown establishment, in addition to the noise.

Marion Jackson of 8 Baldwin st. told the Aldermen that she summoned the police at 1:55 a.m. She said the noise has continued as late as 3 a.m.

She said conditions would be improved if the plant were required to keep its doors and windows closed at night.

William J. Murphy of Hingham, manager of the plant, said he had issued orders that the doors be closed at 9:30 p.m. He informed the Selectmen that problems which had arisen that necessitated later operations than would normally be the case.

Both Murphy and an attorney for the Royal Crown firm indicated that an attempt would be made to comply with the terms under which the permit was granted to the concern.

Freedman Heads Mass. Assoc. Of School Boards

President-elect of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees Inc. is Haskel C. Freedman of 118 Homer st., Newton Centre, a member of Newton's School Board for the past eight years.

Freedman and the organization's other new officers are scheduled to be installed at special ceremonies being planned for early October at the Meadowbrook Junior High School.

A vice-president of the state organization for the past three years, Freedman recently announced his intention of running for re-election to Newton's School Committee in November. (As a service to our readers we are giving a roundup in this edition of major news events occurring during the shut-down of Boston daily newspapers.)

Five persons, four of them children, were rescued by fireghters from a second-story bedroom of their blazing, smoke-filled home at 77 Harvard st. in Dedham. Twelve-year-old Robert L. Bedard was found unconscious under a bed. Mrs. Joseph A. Bedard, mother of five and one of those rescued, is on the danger list at the Faulkner Hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation. Firefighters and police officers disregarded their own safety as they groped through the rooms of the home to make sure all the occupants had been removed.

Chairman McClellan of the Senate Rackets Committee urged a further investigation of labor leader Anthony Doria, called for possible criminal prosecution by the Justice Department and told Doria he also was going to get the Internal Revenue Department in the case in case the federal tax collectors "want to pay you a visit, too."

Doria, for 23 years the secretary-treasurer of the Allied Industrial Workers and its predecessor, the AFL United Auto Wokers, is accused of misusing union funds and of working closely with racketeer Johnny Dio. Doria told the investigating committee he plans to bring suit for $2,500,000 against the AFL-CIO and individuals who sought to oust him from his union. (He left the AIW under pressure last March.) He also declared he would be more disposed to believe racketeer Dio than he would such labor leaders as George Meany, David Dubinski, Walter Reuther or Al Hayes.

"I would take Dio's word before that of the four of them put together," asserted Doria. Doria repeatedly denied that he had misused union funds or misrepresented his financial statement. As Doria was leaving the hearing he turned to Counsel Robert Kennedy and asked, "Incidentally, Mr. Kennedy, what do I do about my expenses (witness and travel expenses)?" Kennedy, with a grin, answered, "Take it out of the $80,000." (That was the amount Doria supposedly was promised for getting out of the union.) When Doria made it plain he wasn't joking and wanted his expenses, McClellan curtly told him to "see the clerk."

George J. Cronin has decided to step out as State Purchasing Agent after holding the position for 35 years. He has submitted his resignation to Governor Furcolo and will retire on pension from the $12,500-a-year post within six weeks to two months. "I've had enough," declared Cronin. "I don't care to go through another winter like the last one." Cronin reached the statutory retirement age two years ago, but former Governor Herter persuaded him to stay on the job.

Holdup Of Bank Solved

Newton police have marked the holdup of the Newton Highlands Branch of the Newton Savings Bank "solved" with the arrest of the "camping bandits," Robert J. Savage, 32, of Pleasant street, Sharon, and Andrew Scibelli, 39, of Margaret street, Springfield.

Police said witnesses to the local holdup have identified Savage as one of the holdupmen. They claim Scibelli, questioned by Newton officers at the Boston FBI headquarters, admitted participation in the robbery.

Savage was arrested by Medfield police last week. For several days he and Scibelli had been "camping out," sleeping in a car in the woods in Westwood with two boys, one 14, the other, 15, who were "walkaways" from the Connecticut Trade School at Litchfield, Conn., an institution for juveniles.

Patrolmen George Kingsbury and Nina Iafolla of the Medfield police arrested Savage, but only after a harrowing experience on the part of Patrolman Kingsbury.

The two officers were checking on a cottage camp when they came upon Savage with the two boys and began questioning him. Savage pulled a gun and held it at Kingsbury's back.

Kingsbury, however, had noticed that two of the chambers of the .38 calibre Colt were

MAYOR HOWARD WHITMORE, JR., who has announced his candidacy for reelection.

Stands for 3rd Term To Complete Program

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., formally announced today that he will be a candidate for reelection to a third term as Newton's chief municipal executive.

While Whitmore's statement did not come as a surprise, it did serve to end speculation as to his political plans for the immediate future.

The Mayor declared that his decision to stand for reelection in November is motivated by a desire to carry through to completion the various programs he has started during the past four years.

While Mayor Whitmore may face at least token opposition in the coming campaign, his reelection to a third term is regarded as virtually certain by political observers.

Under his direction Newton has been known as one of the best run and cleanest cities in the eastern United States.

He has incurred some hostility outside of Newton by battling forcefully against projects he considered potentially harmful to the city he is governing.

Whitmore was one of the ablest and most respected members of the Massachusetts Legislature before he resigned from the House in 1955 to run for election as Newton's Mayor.

He is a graduate of Harvard College and was a star pitcher for the Crimson baseball team a little less than three decades ago.

Police Seize Slingshots

There are three fewer slingshots in the possession of boys after police investigated a report of a broken window in a Newton Centre home. Fred H. Hovey, 1435 Centre street, reported the damage. Sergeant Martin F. Greeley and Nils M. Holmstrand undertook to investigate. They questioned two 13-year-old boys and a 15-year-old and confiscated their slingshots. Police said the boys' parents promised to pay for the damage.

Two Representatives Lose Fight On Rebates

Two Newton legislators — Representatives Arthur G. Heaney and George E. Rawson—waged a losing fight in the Massachusetts House of Representatives this week against a bill providing for rebates of gasoline taxes to motorists using the Massachusetts Turnpike.

A motion by Heaney to kill the measure was beaten down by a vote of 133 to 96, and the bill then was started on its way to enactment by the House.

The tremendous influence wielded in the Legislature by Chairman William F. Callahan of the Turnpike Authority is reflected by the fact that the extraordinary proposal is apparently certain of adoption.

Representative Healey protested loudly and vigorously that the bill is "ridiculous" and that no other toll road in the United States has a rebate sys-

Almost Half of Homes Lack Fuel Oil Permits

Hundreds upon hundreds of Newton householders either have never obtained permits for the storage of the fuel oil they use for heating their homes or have misplaced the important licenses.

This is disclosed by Newton firefighters who have now completed the so-called "in-service" inspection of approximately 4000 homes and business places in the city.

They estimate that close to half of the occupants of the dwellings they visited either were unable to put their finger on their permits or looked up

Boys Break School Windows Parents Must Pay The Bill

Two teen-age boys, one 11 and the other 12, were apprehended by the police for breaking windows at the new Claflin School at 465 Lowell ave. in Newtonville.

Police had been watching the school as a result of complaints that young boys had been amusing themselves by smashing one pane of glass after another.

A total of 13 windows had been broken when the officers finally caught up with the youngsters allegedly responsible for the destruction.

Because of their age the boys will not be prosecuted, but their parents will be forced to pay for the damage they caused.

Several acts of vandalism also were reported by nuns in

Says Reports Indicate Molotov A Suicide

A Newton young man caused a world-wide sensation by telephoning the London bureau of the Associated Press to report that he had heard reports in Moscow that former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had committed suicide.

George Abrams, Harvard Law School graduate, caused the excitement.

He made the call to the A. P. London bureau from Helsinki, Finland, and told newsmen he had heard the rumors of Molotov's suicide from several different sources.

Abrams recently attracted international attention by delivering anti-communist speeches he made in Moscow's Red Square.

The Newton resident told the Associated Press that after one of his speeches he received a call from a man who described himself as a close friend of Molotov.

More Than 130 Girls Take Part in Softball Tourney

Softball—which has been considered by many unacquainted with its progress—as a sort of second or third cousin of baseball—is enjoying the finest success it has ever known in Newton this summer.

An example of this will be found in the enthusiasm and turnouts for the games played in the annual girls' softball tournament to determine the city championships of the playgrounds.

One hundred thirty-two girls were listed as eligible for competition. Among them are a number of excellent players as well as pitchers who can be

Citizens Group Starts Drive To Eliminate Pension Abuses

An unusual attempt to go over the heads of Massachusetts legislators in order to force the correction of abuses being perpetrated under the disability retirement law, is now underway.

For four years State Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton has been battling for the adoption of a bill which would close the loopholes in the disability pension statute, and for four consecutive years he has been defeated in the House of Representatives.

Now a citizens group has been organized to carry the fight directly to the voters of the Commonwealth.

Operating from a small headquarters on the 9th floor of 50 Congress st. in downtown Boston, the Massachusetts Citizens Committee next month will launch a campaign to obtain the signatures of 70,197 registered voters.

Ostensibly, the purpose of that move is to place the disability pension issue before the voters in the 1958 State election. Privately, the sponsors of the campaign believe that when the measure reaches the House next year, with the weight of that many signatures behind it, it will be adopted, eliminating the need of submitting any referendum to the people.

Hospital Worker Killed When Auto Strikes Pole

A 27-year-old employee at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital was almost instantly killed when his automobile struck a pole on Washington st., Newton, in an early morning accident this week.

David Gove of 5 Hamilton st., Newton Lower Falls, died 10 minutes after he was carried into the hospital where he had worked for the past five years.

It was Newton's sixth highway fatality this year and the third on Washington st.

Exactly how the accident occurred when Gove apparently lost control of his car and struck the pole, and there were no witnesses to fill in the unexplained is still an unanswered question. There were no skid marks to indicate that Gove applied his brakes before striking the pole and notified police.

A passing motorist, Gordon Gray of 43 Franconia ave., Natick, observed the car against details.

Ivy Poisoning Is Year Round Hazard -- Not Just Summer

Do you know how to protect against ivy poisoning? It's a year-round hazard most common during summer.

Ivy poisoning is a term used to refer to skin irritation resulting from contact with any one of more than 60 varieties of plants found in the United States.

Most persons are immune to the biggest share of them. But nearly everyone who touches the three more commonly known plants — poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac — is affected to some degree.

Such poisonous plants are the bane of outdoor workers. There's even risk for garage mechanics, golfers — and dog-lovers!

In one year more than 2,000 employees of the Connecticut State Highway Dept. contracted ivy poisoning, losing from two to five days of work. This despite a program of inoculations, eradication of roadside growths of the plants, and years of experience in detecting them.

There are cases on record of garage mechanics getting the rash from working on an auto that had come in contact with the irritation-producing plants. Golfers, too, have picked it up when they handled a golf ball that had crushed leaves of one of the three plants.

And, of course, there are instances of dog-lovers coming down with ivy poisoning after petting Fido — who just frolicked in the stuff.

Ivy poisoning is caused four ways. These include bodily contact with any part of the plant, exposure to smoke from the burning plant, contact with clothing or other objects that have been exposed to it, and wading or swimming in water containing its oil.

Here's a brief description of the "Big Three":

Poison Ivy, a low shrub or climbing, creeping vine, has leaves (a shiny, dark green in summer, a brilliant orange or scarlet in fall) that may be notched or smooth and are arranged in groups of three on short stalks. It may be found in every state (except California and Nevada) in woods or in the open — along fence rows, paths and roadways, and climbing trees or posts.

Poison Oak, a variety of poison ivy, is a term usually given two plants — one, a shrub, the other, a shrub that may become a vine. Leaves of the former resemble small oak leaves, occur in groups of three, are somewhat hairy and deeply lobed, and usually are found south of a line connecting New Jersey to Tennessee and extending as far west as Missouri. Leaves of the second type — which are oval and rounded — also come in three's. Strictly a western plant, it's found in states bordering the Pacific Ocean and grows in the same locations as poison ivy.

Poison sumac (also known as white sumac, poison ash, poison dogwood, poison elder and thunderwood) is a shrub, but occasionally can be found as a tree 20-30 feet high. Its sharply pointed, smooth, oily leaves are arranged in pairs along a slender stem with a single leaf at the end. Poison sumac has smooth, cream-colored berries growing in loose clusters along the side of a branch or stem.

Many popular misconceptions exist concerning the three poisonous plants. Among them are these:

1. The blisters from ivy poisoning don't contain poison. They do. Breaking the blisters spreads the irritation.

2. Eating leaves of the plants affords protection. It doesn't. Death has resulted from this.

3. Some persons are immune to ivy poisoning. No one is. Nor does immunity once insure future immunity.

4. Others can catch poison ivy from your rash or blisters. They can't—it's not contagious.

If you come in contact with the poison, wash the affected area five or six times with plenty of laundry soap and tepid water. Don't use a brush or rough wash cloth. Self-treatment can be risky, so see a physician.

Above all, learn to know and avoid these hazards. That's the best protection.

Admits Theft of Car When Arrested

Newton police reported this week that a man accused of stealing an automobile in Newton Highlands 19 months ago admitted to the theft when he was picked up in Boston on two other car-stealing charges.

They identified him as Frank R. Sigsbury of 107 Jersey street, Back Bay, and declared he has admitted taking an automobile owned by Mrs. Elsie F. Boyle of 162 Needham street, Newton Highlands, and keeping it for four months.

The car subsequently was found abandoned in Cambridge and was returned to Mrs. Boyle.

Police declare that Sigsbury picked up the keys to the car, with a miniature registration plate attached to them from a lunch counter in Needham.

Under the pretext of obtaining the name and address of the owner of the automobile with that registration, he called the Registry of Motor Vechicles securing the information he desired.

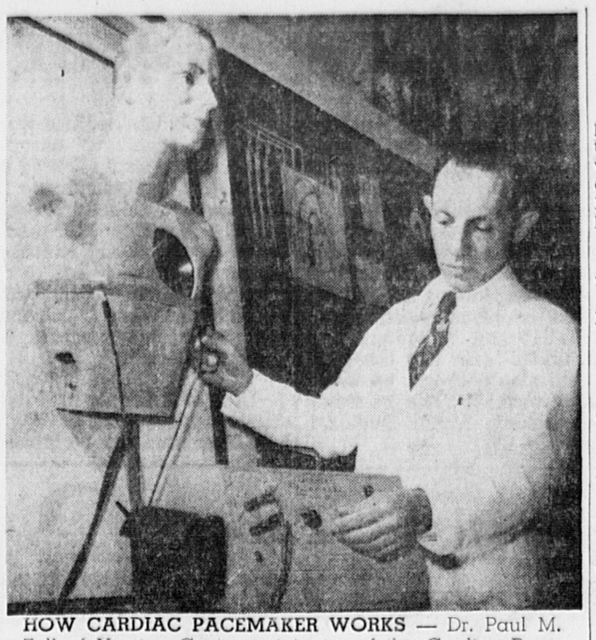

Later, according to the police, he walked into the driveway at Mrs. Boyle's home, where her car was parked, and drove away in it. He substituted stolen registration plates and used the car for four months before abandoning it in Cambridge, police report after piecing together the fragments in a strange story.

Night Club Horror Recalled In Fire Prevention Warning

The Cocoanut Grove night club holocaust in Boston in 1942, in which nearly 500 persons perished, is recalled in a bulletin on "Places of Assembly," issued by the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Newton Fire Department.

The bulletin is intended to inspire greater efforts toward safety and the saving of lives.

The bulletin reads:

When fire swept through a dance hall in 1940 in the deep South with a loss of 207 lives, the general feeling of the public was that such a tragedy could not occur in the larger cities, where places of this kind were subject to local regulations and were under the inspection service of building departments and fire pervention bureaus.

The stampede and death by fire, totaling nearly 500 persons, in the Cocoanut Grove night club in Boston in 1942, was a rude awakening and this was followed in two weeks by a holocaust in Newfoundland which caused the deaths of nearly 100 people.

The questions which naturally come to one's mind are whether such a catastrophe can occur in his community, and what can be done to prevent such occurrences.

Where people congregate in closely crowded groups of 100 or more there is a possible danger of panic. This danger is increased by the lack of knowledge of the location of exits, the absence of suitable exit signs and by the quickness with which fire may spread through combustible decorations. Such places exist in nearly every community. Not all of them are of a type which could be classed with dance halls, cabarets or night clubs. Restaurants, ballrooms in hotels, auditoriums in clubs, school or society halls, and social halls in churches may at times become overcrowded, and be deficient in exits or have an excess of flammable decorations.

The correction of conditions introducing possiblities of death or injury is not always easy. The first step is to have someone in authority inspect these places, and next to have the unsatisfactory conditions corrected.

There can be no question but that adequate exits must be provided, but exits alone are not the complete answer. Even with an excess of doorways, and of stairs and other exit provisions, there is the possibility of panic, together with danger from ignition of clothing and the inhalation of deadly gases. The general tendency is for people to try to get out by the same doorway they used in entering. The adequate marking of other exits as to how to get to them should be insisted upon.

Often conditions most needing correction for life safety are the ones most difficult to correct. The fact is many of the changes necessary will involve large expenditures of money and therefore enforcement is not easy.

Structural features such as open stairways (which have provided means for quick upward spread of fire and suffocating fire gases), lack of fire-stopping in walls or ceilings, highly flammable surface finish materials on walls and ceilings, large area combustible construction, and inadequate protection against fire in other occupancies, have all been factors which have aided in the rapid spread of fire with resulting actual or threatened loss of life.

Standards covering structural features affecting safety to life from fire are contained in the National Building Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, enforcement of which would be the responsibility of the municipal building inspection department.

An automatic sprinkler system can be used to good advantage where structural features are below standard. It will go far toward making life safety a fact in any place of assembly. Even a partial system covering the more hazardous areas would improve conditions.

Exit doors have often been found blocked or locked so as to be unusable and in some cases loss of life has been attributable to this condition. Fire prevention inspections should include a careful check on the uability of all required exit ways, especially as they exist during periods of occupancy.

One item having a marked influence on the panic hazard is that of over-crowding. Where seats are not fixed, special attention must be given to maintaining proper aisles free of all obstructions.

Fire extinguishers should be provided in kitchens, storerooms and other places where fire hazards exist. They must be given regular inspections and proper maintenance or they may not be usable when the fire emergency arises.

Managements should give thought to what should be done in time of emergency, and adopt a definite plan which will provide for life safety by evacuation or other means that may best fit the circumstances, and assign appropriate duties to each employee.

Employees should be instructed in use of fire extinguishing devices, in the necessity for keeping aisles and exits in usable condition, and in the method of collapsing any revolving doors that may be present. Revolving doors should be tested by collapsing at least once a month.

Decorative materials such as curtains, draperies, streamers and loosely attached wall and ceiling coverings should be flameproof. Some materials are of themselves sufficiently flameproof; others can be made flameproof by treatment with a chemical solution applied by dipping or spraying. Many treatments need to be renewed at intervals of six months or a year. Fire prevention inspections should include a semi-annual check on the flammability of decorative materials.

The Fire Prevention Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters contains detailed requirements on places of assembly which are suitable for enforcement by a municipal fire prevention bureau or fire department.

Wonderland Derby Saturday Night

J. B. "Red" Cohen, owner of the Fleet Wing Kennel in North Andover, stands a good chance of becoming the first New Englander to win the Wonderland Derby twice when the finals are run this Saturday night, Aug. 17 at Revere.

Since this area has had only three winners in the 23 years that the Derby has ben run, the former M.I.T. graduate certainly is in select company. His Canadian Pacific, one of three Fleet Wing qualifiers for the semifinals, holds the record for the Revere course of 38.9.

But Texas Yellow Rose, one of the nation's greatest distance dogs, had the best qualifying time of 39.3. Milam Mary, sister of "Yellow Rose," also qualified for the A. L. Sparks Kennel.

tem such as Callahan is seeking to put into effect.

The outspoken Newton legislator assailed the plan as "a very cute giveaway program."

His arguments, however, met a cool response from legislators, many of whose relatives have been given jobs on the turnpike.

Heaney pointed out that the exemption of the Turnpike Authority's bonds already costs the Commonwealth $600,000 a year.

He further cited that the State paid for the advance studies of the toll-road and also gave the Turnpike Authority an interest-free loan of $500,000 to get it underway.

It is ridiculous and ironic, Heaney argued, that Callahan now asks to have persons using the toll road be exempt from paying the State gasoline taxes.

Heaney will make a new fight against the bill when it comes up again next Monday in the House for a final reading and at that time will offer two amendments, one of which would have the State Department of Taxation deduct a percentage of the refund to cover administrative expense.

The cards, however, will be stacked against him, since it is apparent that Commissioner Callahan already has done enough favors for the members of the Legislature so that he can get about any bill he desires through that body, regardless of the effect his proposals would have on the public pocketbook.

Representative Rawson joined with Heaney in the futile fight with both Newton legislators calling attention to the fact that the filling stations along the Massachusetts Turnpike are not required to pay any taxes to the cities or towns in which they are located.

empty. He took a chance, whirled and grappled with Savage who then surrendered.

Scibelli was seized by FBI agents outside Fenway Park an hour later.

Police said the two were wanted for the Highlands branch holdup July 16, in which they allegedly obtained $2382, after four employees, a woman customer and her six-year-old daughter were terrorized, and with the holdup of the Forest Hills Co-operative Bank, June 19, and the $2100 holdup of the Provident Co-operative Bank of Chelsea July 1.

Savage, police said, is a State prison parolee and has a police record dating back 16 years.

. . . Travel and TB . . .

Travel is broadening, they say, but it may also broaden the tuberculosis problem for Americans. Experts predict that globe-trotting may increase our chances of getting TB, unless worldwide control of the disease is effected.

Great progress has been made against TB in this and a handful of other countries. The death rate has declined sharply and should continue to be low if TB control programs are continued at the present rate. In the past, it is believed, most Americans became infected with TB germs when they were young even though those who broke down with the disease did not do so until later in life. Infection rates in children have been declining in recent years as efforts have increased to find and hospitalize adults with "open" TB. If this trend continues and national standard of living remains high, there should be fewer new cases in years to come.

Against this trend, however, stands the fact that Americans are increasingly likely to travel in parts of the world where TB is more prevalent. In the service of government or business some live for considerable periods in parts of Asia, the Near East and other places where the disease is endemic. Many of today's children may grow up without meeting TB germs until they are exposed to the disease in foreign lands. So, in the end, they may suffer from the disease in spite of our nationwide TB control program.

What is the answer to this problem? Americans of today and tomorrow aren't going to stay at home. We all want to see the world. The only answer is world-wide control of tuberculosis. The United States can't be an island of safety in this small world. The World Health Organization works to improve standards of TB control. The UN Children's Emergency Fund actively assists nations whose TB problems are acute. Your local tuberculosis association, through the National Tuberculosis Associations, is a part of the International Union Against Tuberculosis and contributes to the increase and spread of knowledge about TB throughout the world.

Ten Commandments At Capitol August 21

The above scene is artist Maurice Thomas' conception of the amazing Red Sea sequence in C. B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," to be seen at a special engagement starting August 21 at the Capitol Theatre on Commonwealth avenue in Allston.

In the scene shown above, the waters, first divided to permit the safe crossing of the Israelites, crash down upon the pursuing Egyptians.

On Sundays there will be performances at 2:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. On Saturdays, and on Labor day, there will be a continuous performance, with the picture being screened at 12:00 noon , 3:45 p.m. and 7:45 p.m.

Re-election-

Experts on municipal government declare that Whitmore provided outstanding leadership for the City of Newton during the various emergencies which arose during his service as Mayor.

These included the devastating hurricane in 1954, the surging floods in 1955 and the crippling blizzards in the late winter of 1956.

In each of those times of emergency, they point out, he maintained a strong, steady hand on the helm of Newton's municipal government and had conditions restored to normalcy much more quickly than in most neighboring communities.

Mayor Whitmore is held in high respect by the officials of other Greater Boston cities, even though he has clashed with them at times on such issues as the proposal that the MTA take over the Highland branch of the Boston & Albany line and on plans for the extension of the Massachusetts turnpike.

In his statement declaring his candidacy for re-election, Mayor Whitmore thanked the people of Newton for giving him the opportunity to serve them as their Mayor and for the cooperation they have extended to him during his nearly four years at City Hall.

In opening his announcement that he would run again, Whitmore said his decision was influenced by his wish to go forward with the programs of modernization of administrative procedures, services and facilities which he initiated during the last few years.

He said many of these programs are well underway and that if it is the will and the wish of the people of Newton, he is desirous of promoting and concluding them during the third term he will seek.

The Mayor went on to express his "sincere gratitude" to his fellow employees of the city and to all the citizens of Newton, declaring that without their understanding and cooperation, the progress realized under him would not have been possible.

He directed his thanks especially to the people of Newton for their cooperation during the unusual periods of emergency which have occurred during the past four years in times of hurricanes, floods, blizzards and now the drought.

Mayor Whitmore declared that he will continue to devote his full time and energies to his municipal duties and responsibilities.

He said that in the closing weeks he will review in some detail his administration at the head of Newton's municipal government.

Frazier To Seek Ninth Term on School Board

School Committeeman Francis P. Frazier announced this week that he will be a candidate for re-election to the Newton School Board from the Ward 1 area.

Frazier, who lives at 127 Pearl street, will be standing for a ninth consecutive term in the November 5 municipal election.

In making known his candidacy, Frazier replied to Chairman Earle D. Wood of the Aldermanic Finance Committee who recently criticized the School Committee members for seeking too much money for the renovation of the newly located school department offices.

"It's time for somebody to point out to the school department that it might get along with something less than the best," declared Alderman Wood in recommending that an additional $10,000 requested by the School Committee be slashed to $5,000.

Committeeman Frazier, in answering Wood, said: "May I reply to Mr. Wood, for whom I have great respect as a man and a public servant, that that is exactly what the school department has done in this case—gladly accepting from a cooperative Mayor and city government a good but second-hand building—'something less than the best'."

Chief Re-Elected Vice President of Revolver League

Police Chief Philip Purcell has been re-elected regional vice-president of the New England Police Revolver League, an organization which seeks to make police officers expert shots and thus safeguard lives and property.

His re-election took place at the annual meeting of the League at Carling's in Natick. General Daniel Needham of Newton was re-elected to the honorary board of directors and Superior Court Judge Paul G. Kirk of Newton was also re-elected to this board.

KEVIN L. STOKES, appointed area chairman for Newton, Newtonville, Chestnut Hill and Nonantum for the forthcoming United Fund drive.

Cadillac

Keeping Current . . . For Economy!

In the illustration above, you see a very happy man at a very wonderful moment.

The title, the keys and the car are his—and he's starting out on his first journey at the wheel.

Of course, there's not much doubt as to why he decided to purchase a new Cadillac.

Like everyone else who selects the "car of cars", he did it to "keep current", so to speak, on all of Cadillac's new miracles of performance and beauty and comfort.

But coming to Cadillac, as he did, at this particular time of the year, we also suspect that he was inspired by the added motive of practicality.

For in addition to the normal Cadillac economies of modest purchase price, low operating cost and high resale value—Cadillac dealers are, at this time, seasonally prepared to make Cadillac ownership even more attractive than ever.

Because of the demand for used cars and because of increased production of the Cadillac car itself, the odds are that this gentleman received both a generous allowance on his previous car and prompt delivery of his new Cadillac.

Have you considered how wonderful it would be to step into a Cadillac of your own? Then, you should pay your dealer a visit—spend an hour on the highway in the luxury of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and get the facts for yourself.

You'll agree, we know, that the car is Cadillac—and the time is now!

Zoning Board Upholds Building Permit For New Funeral Home

The Zoning Board of Appeal ruled this week that Public Buildings Commissioner Arthur Campbell acted properly in granting a permit to Louis Schlossberg for the construcion of a funeral home at 858 Walnut street, in Newton Center.

The Zoning Board ruling was a unanimous one. It was rendered by Chairman V. Stoddard Bigelow, Secretary Fred P. Pegnato, Edward B. Murphy, Maurice A. Reidy, Jr., and associate member W. Cornell Appleton who sat in place of Kenneth W. Newcomb.

Two Boys Take Cash Then Drop It In Chase

Two boys, about 12 and 13 years of age, ran out of the home of Helen Libby at 277 Dorset street with $11 in cash they had found while rummaging in an upstairs room.

As they raced out of the dwelling, Ruppert Carven, 15, of 16 Bonair Circle, saw them, shouted to them and then chased them. The smaller boys dropped the money. Ruppert picked it up and returned it.

Seed The Lawn In Autumn

ROBERT W. SCHERY, Director
Better Lawn and Turf Institute

Who says to seed the lawn in autumn, rather than wait until spring? Of course the experts do, for all "bluegrass country," that immense sweep of our nation north from Tennessee. But above all nature says so. Here's why.

1. WEEDS DECLINE.

The great hordes of weeds and crabgrass which flourish during hot weather will taper to a halt as frosts approach. There'll be more space, nutrients and sunlight for the fine bluegrass and fescues—freedom to grow during their favorite cooler season unhampered by competition.

2. PLANTING AND CARE EASIER.

Soils are more easily prepared for seeding than when soggy as in spring. Shortening days give less heat and drying out of vital sprinkling, yet are warm enough to encourage fast sprouting with quick seedling growth.

3. AUTUMN RAINS BENEFICIAL.

Usually spring-style thundershowers give way to gentler penetrating rains in autumn, soaking in for the benefit of the grass rather than running off. Season of good soil moisture is approaching rather than drought.

4. HEAD START FOR BOTH GARDENER AND GRASS.

Garden chores are less demanding autumn than spring, giving greater chance for good lawn care. Quality lawn grasses (bluegrass, red fescues, bentgrasses, Poa trivialis) seeded in autumn will be vigorous yearlings by next spring, much better equipped to withstand summer weeds and heat.

Doing the right thing is only half the battle. Doing it at the right time is the other half. So, if at all possible, sow bluegrass-based mixtures in autumn, for the best odds insuring a fine lawn.

Two Bicycle Riders Hurt

Two bicycle riders were injured in separate accidents within 24 hours in Newton. The injured youths, police reported, were Robert Calcagni, 6, of 75 Lowell avenue, and Daniel Cleary, 16, 161 California street.

The Cleary boy's bicycle and a car operated by John E. Bibbo, 11 Capital street, Newton, collided on Jasset street.

Newspaper Blackouts

What is the place of the newspaper in the lives of Americans and in the economy of their nation?

In recent years many attempts have been made to evaluate that place. Some of the larger universities have spent great sums of grant moneys for the purpose. From time to time gifted writers and economists have assayed the task of the newspaper of today as compared with the newspaper of another generation and with the newspaper of the future.

Some so-called experts have been captivated by the tremendous advances made through the media of electronics in modern communication; some have peeped into the future and seen some form of electronics replacing the printed page.

The experience of well over 1,000,000 readers served by Boston newspapers during the period of a strike of one of the crafts should be enlightening.

They missed their favorite paper. Some attempted to fill their craving for information in magazines. Some turned to radio and TV listening. Most expressed dissatisfaction.

The somewhat prolonged news blackout which occurred when Pittsburgh suffered a suspension of newspaper publication has been repeated in Boston.

Newspaper publication blackouts of shorter duration elsewhere have created the same puzzled vacuum for the public.

If these blackouts prove nothing else, they offer concrete evidence that whatever other developments there may be in mass communication, the newspaper will always be a major factor as far as the public is concerned.

A good many legislators agree with that appraisal. They assert that there is no doubt whatever but that the voters would record themselves overwhelmingly in favor of revisions in the disability retirement law and that some of the House members who have defeated it in the past would vote for its passage next year rather than have it become an issue in the 1958 campaign.

In one way or another, however, whether by vote of the Legislature or by mandate of the people, the serious-minded members of the Citizens Committee are determined that the disability pension abuses will be halted.

Two Republican legislators—Senator Graham and Representative Charles H. Anthony of Haverhill—carried the fight on Beacon Hill this year and last, losing out both times in the House after their measure had been approved in the Senate.

Now Graham and Anthony are stepping into the background, and the citizens group is undertaking the tremendous task of gathering enough signatures to place on the 1958 election ballot for a vote of the people the bill which the Legislature thus far has refused to adopt.

The Citizens Committee is strictly a non-partisan organization composed of Democrats, Republicans and Independents. They have one purpose in mind—to end what they term a "disability pension racket" which, they declare, is costing the taxpayers of Massachusetts more than $6,000,000 a year.

Under the provisions of the Graham-Anthony bill, which the citizens group has taken over, a person pensioned because of disability could not have a total income in excess of the salary of the job from which he retired.

Senator Graham asserts that the present law is encouraging State, city and town employees to retire on disability pensions after relatively short service rather than working until they are retired because of old age.

"As a matter of fact," Graham asserts, "any employee who stays on the job as long as he can and then accepts the standard pension is regarded by his associates as a 'sucker.' This perfectly obvious loophole is morally wrong and is costing the Massachusetts taxpayers upwards of $6,000,000 a year."

The present drive is aimed at persons who retired from the public service on the ground they were no longer physically able to perform their duties and then went out and obtained similar jobs in private industry.

Such persons in many cases receive a pension equal to two thirds of their former public salary—which, incidentally, is tax-free—and then draw their wages from their new jobs. Often, they are better off financially than before they retired.

They could still do that under the Graham-Anthony measure, but if their total income exceeded the maximum salary of the public position from which they retired, their pension payments would be trimmed down accordingly.

Here's how that would work out, as Senator Graham explains it. He cites the case of a municipal employee who was earning $6000 a year and was retired because of disability on a life pension of $4000 a year.

Upon his retirement that man obtained a job in private industry from which he is now receiving $5000 a year. That salary, plus his tax-exempt $4000-a-year pension, give him a total annual income of $9000.

Meanwhile, the maximum pay for the job from which he retired has been raised from $6000 to $7000 a year.

Under the Graham-Anthony bill, that person would be allowed an overall total income of $7000 a year. Consequently, if he is receiving $5000 a year from the job he now holds, his public pension would be cut from $4000 to $2000 annually. Should he lose his job at any time, his full pension would be restored.

Graham and his associates point to many cases of former public employees who retired under the pretense that they no longer were able to do their jobs and are actually cheating the State or local communities out of large sums of money.

They tell the story of a firefighter who was retired because he supposedly couldn't climb ladders. He claimed he suffered dizzy spells whenever he endeavored to go up a ladder. So he was pensioned. Now he is working as a painter at the Charlestown Navy Yard and is climbing all sorts of scaffolding without suffering any apparent ill effects.

A truck driver retired on disability because of an alleged back condition. Shortly after his retirement, he bought a truck and went into the trucking business for himself. He is now doing precisely the same work he claimed he was physically unable to do.

A fireman in a small town retired on disability and is now working in an aircraft plant in California. He recently wrote to a fellow former firefighter and urged him to retire on disability also and to come out and work with him.

Case after case are cited of persons retired on grounds of physical disability who are now doing practically the same work they claimed they couldn't do for a State, a city or a town.

In some instances their present jobs are actually more taxing and arduous than those they declared they were physically unable to fill.

Senator Graham and those who have picked up his fight emphasize that their bill in no way would harm those employes who are genuinely disabled and seek disability pensions for completely honest and legitimate reasons.

Donal O'Callaghan of Marblehead, who has been chosen as chairman of the Massachusetts Citizens' Committee, declares that his group hopes to recruit some 2000 workers in all sections of Massachusetts to obtain signatures on papers which will be placed in circulation Sept. 16.

O'Callaghan readily concedes that the task of compiling 70,197 valid signatures will be a staggering one. But he predicts that the job will be successfully completed by Dec. 4, the date on which the signatures must be filed at the State House. Before that, they must be certified by local city and town officials.

The political rule of thumb is that it usually takes two signatures to produce one valid one so that O'Callaghan's committee is facing the chore of assembling more than 140,000 signatures.

He reports, however, that a great many persons already have manifested an interest in the undertaking and have indicated a willingness to get out and obtain the signatures.

"This is an attempt to correct an abuse in government and to save the people of Massachusetts money which they should not be called upon to pay out," O'Callaghan asserts. "Our headquarters will be in Room 936 at 50 Congress st. in downtown Boston, and we expect it to be a rather busy place for the next few months.

"We're going to give the people of our State a chance to sidetrack one gravy train, and I think they're going to want to do it."

Furcolo Dig at Legislators Builds Democratic Hostility

Governor Furcolo's recent slap at the Democratic-controlled House ways and means committee reflected such poor political judgment that many persons assumed that it had been made on the spur of the moment in a fit of pique because the committee members were trimming his supplementary budget.

That, however, was not the fact. The comment, which presumably made the committee members more determined than ever to cut down the Governor's budget, was contained in a written statement which obviously had been given considerable thought and had been prepared with care.

It pointed up once again the extremely poor relations which exist between Furcolo and the Democratic leaders in the Legislature — relations which have worsened rather than improving with the passing months.

What apparently annoyed the Governor, aside from the cutting given his budget, was that the committee had decided to hold a public hearing on his proposed expenditures instead of considering them in private.

So he issued a sarcastic, tongue-in-cheek statement, expressing supposed delight that the committee had "abandoned its long-standing custom of closed-door meetings on some measures" and congratulating it for "beginning the new policy of no more closed-door hearings that bar the press and public."

The Governor went on to repeat the same thought in different words in the course of his statement and to give the newspapers, radio and television stations credit for permitting the light of public scrutiny to shine upon the deliberations of the House ways and means committee.

Except for venting his own feelings in a rather schoolboyish way, Mr. Furcolo accomplished nothing except to increase the hostility to him in his own political party.

'It's the Law'

Need to Study Leases Great

Lack of Understanding May Result In Serious Difficulty for One Party

(A Service of the Massachusetts Bar Assn.)

Brown leased a store to Jimsen, the lease providing that "said store is to be used for the sale of shoes." Brown inserted the clause because he had previously leased the adjoining store to the Torwin Dress Company, and in that lease he had agreed "not to lease any other part of the building to a competing business, nor permit it to be used for such a purpose."

A year later Jimsen decided that he could not operate his store profitably unless he changed it into a department store, selling all types of apparel. Accordingly, he advertised the opening of a department store in the premises, and made preparations to sell all kinds of clothing. The Torwin Dress Company immediately complained to Brown, who demanded that Jimsen limit his business to that of a shoe store. Jimsen refused. The Dress Company threatens to move out, and to sue Brown unless he stops Jimsen.

At first glance, it would appear that Brown had protected himself by providing, in Jimsen's lease, that the store be used for the sale of shoes. Unfortunately, he did not protect himself enough. The lease merely said the store could be used for the sale of shoes. It did not say it could not be used for other purposes. Therefore, Jimsen can operate his department store, and Brown will find himself in serious trouble with the dress company because Brown violated the terms of his lease with them. Brown could have protected himself by inserting the simple word "only" in Jimsen's lease, to make it read "said store is to be used for the sale of shoes only."

This case illustrates the necessity of studying leases carefully to make sure they apply in all respects to the particular parties. To use a printed form of lease or to accept a lease blindly without understanding how it may affect one's rights may result in serious difficulties for one or other of the parties to it.

(This column, based on Massachusetts law is written to inform not to advise. A slight variation in the facts of any case can materially affect the results.)

Plastics Factory Foreman Injured

James Fitzgerald of 68 Walnut street, Watertown, a foreman in the Beacon Plastics Corp. plant, 82 Needham st., Newton, suffered severe injuries to the left hand at the plant.

The tips of three fingers were amputated when his hand jammed in a molding machine he was repairing.

His shouts attracted another worker, Frank Crosio of Cambridge. Crosio called police and rendered first aid. The victim was taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Accident-

Gove slumped unconscious over the wheel of his automobile.

Doctors at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital reported that he died of a fractured skull and multiple injuries. He was beyond help when police carried him into the hospital.

The accident occurred about 5:45 Monday morning.

Gove, according to John McGuinness, with whom he roomed at 5 Hamilton st., left home about 5:30 a.m., as was his custom, to go to Cambridge to pick up a fellow worker.

He was driving in the direction of Cambridge when he struck the pole.

It is surmised that his car may have gone out of control and smashed into the pole before he could stop it.

Gove was employed as a cleaner at the hospital.

Abrams said the Russian who contacted him informed him he had heard that Molotov, who is reportedly in disfavor with Soviet brass, had ended his life.

He asserted that two other Americans had heard the same story from a chambermaid employed in the home of a Russian official.

Abrams said he assumed the reports are true since they were widely circulated in Moscow.

The son of Attorney and Mrs. Samuel Abrams of 16 George st., Newton, the younger Abrams, who graduated from the Harvard Law School in June, has been attending the World Youth Festival in Moscow and a few days ago left the Soviet capital for Helinski.

During his stay in Moscow, he was accused of spearing western political views at the instigation of the State Department.

Energetic Campaign to Eradicate Ragweed Starts

An energetic campaign for the eradication of Newton's ragweed, which soon will be causing suffering for persons afflicted with hay fever, has been launched by Dr. Henry W. Godfrey, the city's acting public health director.

Dr. Godfrey has appealed to Newton householders to familiarize themselves with the appearance of the ragweed and to eliminate it from their grounds.

He also has urged Newton garden clubs and civic groups to start organized efforts to seek out and dig out the ragweed in their neighborhoods.

Such a campaign would make Newton a better and more comfortable city in which to live and would afford a measure of relief for victims of hay fever, Dr. Godfrey pointed out.

The ragweed in the vicinity of Newton will reach its full maturity about this weekend or early next week and in the period immediately following will cause a maximum of discomfort for sufferers of hay fever.

Persons susceptible to the pollen contained in the ragweed can obtain relief only by going to places where weed does not grow or where it has been eliminated through a cooperative effort on the part of residents, Dr. Godfrey declared.

Newton does not now fall in that category, he said.

The pollen contained in the ragweed is so light that it can be carried long distances even by a mild breeze.

As a result, Dr. Godfrey explained, the cooperation of all residents would be necessary in order to achieve effective results in eliminating.

Now approaching full maturity, the ragweed will flourish for more than another month and then will begin to die out toward the end of September.

However, the weed is self-seeding so that it will be back again next year unless a concerted effort is made now to root it out, Dr. Godfrey declared.

AT NORFOLK — Midshipman Donald E. Loew, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Loew of 60 Hull street, Newtonville, who is spending most of the summer with an ROTC unit at Norfolk, Va.

Local Man Home After Two-Year Vietnam Tour

Michael K. Kagen, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kagen of 131 Sargent street, Newton, recently returned home from a long interesting assignment as foreign service staff officer with the U. S. Information Service.

The assignment was at Saigon, Vietnam, where Kagen served as exhibits officer with the Information Agency's post.

While in Vietnam he was in charge of numerous exhibits in Saigon. He singles out as "particularly well received" the "Asian Artists in Crystal," a unique 36-piece collection of crystal creations of the Steuben glassmakers combined with the engraved drawings of artists from Korea, Nationalist China, the Philippines, Japan, Burma, Thailand, Indonesia, Vietnam, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Iraq, Iran, Syria, Egypt and Turkey.

"The Vietnamese were surprised that the Americans could turn out such art work," he said.

Other exhibits Mr. Kagen took on tour in Vietnam were the "Atoms for Peace" and the "Open Skies Inspection" shows.

Mr. Kagen was on the editorial staff of the Ziff-Davis Publishing Co., New York City (publishers of Popular Photographer, Flying, etc.), and a publicity writer for Little, Brown and Co., New York City (book publishers), before joining the U. S. Information Agency.

Permits-

with surprise when they were asked if they had one.

Some householders didn't realize they were supposed to have permits for the storage of fuel oil. Others assumed that the permits had been secured for them either by the firm that sold them their heating systems or by the company that supplies them oil.

Actually, there is solid ground and reason for that assumption because the firms which install oil burners are responsible for getting the oil storage permits and are not supposed to leave that chore for the householders to perform.

Wherever they can obtain the name of the company which installed an oil burner, the Newton fire department is calling the firm in question and instructing one of its officials to obtain the permits they were supposed to post on the wall of the cellar, near the oil burner.

A good many householders, however, either don't know or can't remember who installed the oil burners in the homes where they are now living. Some, of course, moved into the dwellings long after the oil burners were placed in use.

Some companies which installed oil burners in Newton homes two decades or more ago have since gone out of business.

In cases where the fire department cannot locate the company which installed the oil burner, it is obtaining the names of the concerns which now deliver oil to the homes involved and informing them that it is up to them to obtain the necessary permits.

Those firms are being warned, in fact, that it is a violation of the law to deliver oil to a home which has no permit for storing the fuel.

Fire department officials report they are receiving a high degree of cooperation from both oil burner installation companies and from the concerns which sell oil.

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., expresses himself as highly satisfied with the results achieved to date by the in-service inspection.

Hundreds of homes and business places are in a much safer condition today than they were a few months ago as a result of the elimination of fire hazards in attics, cellars and other storage places.

Because householders are cooperating with the firefighters in admitting them to inspect one and two-family homes no occupant of such a dwelling is being prosecuted for failure to have the required oil storage permit.

They are told, however, that they should have such a permit for their own protection. In a vast majority of cases the companies supplying the fuel oil and anxious to continue doing so are promptly obtaining the Newton permits.

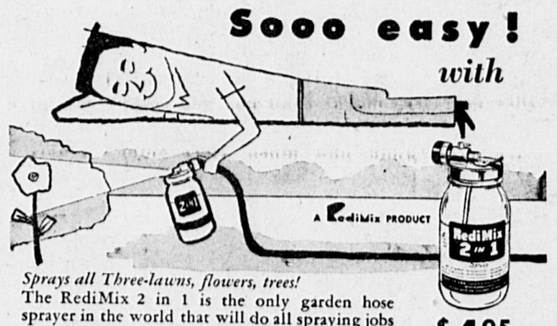

So Newton's householders are getting the permits they need at no expenditure of time or effort.

The in-service inspection will be continued by the Newton fire department until all homes and business places in the city have been covered.

Polish army and police units attacked and occupied three street car terminals in Lodz, Poland, which had been taken over by striking bus drivers and street car conductors, as communist authorities in that city ordered a violent showdown with 10,000 transportation workers who were striking for higher pay

A force of 300 police and troops attacked the main transport terminals, firing shots over the heads of the strikers who had barricaded themselves. The attack lasted about 15 minutes, with the workers offering no resistance. Police and soldiers then began the operation of street cars and started transit service in the paralyzed city, which once was held out as a communist model for all Poland.

Conductors, in addition to seeking more money, demanded an end to a pay system based on their collections which they protested makes their pay day resemble a lottery. "We never know how much we're going to get," they complained. The indications were the strikers would go back to work at gunpoint. Lodz is Poland's second largest city.

Said Judge Thomson, "It's a shame for outsiders to come here and violate social and highway regulations in accidents without insurance protection." Roberts, it was claimed, had none.

Retorted N. H. Insurance Commissioner Donald Knowlton to Judge Thomson, "Between 90 and 91 percent of New Hampshire's motorists carry non-compulsory insurance." He accused the judge of being unfair in citing the faults of one motorist as a general example.

Earlier in the week, Doria devoted much of his time in the witness chair to defending Johnny Dio who got into the union business with Doria's help. Doria maintained that Dio, a convicted extortionist, was eager to go straight but that a "cruel society" would not permit him to do so.

Outlook In Medicine Is Like World In 16th Century

The outlook in medicine today, according to the Health News Institute, is something like a map of the world in the 16th Century — much of the landscape is familiar, but vast areas are still marked "terra incognita" — unknown lands.

The force behind the voyages of discovery into these uncharted lands was competition, a rivalry between the great centers of trade in Europe. Somewhat the same spirit prevails today in a large part of the vast wave of exploration we now call "research."

Private research represents about two-thirds of the nation's total effort to extend the frontiers of knowledge and control. In the words of Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, this private area is "the most crucial and dynamic sector of the country's research effort."

The unique, impressive contribution of the nation's pharmaceutical manufacturers in this respect is well recognized by science. After the Canadian scientists Banting and Best discovered insulin, they turned to an American pharmaceutical house for further research and transformation of the drug into a therapeutic reality for a million diabetics in this country alone. And there was only enough penicillin in the world, the HNI recalls, to cure 400 patients until a score of American pharmaceutical manufacturers joined in a massive program to produce the wonder drug cheaply and abundantly.

In the years since, sixteen more successful antibiotics have been made commercially available. And each time this has happened, the medical and marketing problems for pharmaceutical companies have changed; either the new drug has provided competition for those already on the market, or it has made necessary a change in the direction of antibiotic research toward new drugs effective against organisms that have not yet been effectively conquered.

The impulse behind these efforts is competition, which can be defined as "the driving need to produce newer, better products in the atmosphere of a free enterprise economy and unregimented medical care."

The fund throughout the state has reached the $19,000 mark, it was announced by John T. Howland, general chairman.

Excessive Heat Kills More Than Does Excessive Cold

Excessive heat takes more than four times as many lives annually as excessive cold.

More persons die each year from too much heat than from accidental electrocutions.

Those are facts on excessive heat presented by the National Safety Council.

Heat cramps and heat exhaustion— results of excessive heat — come from over-exposure to sun or intense heat. Heat cramps are caused by excessive loss of salt from the system through perspiration and are identified by cramps in the abdomen and in arm and leg muscles.

Heat exhaustion — which doesn't always accompany heat cramps — has these symptoms: paleness, chills, dizziness, nausea, abnormal sweating, rapid and shallow breathing, rapid and weak pulse, weakness, below-normal temperature and skin either hot or cold and clammy.

Unconsciousness and possible death may result in severe cases, the Council said.

Heavy exertion in abnormally high temperatures — engine rooms, foundaries, steel mills, bakeries and launderies, for example -- may cause heat sickness.

Most susceptible to heat sickness are persons not used to high temperatures, those in poor health or previous sufferers from it. Here's how it can be prevented:

1. Avoid alcohol and ice water. Instead, drink cool water and citrus fruit juices. Eat vegetables and easy-to-digest foods.

2. Wear light, loose clothing. Avoid over-fatigue. Bathe daily and get plenty of sleep.

3. Replace body salt lost through excessive perspiration by salting your food or taking salt when you take a drink of water.

First aid for heat exhaustion should include these points:

1. Remove the victim to circulating air.

2. Keep him lying down. Apply blankets over and under him.

3. If he's conscious, give him warm liquids to drink — also salted water (a teaspoon to a pint).

(As a service to our readers we are giving a roundup in this edition of the major news events which have occured in the past week during the shut-down of the Boston daily newspapers.)

James R. Hoffa testified before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that he has borrowed about $120,000 in the past five years and has invested it in such things as a heavyweight boxer, a brewery and a girls' camp.

Hoffa, middlewestern chief of the teamsters' union, said most of the loans were made to him at no interest charge and without security of any kind. He told the committee his friends became indignant when he suggested that he give them notes for the loans.

At the close of the hearing Committee Chairman McClellan expressed the belief that Hoffa's testimony gave "a basis for a suspicion at least of a conflict of interest." The Arkansas Senator said he referred to Hoffa's financial interest with employers under contract with the teamsters.

Herter Blasts Furcolo, Asserts His Regime One Of Delays and Failures

Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., declared today that Governor Furcolo does not have a single noteworthy accomplishment to show for his first eight months in office.

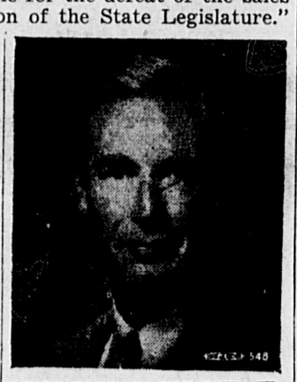

Herter said the Furcolo administration on Beacon Hill has been marked by "ineptitude, indecision, procrastination, delays—and failures."

Councillor Herter charged that "Governor Furcolo's own ineptness was responsible for the defeat of the sales tax bill in the present session of the State Legislature."

"It should be plain now to everyone in Massachusetts," Herter declared, "that Governor Furcolo fumbles and bungles just about everything he attempts — and then tries to blame someone else for his own failures and lack of ability.

"At the start of his administration," Herter asserted, "the present Governor claimed he had inherited a mess. If he really thought the affairs of the State government were in a mess then, I wonder how he would describe the conditions existing today after he has

School Vandals Are Rounded Up

Two groups of boys who shattered almost 100 windows in two Newton school buildings have been rounded up by police who are now endeavoring to track down a third group who smashed 25 windows in another school.

Police Chief Philip Purcell also directed his men to maintain a vigilant watch over playgrounds, schools and other public buildings and to do everything possible to apprehend the youngsters responsible for the destruction of public property.

Parents of eight boys who shattered 90 windows in the Newton High School have agreed to pay for the damage caused by their sons. The bill will run to a tidy sum.

The eight youngsters, ranging in age from 9 to 12, were located by Sergeant Paul Donahue and Patrolman Richard J. Nugent after an investigation.

Two other boys were apprehended for breaking five windows at Stearns School. They were found by Sergeant Walter D. Drew and Patrolman Joseph B. LaCroix, Edward V. Casavant and Thomas F. O'Halloran.

Driverless Mail Truck In Accident

One of Newton's most unusual accidents of the year occurred when the operator of a mail truck, attempted to help a fellow worker, gave a well-intended push to a second postal truck without realizing that its driver was across the street emptying a mail box.

The driverless crashed into an automobile owned by Edward C. White of 38 Walnut park, Newton Centre. White's car was parked in front of 284

Strange Thefts

One of the strangest thefts of the year was reported this week by Mrs. Bernard Meehan of 26 Linden street, Newton Upper Falls, who notified police that a pup tent was stolen from her back yard.

Thieves also removed two wheels from trailers at the Rent-A-Trailer Co. at 385 Boylston street, Newton Centre.

Mrs. Phyllis Loeb of 170 Lake street, Newton Centre, reported that $62 was taken from a purse in her knitting bag while it was lying on a living room chair in her home.

Archie E. Balter of 19 Avondale street, Newton Centre, went out to get in his automobile and discovered three hub caps had been removed from it.

Whitmore Wins Long Fight On Highlands Branch Issue

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., this week won a spectacular victory in his long and determined fight to block the proposed extension of the MTA rapid transit system over the Newton Highlands branch of the Boston & Albany railroad.

Supporters of the move failed by a margin of less than one percentage point to obtain the votes necessary in the MTA Advisory Council to ratify the plan. The Advisory Council is composed of the officials of the 14 cities and towns served by the road.

An affirmative vote of 85 per cent of the members of the Advisory Council was needed to approve the suggested MTA extension. Those favoring the plan were able to muster 84.1 per cent of the votes but were unable to get beyond that figure.

Officials representing Cambridge, Watertown and Brookline followed Mayor Whitmore's leadership and voted against the proposal.

Belmont was not represented at the meeting held in the office of Mayor John B. Hynes at Boston City Hall. That was tantamount to recording that town against the extension.

Andover Newton-Boston City Hospital Graduate Sixty for Chaplaincies

This morning a class of 60 young and dedicated persons completed 12 weeks of work and study at Boston City Hospital.

In the quietly inspiring Protestant Chapel of the huge hospital, they received their certificates from one of the most unique schools of the school-rich Metropolitan area—the Andover Newton Theological School-Boston City Hospital School for the Training of Protestant Hospital Chaplains.

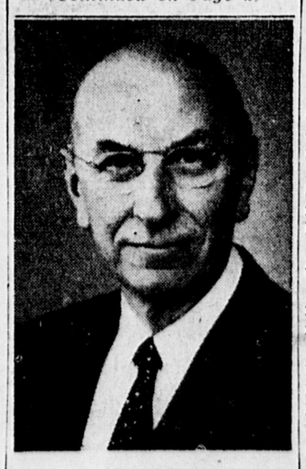

Addressing the young chaplains this morning and presenting them with their certificates was Dr. John F. Conlin, director and superintendent of Boston City Hospital. Speakers included Dr. John M. Billinsky, 91 Herrick road, Newton, director of the course and Guiles professor of psychology at Andover Newton Theological School; the Rev. Lloyd E. Beebe, 74 Bowen street, Newton, assistant course director, Protestant chaplain at Boston City Hospital and an instructor at Andover Newton Theological School. A communion service closed the exercises.

Those receiving certificates came from many parts of the world. Fifteen have already been ordained to the ministry. Others are completing theological studies at Andover Newton which will eventually lead to their ordinations.

The "commencement exercises" were simple and dignified. When they were ended the class left the hospital armed with a training which will enable them to bring spiritual solace and comfort to the sick and afflicted to those who know the Divine Healer also stands at the hospital bed.

The exercises marked the completion of another chaplain

Bonomi Fate to Be Decided By Executive Council Today

A hearing will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon before the Executive Council at the State House to determine whether or not Domenick L. Bonomi shall go to the chair next week for the Scituate murder of his wife.

Upon the decision of the Council reached this afternoon will go the determination of whether Bonomi will forfeit his life sometime during the week which begins just after midnight Monday, Aug. 26.

If the Council decides against Bonomi and he goes to the electric chair in the new State prison at Walpole he will be the first person to have been executed legally in this State in more than 10 years.

The dramatic meeting scheduled for this afternoon was set up earlier this week. It came during a tense session of the Executive Council, when Governor Furcolo asked its members to grant Bonomi another respite from death.

When a vote was taken after a sharp discussion in the Council Chamber it was 8 to 0 against a respite. Only one councillor, Patrick J. McDonough of South Boston was absent from the meeting.

Party lines were completely flattened in the vote against the respite. The Democrats voting against Furcolo were Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Murphy, Councillors Joseph R. Crimmins of Somerville, Joseph

Board of Selectmen told the Graphic today that if the chairman of its board had been able to attend the meeting Monday, he would have voted against the plan for having the MTA take over the Highlands Branch.

As matters now stand, the plan to have the B & A abandon its service on the Highlands Branch and then have the MTA take over the line is dead.

It is possible the move will be revived at some future date. That will depend on developments still to come.

Mayor Whitmore said today that he would "take a new look" at the entire proposition if the B & A seeks to abandon service on the Highlands Branch line and is granted permission to do so by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

That would take some time, however, and in the meantime it is expected that a study of the Highlands Branch proposal, in relation to the entire Metropolitan Boston transportation problem, which Whitmore has repeatedly urged, will be undertaken.

Whitmore pointed out that some new transportation for the South side of Newton would be needed if the B & A were to terminate its service.

In a sense the unexpected rejection of the Highlands Branch proposal was a defeat for William F. Callahan, powerful and influential chairman of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, who was responsible for the passage by the Legislature of the bill allowing the MTA to take over the Highlands Branch.

Callahan rescued the measure after it had been turned down by the Massachusetts House of Representatives. His influence, however, did not extend into the MTA Advisory Council.

Under the agreement followed, each city or town represented in the MTA Advisory Council casts a vote equal to the percentage of the MTA deficit which it will pay this year.

Incidentally, the apportionment of the MTA losses this year will be based on a traffic count made a year ago. Next year the MTA will resume the practice of using a 1940 traffic count as the formula for determining that portion of the MTA deficit each city or town will pay.

Had the 1940 formula been used to determine how much each town's vote would count, the tally on the Highlands Branch issue would have been even closer than it was, but the proposal still would have been defeated.

Based on a total of 100 percent, this is the vote possessed by the five communities which were against the MTA extension.

Newton	.5330
Belmont	.9170
Brookline	4.5938
Cambridge	8.4538
Watertown	1.4059

(Newton has the second smallest vote of any of the 14 communities. Only Milton is smaller. That is because only a portion of Newton is served by the MTA.)

Here is the vote possessed by the nine communitie which favored the plan to have the MTA take over the Highlands Branch:

Boston	66.1281
Arlington	1.6481
Chelsea	1.6799
Everett	2.0043
Malden	2.5129
Medford	2.9098
Milton	.2605
Revere	1.6655
Somerville	5.2856

Mayor Whitmore, in presenting his opposition to the MTA extension plan during the meeting in the office of Boston's Mayor Hynes, expressed the conviction that the figures on which MTA officials based their estimate that rapid transit service on the Highlands Branch line would show a profit were wrong.

Whitmore characterized as "unrealistic" the project by MTA authorities of the number of passengers who would use the Highlands Branch service.

The Newton Mayor pointed out that the only study of the proposition has been made by the MTA and that there has been no independent survey whatever by any other organization.

He told his fellow city and town officials that this year the Legislature passed a bill calling for the creation of a Metropolitan Rapid Transit Commission to study the extension of rapid transit service by the MTA and the transportation facilities in the entire Boston metropolitan area.

That measure was approved by both branches of the Legislature and was signed by Governor Furcolo July 16.

Mayor Whitmore argued that rather than go into an uncertain proposition the MTA Advisory Council should await the results of the study by that commission of the suggested extension in relation to the entire transportation problem.

He pointed out that the legislative commission will be created to conduct just such a study.

"We should have an overall, coordinated study, not just a survey of one phase of the problem," the Newton Mayor maintained.

Whitmore next contended that the MTA Advisory Council should await the decision of the ICC before placing itself on record in favor or against the extension of the MTA over the Highlands Branch.

Should the ICC rule that the B & A must continue providing service over the Highlands Branch, the MTA would be unable to take over the line, he pointed out.

Mayor Whitmore emphasized that while Newton would feel the effect of any rise in the MTA deficit resulting from the operation of the Highlands Branch rapid transit line at a loss, his city would not be hit as hard as 12 of the other 14 cities which pay a greater share of the MTA losses.

(That appeared to be one of the most telling arguments delivered by Mayor Whitmore.)

Mayor Whitmore today expressed understandable satisfaction that his long and determined fight to hold up the extension of the MTA rapid transit facilities over the Highland's Branch line had proven successful in the showdown test.

"I hope it will promote a full, independent study of transportation in the metropolitan area," he told the Graphic.

"If the B & A enters a petition with the ICC to abandon service on the Highlands Branch and that petition is granted, we would take a new look at the proposition since we would need new transportation on the South side of the city," Whitmore continued.

"I feel also that some effort should be made to have cities outside the MTA district, which will benefit from the extension of the rapid transit facilities, bear some part of the expenses resulting from the move," he said.

Mayor Whitmore also observed that the blocking of the extension plan will save at least temporarily approximately one million square feet of industrial land at the old B & A Riverside yards.

The land is owned by the S. S. Pierce Co. which is planning construction on it. The MTA had intended to take is over as a parking area.

Chief Purcell issued a stern warning that boys who break windows or cause other damage to property are going to find themselves in trouble and that his men will investigate and follow through every case of wanton destruction of property.

The punishment of the boys who broke the windows at the Newton High School and Stearns School is being left to the parents who must foot the bill for the damage.

Police are now in the process of running down boys who broke 25 windows and a glass door at the Day Junior High School in Newtonville. In that case both rocks and BB shots were used to shatter the windows.

Under the cooperation enjoyed by Andover Newton Theological School and the Boston City Hospital the course has become recognized as one of the best conducted anywhere.

This year's class of graduates is typical. They come from many distant points. There is, for instance, Ndabaningi Sithole. He's from Southern Rhodesia. He's the son of a Zulu tribesman. Presently he'll be returning to Rhodesia to his wife and five children and his life career as a Christian cleric.

As a boy he had been taught Christianity by a mission band.

Then there is Tuck Wah Lee from Hawaii. There is the Rev. Rankin L. Shrewsbury, pastor, of the First Congregational Church of Daytona, Fla. They are the Rev. Joseph H. Crocker, chaplain of the Lemuel Shattuck Hospital, and Peter A. Niblock a graduate of the University of Toronto.

Another member of the class is Andrew R. Krumbhaar, son of Dr. G. Douglas Krumbhaar of Cambridge, outstanding obstetrician who recently abandoned the medical profession for the ministry.

The three young women graduates of the chaplain school are Miss Dorothy M. Mathewson, Miss Susanna Menah of New York City and Miss Marilyn E. Bushnell, R. N., a graduate of Simmons College.

The curriculum of the school offers a most intensive training for the Protestant hospital chaplain-to-be.

The staff includes Dr. Billinsky, director; Dr. Andrew Dimitri Elia, associate director, who is a professor at the B. U. School of Medicine and visiting professor at Andover Newton Theological School; the Rev. Mr. Beebe; the Rev. Leicester R. Potter, Jr., Protestant chaplain of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital and an instructor at B.U. School of Theology; the Rev. Arthur H. Becker of the Evangelical Lutheran Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Henry C. Brooks, Protestant chaplain, Boston City Hospital.

Also, Dr. M. Winthrop O'Connell, senior executive, Boston City Hospital; the Rev. Rollin J. Fairbanks of the Episcopal Theological School and Dr. Andrew D. Elia.

Assistant supervisors of the course are the Revs. Harold Beede, Francis I. Frellick, Haldean S. Lindsey, Wallace K. Reid, Richard Sutter and Helen E. Terkelsen.

The Andover Newton-Boston City Hospital chaplain course is 12 weeks in length. It begins when a member of the staff of Miss Margaret B. Welch, superintendent of nurses at Boston City Hospital, acquaints the class with the daily life of a great hospital, its routine, its functions, its rules—its never-swerving dedication to the welfare of its patients.

Miss Delina McInnis, instructor of the nursing arts in the Boston City Hospital School of Uursing, spent the opening two days of the course with these lectures this year.

After that grounding the class learned about the modern major hospital by serving it. For the remainder of the first two weeks the students served the hospital in the capacity of orderlies.

Then followed the daily class routine beginning at 8:30 a.m. and ending at 5 p.m. It was a routine which included lectures by members of the Boston City Hospital staff, numbering some of the most outstanding figures of modern medicine, and by professors of Andover Newton.

Daily chapel services are held. Then there are actual calls made on patients under the supervision of trained chaplains. There are seminars in which the students discuss the problems of their day. During the weekend the young seminarians served in churches in the Greater Boston area.

This morning they reached the formal end of their hospital training for their chaplaincies. They'll be able to bring to their callings and to hospital beds in many parts of the world that spiritual solace and comfort which even the great science of medicine of itself cannot bring.

'No Toll Road Through Newton', Says Rawson

Representative George E. Rawson predicts that Chairman William F. Callahan of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority will never build his toll road extension through Newton into Boston.

Rawson made that forecast during a speech before the Newton Kiwanis Club at the Simpson House in Newton Highlands.

The hard-hitting legislator said that Callahan will not be able to build the road "because he will not be able to get the money."

Representative Rawson explained that the funds for financing the construction of a toll road expansion must come from a loan. He said that such bond issues in other States have not proven lucrative and that consequently investors don't put their money in them.

Rawson also criticized the State tax impost, characterizing it as "excessive."

He said it results from an uneconomical government which creates an unhealthy atmosphere for business. A sales tax, Rawson said, should lead to economy in government.

17-Year-Old Youth Admits Breaking into Newton Homes

A 17-year-old Newton boy admitted to breaks into a number of Newton homes after being taken into custody by police a few days ago.

He was arrested after breaking into the home of Agnes B. Trowbridge of 135 Jewett street.

The officers who apprehended him were Sergeant Paul Donahue and Patrolmen Arthur J. Flanagan, Thomas F. O'Halloran, Charles F. Rivers, Patrick J. Panaggio and John J. Bartinelli.

In Newton district court, Paul D. McBride of 99 Park street was given a suspended two-year term sentence in the House of Correction by Judge W. Lloyd Allen.

The occupants of two of the homes which McBride admitted entering had not reported the incidents to the police.

McBride confessed to breaking into the home of Mrs. Priscilla Kaufman at 82 Cabot street in May and taking $30 in change from a register bank. He said he gained entrance through a kitchen window.

Mrs. Kaufman explained to police that she did not report the break because she thought it might have been children in her neighborhood and did not want to implicate them or embarrass their parents. As a result she said nothing about the loss of the $30.

Francis J. Monahan of 1045 Centre street, whose home McBride also admitted entering, said he made no report to police because nothing was taken from his dwelling.

Just before he was apprehended, police say, McBride entered the Trowbridge home through a kitchen window, ransacked three second-floor bedrooms and took a pocketbook containing $8 and a metal box containing jewelry.

Other cases which Newton police were able to mark closed after questioning McBride were:

The theft of $175 from the home of Mrs. Goldie Kates at 17 Kenilworth street last May 15.

A break into the temporary offices of the Eliot Church at Hunnewell House, where about $5 was taken.

The disappearance of a hunting knife on May 10 from the home of Gustav A. Hagen at 131 Otis street.

A break in the home of Joseph J. Rice at 96 Farlow road, where $126 in cash and other articles worth $75 were taken on June 7.

The theft of $25 in cash and jewelry and other articles valued at almost $300 from the home of George Gray, 250 Tremont street, on June 6.

At the home of Umberto Cassiai, 360 Langley road, Newton Centre, the only thing taken was a package of cigarettes.

Also solved were breaks in the home of William R. Dezotell, 85 Cabot st., Newtonville, on May 21 and the house of Philip Hamburg, 25 Huntington rd., on June 7.

New Educational Program Will Be Introduced Here

Newton will be chalking up another educational first this fall when the Newton Plan—a revolutionary program to improve instruction while more effectively utilizing teachers — goes into high gear.

Tried experimentally at Newton High School last year, the program aims to meet the quadruple challenge of teaching more subject matter to more students on limited funds and in limited space . . . with the added purpose of providing a more stimulating role for the teacher.

The Newton Plan, developed by the high school's English department under Floyd Rinker, tackles these problems head-on in several ways:

1. Cutting across class and course lines, students are regrouped into lecture classes of from 90-400 students, meeting for periodic "mass lectures".

2. From the faculty, teacher-lecturers are developed to address these large groups, giving the entire student body an opportunity to hear the most able lecturer the school has on a given subject.

3. Visual aids, such as the Vu-Graph which projects study materials onto a large screen, will be widely used, with Newton's own teachers preparing graphic study material for their own courses.

According to Miss Mary Lanigan, acting head of the English department, a program of this type could never have been undertaken if a strong department had not existed.

"We are experimenting with new ways to meet new problems," she said, "and to experiment you must not be afraid to fail. We do however, feel that this program offers a great deal to the student and will help to attract more able teachers for the future.

"Under the Newton Plan, there will be a variety of roles for the teacher to perform. There will be an opportunity for young teachers to study under expert teachers. The role of the teacher-lecturer supplies a new place for the able teacher to go, besides into administration.

"The teacher - lecturer," said Miss Lanigan, "must perform at the top of his or her ability, and the Newton Plan provides the necessary time for preparation for this performance and also takes some of the correction load off these people."

"Other able teachers, who operate best on a more intimate basis, will continue to teach in traditional-size classes and will accomplish all the things that can only be done on a personal student-teacher plane.

Actually, the Newton Plan adopts some of the methods used for years in the nation's colleges—chief of which is its stated principle of instilling the responsibility for learning in the child. The thing that is different is trying this at the high school level.

The mass lectures are not just planned as entertainment. The student are to be responsible for their content and are expected to take notes to accomplish this purpose.

An example of the type of subject that may be undertaken if and when the Newton Plan spreads into the social studies department, would be a series of three or four lectures on "The Meaning of Monarchy" tied in with Queen Elizabeth's proposed visit to the U.S. next year.

Mr. Rinker and Miss Lanigan said that another important facet of the plan is the opportunity it gives teachers to design their own materials . . . actually write their own textbooks as they go along. The Vu-Graph will be used in conjunction with tape recordings and other visual and auditory aids.

Proponents of the Newton Plan feel that there are no materials available that would be as effective as the graphic display of "different teaching tools designed by the teacher" to illustrate his own points in the lecture he prepares. The English Department feels there are no films, film strips, or platters

Zoning Board To Hear 8 Petitions

Eight public hearings are to be held by the Zoning Board of Appeals on Tuesday night, Aug. 27, starting at 7:45 at City Hall, Newton Centre.

Lively interest is being shown in the petitions for variance of the zoning laws in the case of the Di Carlo Brothers of 15 Beecher place, Newton Centre, to permit the company to use the premises on the north side of Hamlet street, Newton Centre, for parking and storage of materials, and to use the land on the south side of the street for an office and garage building.

The Newton Board of Aldermen had granted the variances on the land which is in a private residential district. An abutter appealed the case to the Supreme Court. The Court ruled in the case of Colabufalo vs Di-Carlo that the Board of Aldermen has no right to grant hardship variances.

The other hearings are on the following cases:

Antonetta Amendola, 378 Boylston street, Newton Centre, asks the right to subdivide her land, with four dwellings thereon, into four lots to permit separate sales. The land is in private residential district.

Donald T. and Norman DeAngelis, 112 Hyde street, Newton Highlands, wish to divide their land to permit conversion of a barn into a dwelling. The land has 9491 square feet. It is in a single residence "B" District, where 15,000 square feet of land is needed for a dwelling.

Samuel and Mary Valanzano, 440 California street, Newton, ask permission to subdivide their lot of 6,000 square feet to permit construction of a second dwelling. The land is in a private residential district calling for 10,000 square feet of land for a dwelling.

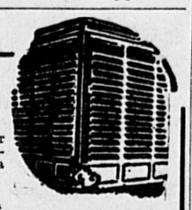

John and Selma White, 72 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands, ask for variance of the setback and rear yard requirements for the construction of a dwelling at Oakdale and Walnut Hill roads, a Residence "C" district.

Mary Giordano, 27 Auburndale avenue, West Newton, wants a permit to subdivide her land having two dwellings into three lots for a third dwelling.

Levgrant Realty Company, Boston, asks for variance of the frontage of a lot on Meadowbrook road, to construct a dwelling on a lot having 16,500 square feet, with 77.35 feet frontage, while the zone requires 15,000 square feet and 100 feet frontage. The lot is between Fox lane and Wheeler road in a single residence "B" district.

Newspapers Have No Substitute

At the beginning of this month a nationally known organization came up with a survey which is particularly interesting at this time.

The survey showed:

That 107,000,000 Americans read their newspapers regularly.

That total represents 87 percent of the population, 12 years and older.

That the public is becoming more and more selective in its television viewing and spending more time reading.

That 45,000,000 read the women's sections of their newspapers.

That 50,000,000 regularly read food store advertisements.

That 53,000,000 regularly read editorials.

Today Massachusetts residents, particularly those in the Metropolitan Boston area are more newspaper-conscious than ever before. During the past couple of weeks the public came to know and understand that their newspapers are not luxuries. They are not a means to mere entertainment only. They are not something that we can easily do wtihout.

They are a necessity.

Further than that the days just behind us have also demonstrated with bold and definite example that there is or are no substitutes for the newspaper.

There can be no fair-minded decision except that they didn't succeed. They couldn't do so. Women simply can't shop for their daiy household needs through such a medium, as radio and TV.

The air waves have a place of their own presently. They will continue to exercise an important place in the future.

The very nature of radio and TV, however, does not lend them to the requirements of the public and the requirements of the advertiser.

Whatever else they may be, they are not and will never be a substitute for the newspaper.

Former Boston Post Political Editor

Furcolo Slow In Doing Things His Regime Marked By Delays

Governor Furcolo has been slower in doing things and getting things done than any other chief State executive in memory.

He was late in taking his oath of office last Jan. 3. He didn't deliver what is commonly accepted as an inaugural address until about two weeks after he became Governor.

Even his inauguration ceremonies were held on the installment plan in a departure from tradition and custom.

A striking example of the manner in which he has done things was provided by his action in demanding the resignation of Richard Prestion, the former State Commissioner of Commerce, and then, after getting the resignation, spending three months making up his mind on the selection of Preston's successor.

He and the chairman of the State Housing Board he appointed—John E. Maloney—made glowing predictions of the speed with which they were going to carry forward the program of housing for the elderly and then permitted a bill to become law which fouled up the housing for-the-elderly programs in towns carrying forward plans for such projects.

This week the Massachusetts Senate is in recess, and Senate President Newland H. Holmes declares that Governor Furcolo's procrastination is responsible for the fact that the upper legislative chamber is taking a week off from its duties instead of winding up its business and proroguing for the year.

Senate President Holmes asserts that Furcolo's failure to submit his capital outlay program to the Legislature within a reasonable time caused him (Holmes) to recess the Senate until Aug. 26.

"This sitdown strike by the Governor is costly to the State," charged Holmes. "For more than seven months he has procrastinated, postponed and failed to act on many important issues.

"With other business to transact, the Governor's delays did not affect legislative progress until now. The Governor is preventing prorogation of the Legislature."

Holmes, for all of the fact that he was elected to the Senate presidency on a coalition of Democratic and Republican votes, is a partisan, down-the-line Republican who would not pass up an opportunity to jibe at a Democratic Governor.

In this instance, however, he was puting cold, indisputable facts on the line. It is significant that even Furcolo's most stalwart supporters on Beacon Hill did not challenge the truth of Holmes' claims.

The blunt fact is that Governor Furcolo's first eight months in office have been marked by indecision, procrastination, fumbling, bumbling and postponement of action.

The Legislature could have and should have concluded its deliberations and prorogued weeks ago. It has been unable to do so because of the repeated delays in the Governor's office in submitting proposals for consideration.

Holmes is right when he declares that has cost Massachusetts taxpayers money. In addition, of course, Furcolo has little in the way of accomplishments to show for his first seven months in office.

Proposal for Gas Tax Refunds To Turnpike Users Ridiculous

If anybody but William F. Callahan had gone to the Legislature with a proposal that the State gasoline taxes be refunded to motorists using the Massachusetts Turnpike, he would have been laughed out of the State House and told the idea was preposterous.

But Chairman Callahan has so many legislators under obligation to him—legislators who will dance like puppets on the end of a string when he sings a tune—that it is quite possible he will obtain the passage of his bill.

No other State in the Union has a law of the type Callahan is seeking. No other public official in the United States would be likely to propose a law such as Callahan is advocating; none probably would have any real chance of achieving its adoption.

With Chairman Callahan it's different. He has the secret formula.

One political observer recently expressed the belief that Mr. Callahan probably could have obtained the passage of the sales tax bill if Governor Furcolo had commissioned him to do so and had given him a free hand, That is probably true. But we wonder whether that is the kind of government the people of Massachusetts want and how much of it they are willing to tolerate.

In one sense, the adoption of the bill providing for the rebate of gasoline taxes to users of the Massachusetts Turnpike would be a more remarkable accomplishment than the passage of the sales tax proposal would have been.

Nobody except Chairman Callahan could possibly persuade the members of the Legislature to short-change the State and a majority of its taxpayers in such a manner.

More Efficiency In Kitchens Than In Legislative Halls?

State Senator Mary L. Fonseca made a statement on the floor of the Senate the other day, during an argument on whether that body should be recessed until Aug. 26 or Sept. 3, which will bring a smile of satisfaction to the faces of many housewives.

Said Mrs. Fonseca: "If women ran their homes the way men have run the Legislature this year, none of you married men would even get your meals at all."

Many of the masculine legislators privately agree with Mrs. Fonseca but blame Governor Furcolo for the trials and tribulations of the Legislature.

While President Holmes was recessing the Senate for a week, delivering a ringing blast at Furcolo as he did, Mrs. Fonseca maintained that the Solons should go on a two-week vacation.

Murderers May Get Reprieves Through Death Penalty Study

Earlier this year, Governor Furcolo recommended that the Legislature place on the ballot in the 1958 election for a vote of the people of Massachusetts the question of whether capital punishment should be abolished or retained in this State.

That proposal was rejected. Now, however, the two branches of the Legislature have approved a resolve calling for a study of the advisability of scrapping the death penalty.

What the commission probably will do, after it concludes its study, will be to advocate the same referendum which the Governor unsuccessfully urged.

The commission will have three courses open to it: (1) It could recommend that nothing be done and that the death penalty be left on the books. (2) It could advocate that the Legislature abolish capital punishment. (3) It could suggest the referendum.

The Legislature year after year has turned down bills calling for the repeal of the death penalty. It did so during the present legislative session, and it probably will do so again in the next session, one reason being that police officials will argue that the abolition of capital punishment would invite the murder of prison guards and police officers by criminals or convicts facing life sentences anyway.

A commission is not likely to ask the Legislature to repeal the capital punishment law, knowing in advance that in all probability it will again refuse to do so. Neither is the commission likely to recommend that nothing be done about the situation. That leaves the referendum as the third possibility. Governor Furcolo, incidentally, will appoint 7 of the 15 commission members.

This poses the question of whether Furcolo will seek reprieves for wife-killer Dominick Bonomi and the Lovering slayers, all of whom are now in the death row at the Walpole State Prison, waiting to take the last, grim walk to the electric chair.

The guessing is that Furcolo will recommend that their lives be extended and that the Executive Council will go along with the recommendation.

No Governor likes to assume the responsibility for snuffing out another man's life, no matter what crime he has committed. The nights there were executions at the old State Prison in Charlestown were tortuous ones for Governors. That must be true also in other States which still have the electric chair, the gas chamber and the gallows.

Yet, any move to grant reprieves to Bonomi and the Lovering killers is certain to stir a stiff controversy. Many people believe strongly those men should pay with their lives for what they did.

Random Clippings

"He was singing out of tune," was the explanation given by Clement Lopez of San Jose, Calif., for stopping in the middle of a midnight duet and slugging his companion, fracturing his skull.

When Heather Sheppard, a Bristol, England, Sunday School teacher, arrived at the church for her wedding, she glanced down and discovered to her dismay that she had forgotten to change her bedroom slippers. A friend faced frantically back to her home to get the shoes which were part of her bridal costume.

George Stein, 79, of Milwaukee was fined $50 and deprived of his driver's license, after police watched him drive down the wrong side of the street, make an illegal left turn and pass eight stop signs in five blocks. The action was taken despite Mr. Stein's testimony that he has trouble seeing, hearing and walking and only drives once a week to see his doctor.

* * * *

Out in the beer city of Milwaukee Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson were divorced after Mr. Johnson testified that his wife took so little interest in his career than when he told her he had been promoted to the position of secretary in his bank, her answer was, "So What?"

"People's Freedom," a newspaper in Budapest, recently carried this advertisement: "Girl, 23, with glasses, high school graduate, living in country, would like to meet and marry serious man who does not like to make acquaintances through ads." Maybe she should have used the radio for her appeal.

Newton Industrial Advance Cited as Example of Vast Need for Technical Skills

Newton's share of the State's advance in post-war industries not only has increased employment but it has likewise sharply stepped up the demand for the highly skilled.

The number of skilled jobs in industry in the city tdoay are double what they were in 1947, according to the Audit of State Needs, which has been stpdying the State's economic picture.

It cites Newton's experience as an example of the tremendous growth in the need for technical skills.

The increase in skilled jobs in the city during the past 10 years is approximately 5880.

The present high-skill industries include such fields as chemicals and plastics, electronics, machinery and transportation.

The research agency stressed the fact that all but 580 of the city's 6461 rise in all forms of manufacturing employment came in the "newer industries" which require a highly-skilled working staff—from technicians to engineers.

As a mater of fact, nearly half—or about 10,360—of Newton's 23,657 manufacturing work force now falls in the "newer industry" category, and the proportion will soon be half.

This percentage compares favorably with other Bay State industrial regions which have experienced a spurt in the "newer industries" since the war, the Audit reported. Nearby Waltham leads the state with more than 80 percent of its manufacturing work force in the high-skill industry group.

The Audit praised Newton's "concerted efforts, on the part of city officials and civic and private groups" to bring new industry into the community. The non-partisan research agency noted that the city's position on Route 128 should prove advantageous in the years ahead as more high-skill industries move to the Greater Boston perimeter.

"We find the city's efforts in promoting higher education of its youth through its Newton Junior College and through its excellent guidance programs in the secondary school are of high quality. It is perhaps significant that 75 percent of the high school students in Newton said on a recent private study that they planned to go to some form of school after completing high school. This is the highest percentage in the state."

Your Blood Is Needed

Everyone who reads this article has either received or knows someone who has received a pint or more of blood, perhaps during an operation, after an accident. Wars end, disasters pass, but the need for blood always continues.

Newton's blood donor days are Thursday, August 29, from 1 to 7 p.m., and Friday, August 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Red Cross Chapter House, just off Walnut street in Newtonville Square, at 21 Foster street.

A doctor and trained nurses will be in attendance and an appointment is not needed.

Perhaps during the Labor Day weekend an accident casualty will need a pint of blood—your blood. It takes only 60 minutes for you to do your share in saving a life . . . Call LA 7-6000 for more information.

196 Colleges Accept Over 600 1957 N.H.S. Graduates

Those boys and girls who marched to the platform for their high school diplomas one fine evening last June didn't call their formal educations ended when they returned to their seats with the precious parchment.

Nearly all of them are going to higher institutions of learning, colleges and universities. Indeed, not less than 196 different colleges have announced acceptance of members of the Newton 1957 graduating class!

There are 334 students in Curriculum I who received 593 notices of admission. In Curriculum II, 271 students collected a total of 227 admissions offers.

In addition to these definite acceptances, 103 places on the waiting lists of different colleges were held by Newton seniors when the survey was made May 23.

The very large number of acceptances obtained by students in Curriculum I is partly the result of many students in that group making three or more applications to colleges. They must do this because the competition for college entrance means that an individual can-

Washington street at the time of the mishap.

This is how the strange accident occurred.

John W. Moore, Jr., driving one U. S. Mail truck, stopped near 267 Washington street to make a collection. His truck stalled, and he was unable to get it started.

John W. Paulo, came along in a second mail truck, stopped for the traffic lights, and Moore explained his predicament. Paulo agreed to give him a push to try to get him started.

While waiting for Paulo to pull around behind his truck, Moore went across the street to pick up the mail from a collection box.

Paulo, meanwhile, swung behind the stalled mail truck, thought Moore was at the wheel and gave the push which had been requested.

Moore looked up from the mail box he had emptied and shouted. His warning came just too late.

No one was injured. The only damage was to the mail truck driven by Moore. White's automobile and the nerves of Paulo and Moore when they realized the mixup that had occurred.

currently available that have instructional value in teaching, and is consequently engaged in manufacturing what they want and need.

Feeling a responsibility to each boy and girl, whether or not they go on to college, the Newton Plan team expects to acquaint each child with the rudiments of law, economics, personal finance, art and music in daily life, and possibly the great current issues of our society and government. They will tap the resources of the entire high school staff to do this, and even call on nearby colleges, other professions and business if need be.

On Tuesday, educators from Greater Boston communities and from several colleges met at Newton High to hear Floyd Rinker discuss some of the plan's aspects and to hear him explain how to prepare some of the materials for the Vu-Graph.

At present there are fourteen members of the faculty at the high school taking part in the program. They participated in a workshop this summer conducted by the Newton Plan pioneers. The five-week session was devoted to the study of the subject matter to be covered and the exact preparation of the materials for this fall. It will involve only the English department at present, but eventually languages, math, social studies and business may be taught with Newton Plan techniques.

The plan is being partially underwritten by the Fund For the Advancement of Education, a Ford Foundation division. An outline of the Newton Plan submitted to Dr. Clarence H. Faust resulted in a token grant from the foundation, which has also aided the program, according to Mr. Rinker, with "intelligent questions and with praise."

Dr. Harold B. Gores, Newton's Supt. of Schools, is of the opinion that Newton has hold of the biggest idea in high school education since 1893, and has given wholehearted support to the experiment.

An exciting idea that may well have national repercussions in education, is in the making. Whether or not high school age students can respond to the standards being set for them is the question to be answered. If Newton proves that they can, high school teaching as we now know it may become a thing of the past.

Harold Howe, new principal of Newton High School declared, "This is a record of which the school and community should be proud. It is certainly evidence that Newton High School is doing a superior job of college preparation. With all these acceptances Newtonites should find a friend on almost any campus in the country." in the freshman classes of practically all similar colleges which are more distant. Twenty State universities have admitted Newton seniors as have a great variety of junior colleges. There are eight seniors who plan to spend another year in school before going to college.

Scholarship applications by Newton seniors have also been well received by colleges. Of 101 applicants for scholarship aid, not be certain of admission at any one college.

Students often are happily surprised by being admitted to several colleges. On the other hand, the competition at the colleges frequently applied to be Curriculum I students means that many of them are not accepted.

In the class of 1957 Curriculum I, students collected 202 notices of failure to be admitted. Curriculum II students, operating in a less competitive league, garnered 68 notices of rejection. At the end of May there were still 100 applications from which seniors had not yet received notice of acceptance or rejection by the colleges.

The college drawing the largest group of Newton High School is Boston University, with University of Massachusetts second. Boston College in Newton admitted one of the largest groups of students. Among the liberal arts colleges and universities which are so heavily applied for Newton students made a good showing.

In the immediate vicinity, but outside Newton proper, Harvard, Wellesley, Tufts, Brandeis, Simmons, Jackson, Radcliffe and Massachusetts Institute of Technology gave a total of 105 admissions to the class of 1957.

Newton will be represented by sizeable groups of students

Sharf Candidate For Reelection

Alderman Hirsh Sharf announced this week that he will be a candidate for reelection to a fourth term on the Board of Aldermen from the Ward 6 section in the municipal election next November.

Sharf, who lives at 143 Woodchester drive, has been active in Newton's civic affairs for more than two decades, having served on the Playground Commission, in Red Cross drives and on the Republican Ward Committee. He also participated in several Community Fund campaigns, working as a solicitor, village chairman and assistant chairman of the residential division.

He has served on a number of different committees during his three terms as an Alderman. He is presently chairman of the Municipal Parking and Meters Committee and a member of the Finance Committee.

In announcing his intention to stand for another term, Sharf said he feels his three terms on the board have been "most constructive" and that he has learned much about the problems confronting the city.

"Newton needs experienced legislators to handle its affairs, as the city will be faced with many more difficult situations during the years to come," he declared. "Serving on the finance and budget committee for four years, I have learned much about the financial difficulties facing every large city. As the city grows, a fair tax rate and an economic budget are of prime importance."

Alderman Nixon Will Seek Reelection to Third Term

Alderman John P. Nixon today announced that he will be a candidate for reelection to a third term as Alderman-at-large from the Ward 3 section.

Nixon, who resides at 40 Fountain street, in West Newton, is in the insurance business in private life.

A graduate of the Claflin School and, Newton High School, Nixon has seen Newton grow from a small community to a city of its present size and stature with a population of 86,000 and the attendant problems.

As a member of the important Aldermanic finance committee, Nixon has demonstrated a sound understanding of the tax and other fiscal problems confronting Newton's citizens.

He has served also as a member of the ward lines and legislative committees.

Alderman Nixon for years has been active in Newton civic affairs. He is a lieutenant in the auxiliary police and a past president of the Peirce School P.T.A.

He organized the Newton Central Little League and is an official of the Newton Republican City and Ward Committees.

In announcing himself a candidate for another term, Nixon declared that with the normal number of retirements this year and with at least two freshman members from the newly established Ward 8 sector, it is important and in the interests of the city "to reelect a man with Aldermanic experience and maintain a continuity of the good government the city has enjoyed for so many years."

"I feel certain that with four years of valuable training, I can contribute to maintaining the high standard of the present board," Nixon asserted.

Reappointed Notaries

Little League Sons Let Dads Feel Good-Win by Run

Little League fathers answered the old urge last Sunday after sitting on the bench too long watching the small fry cavort on the diamond. The result? Fathers took on sons in a baseball game held at an all-family picnic at Riverside Recreation.

The outcome? The sons let up a little and only beat the seniors by a score of 7 to 6.

The secret? The mothers were drafted to finish the game for the Dads. The exciting game ended on this dramatic note. The mothers were having a glorious time, were at bat when the game ended and had the bases loaded and no outs. However, one Mom hit into a triple play and the game was history.

Lads taking part were: Don Perry, p; Peter Caire, c; Jay McDode, 1st; Teddy Hoffman, 2nd; David Nicholl, 3rd; Jimmy Hopkins, ss; Jimmy Campbell, c.f.; David Hazel, r.f.; Jay Abely, l.f., and Tommy Harkins, sub.

New Attempt to Get Supreme Ct. Action on Martin

Judge Edward A. Pecce of the Superior Court is expected to rule soon on a second attempt by the city of Newton to obtain a Supreme Court ruling on the ousting of City Comptroller John D. Martin.

Martin's ouster was declared improper by Judge Wilfred Paquet and he ordered Martin's reinstatement without loss of pay.

Following Judge Paquet's decision, City Solicitor Matt B. Jones sought a Supreme Court review but that tribunal rejected the hearing appeal on the grounds that Judge Paquet's order had not gone to judgment so that the appeal was premature.

The city solicitor bases his latest appeal for action by the Supreme Court on a bill of exceptions.

Judge Pecce has three months months to act on certification of the bill of exceptions.

Placement Tests To Be Given at Ashley School

The Frank Ashley Junior High School will hold placement tests at 9 a.m. at the school Thursday, September 5. This is for all new pupils, but does not apply to the seventh graders coming from Newton public elementary schools.

Make-up tests for incomplete marks or for pupils who have been tutored in a subject will also be given at that time.

The school office will be open beginning Tuesday, September 3, through Friday, September 6, from 9:00 a.m. to noon for registration of new pupils and to issue transfers.

New pupils should register, and should bring transfers and report cards with them. Parents are urged to accompany children, whenever possible.

School re-opens at 8:45 a.m. Monday, September 9, for 7th grade pupils; and at 1:00 p.m. for 8th and 9th grade pupils.

Two For One Special Offer On Nescafe

For the next two weeks thrifty homemakers will have the opportunity of making a dollar do the work of two in the family food budget.

Starting today, the maker of world famous Nescafe Instant Coffee is making it possible for everybody who buys either a 2 oz. or 6 oz. jar of this famous coffee to get another jar the same size free.

"The reason for our generosity is twofold," explains Donald C. Cady, vice president of The Nestle Company. "First, we wont to do something to reward the millions of regular and loyal users of Nescafe. Anl second, we want to make new friends for this fine product. So, this special 2-for-1 offer is a "thank you" to one group — and an inducement to the other group to try Nescafe.

"Recent research among consumers shows that an exceptionally high percentage of those who try new Nescafe become steady customers. Today's Nescafe is the finest ever produced by The Nestle Company, the world's most experienced maker of instant coffee.

All Milady has to do is buy a ja rof Nescafe at her food market, then mail the paper inner seal and label from the jar, with her name and address to Nescafe, Box 60C, Mt. Vernon 10, N. Y. She will be mailed a coupon which she simply hads in at any fod store in exchange for a free jar of Nescafe, same size as the one she bought, either 2 oz. or 6 oz.

So, for the next two weeks, careful shoppers will be sure to look for Nescafe on their grocer's shelves and take advantage of this opportunity to save money and get acquainted or re-acquaint with the wonderful fresh-roasted flavor of new Nescafe Instant Coffee. But don't delay, ladies. This offer expires midnight, Sept. 7th, 1957. And, of course, only one free jar to a family.

GOOD FORTUNE can come your way—if you phone a Classified Ad to DEdham 3-4000.

Representative John J. Toomey of Cambridge, chairman of the House ways and means committee, reiterated his opposition to the enactment of any new taxes during the present session of the State Legislature, maintaining that they are not necessary.

Toomey's "no-tax" position is contrary to that held by Governor Furcolo who three weeks ago recommended a $20 million supplementary budget and sought $8 million in new revenue. The Governor proposed a one-cent increase in the tax on cigarets, the elimination of the present income tax exemption on trusts with transferable shares and a boost in the fees for licenses and permits issued by the State.

Representative Toomey favors reducing the supplementary budget instead of adopting new taxes.

WHAT WENT ON IN SPORTS

It's all over but the shouting and a few technicalities on the switch of the New York Giants to San Francisco. The Giants board of directors by an 8-1 vote decided to abandon their 75-year residence in New York for the West Coast. That means the Boston Red Sox will have to switch their farm club somewhere else. It will reduce Manhattan to a one-club category—the Yankees.

Three pitchers who beat them were Chuck Stobbs, Russ Kemmerer and Truman Clevenger—all one-time Red Sox hopefuls. Two of the Sox boxmen who were really walloped were Bob Porterfield and Dean Stone, acquired from the same Nationals.

If Lou Perini wins that pennant for Milwaukee this year he'll owe a debt of gratitude to the lowly Chicago Cubs. The Cubs upped and belted the rest of the contenders around with such vim they helped the Braves to split the National League race wide open.

* * * *

They're still talking angrily about "bean balls" in the National League. Latest squawk was registered by Hank Aaron of the Braves. He complained that if he comes up with a nice hit or even a long fly at one time in bat he's flattened the next time he goes to the plate. Cards Pitcher Sad Sam Jones objected. Even asked Aaron to show up outside the clubhouse to prove something or other.

* * * *

The greatest expert on the subject of Ted Williams and batting isn't as sure as some Red Sox followers that he'll take Mickey Mantle's measure for any one of the batting crowns. The expert is Williams himself. He points out the long stretch of games the Sox have in Fenway Park during September. That's a tough park for any left-handed hitter. Besides those cool East winds after Labor Day can stiffen a 40-year-old shoulder with a piece of metal in it.

Strangely enough few editorial tears were shed over the decision of the Giants to quit New York after 75 years. The Manhattan sports writers were beating their typewriters to the tune—"Look I told you so." No black crepe. No moans. Nothing like the desertion of Boston by the Braves or Philadelphia by the Athletics.

* * * * *

A few weeks ago there were 19,000 American Junior League teams seeking a chance to be the nation's best. In Indianapolis this week where they're getting ready for the final championship playoffs the list of teams shooting for the crown has been reduced to 100. All but one will be eliminated during the next two weeks. The survivor will be the champ.

* * * *

Birdy Tebbetts says that if one man served to change the tide in the National League it was Red Schoendienst. As soon as the Braves got Red they started to click. John Quinn of the Braves maintained from the time the Braves left Boston that they'd land a pennant as soon as they acquired a second baseman.

Up to this year the tax was 12.5 percent and the track received 6.5 percent of this. Now the track gets 7 percent and the State gets 7 percent. been in office for almost eight months."

Herter said that Governor Furcolo's failure "to provide any leadership at all in the State government—has brought a complete halt to progress in Massachusetts."

"His procrastination and indecision have kept the Legislature in session far longer than was necessary and have cost the Commonwealth many thousands of dollars," Herter stated.

"His failure or unwillingness to sit down with interested groups and work out a satisfactory sales tax bill was clearly responsible for the defeat of the sales tax.

"He has created one turmoil after another at the State House.

"He has spent weeks trying to fire two members of the State Milk Control Commission who had ruled against a former client of his, suggested that members of the judicial branch sit in at the hearing in violation of the Massachusetts Constitution and finally backed down in the face of public indignation.

"He submitted the biggest budget in the history of the Commonwealth and then both violently criticized and later congratulated the Legislature for cutting $43 million out of it.

"He tried to obtain the passage of a bill which would enable him to pack the Massachusetts Superior Court with six of his political friends.

"He demanded the resignation of the head of the State Department of Commerce and then spent several months trying to decide whom he wanted to appoint in his place.

"He has insulted and affronted members of his own party in the Legislature and has given them a quality of leadership they were unable or unwilling to follow.

"His delay in submitting a capital outlay program not only held up the prorogation of the State Legislature, but forced the State to take a recess long after the time its business for the year should have been completed.

"Some of the most partisan Democrats on Beacon Hill privately have made the statement that Governor Furcolo has created the worst mess in the modern history of Massachusetts. His fumbling and bungling have been of such a magnitude as to be without precedent in our State government. The people of Massachusetts, unfortunately, are paying a high price for his blundering and ineptness and for the lack of any real leadership in the Governor's office."

Elizabeth Kelly Wins Commission in Wacs

Elizabeth M. Kelly, a graduate of Newton High School in 1947 and of Newton Junior College in 1949, became Second Lieutenant Kelly of the Women's Army Corps Reserve at the Presidio in San Francisco recently.

She was immediately assigned to the WAC Centre at Fort McClellan, Ala., where she will attend officers' orientation classes.

She is continuing a Kelly family tradition for military service.

Her sister, now Mrs. S. I. MacLeod, 45 Beaver Dam road, W. Natick, was a Petty Officer, Third Class in the U.S. Navy before her marriage, and a brother, Chief Petty Officer Robert W. Kelly, now with the U.S. Coast Guard, in Boston, served in the Navy during World War II.

In 1950, Lieutenant Kelly enlisted in the Women's Army Corps, and served from 1954 to 1956 with the U.S. Army in Heidelberg, Germany. From February, 1956 to the present she has been assigned to the Adjutant General Office of the Presidio of San Francisco.

Rounding out the family's military service, another brother, John C. Kelly of Waltham was an Army corporal when he received his discharge in 1955 and the youngest brother, Thomas D. Kelly is a private first class presently stationed at Cp. Lercy, La.

While residing in Newton, Lieutenant Kelly was active in the sports program of the Burns Kerr Post, American Legion. She was also a drummer with the American Legion Band and a member of the Auxiliary Drum and Bugle Corps.

Bonami-

P. Dupont of New Bedford, Michael J. Favulli of Worcester and Raymond F. Sullivan of Springfield.

The Republican members who voted solidly against the proposed respite were Councillors Christian A. Herter Jr., of Newton, Charles J. Gabriel of Hingham and Augustus G. Means of Essex.

The unanimity of the Council stunned the handful of spectators in the hearing room.

The vote had followed a sharp colloquy and it came after Furcolo had personally interviewed the Democratic members in the Chief Executive's office.

Then the Governor announced that he was asking the Council to commute Bonomi's death sentence to life imprisonment on the condition that Bonomi shall never be made eligible for parole or pardon during his natural life.

After another extended discussion in which it was pointed out that a subject of such public moment would not be given the public attention it deserved because of the blackout of Boston newspapers, the Council voted to hold the meeting today.

At the meeting will be Attorney General George Fingold and District Attorney John R. Wheatley who conducted the prosecution which brought about the first degree conviction of Bonomi. They are expected to oppose the commutation.

The hearing called Tuesday by Governor Furcolo simply to grant Bonomi a stay until Feb. 15, 1958, was scheduled for 11 a.m. It did not get under way until 12:30 p.m. because the Democratic councillors had been called to the Governor's office.

As soon as the meeting was formally opened Councillor Means protested. He said that while he and the Republican councillors were obliged to wait in the Council Chamber for the start of the meeting, the Democrats were ensconsed in Furcolo's office.

"I assume," said Means, speaking slowly and distinctly, "that you discussed the procedure to be used in granting a respite or commutation to Bonomi."

The Governor told Means he was in error.

Means then pointedly asked the Governor what had been discussed with the Democratic members for "almost two hours."

The Governor answered that it was his practice to make himself available as much as possible to the members of the Council, both Democratis and Republicans on the days of a Council meeting.

He said that he and the Democratic Councillors did not discuss anything on the calendar of the day's meeting. The Governor said he had sent the Councillors word that he would not discuss it with them if they met.

Councillor Christian A. Herter Jr., asked why a new respite was being asked. The Governor replied that he had just signed legislation to set up a 15-member commission to study abolition of the death penalty.

The Commission, Furcolo said, would have to report by the last Wednesday in January and as a result he was asking for a respite until Feb. 15.

"That is the compelling reason for my recommendation for a respite," the Governor told Councillor Herter.

Asked by Councillor Herter if he had made up his mind on the possibility of commuting Bonomi's death sentence, the Governor said that the Council would learn that "When the time comes."

The time came within a few minutes.

In the brief interim, Councillor Herter reviewed Bonomi's respites. He recalled that he (Herter) had opposed the last respite when it was granted. "I said at that time that it seemed inhuman and enormously unfair to the individual that his fate be left up in the air," said Councillor Herter. "A respite seemed to me to be a way of ducking the issue. I think that is precisely the situation now. I won't vote for a respite.

"I think the Council and the man is entitled to a decision on this from the Governor," concluded Councillor Herter.

Councillor Favulli said he was definitely going to vote against a respite. Lieutenant Governor Murphy said he was "leaning in the direction of not voting for a respite."

Herter then moved that the Furcolo recommendation for a respite be disapproved. This motion was presented. The respite was beaten 8-0.

A recess followed. The Council reconvened at 1:45 p.m.

At this time the Governor offered a letter in which he had commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, "subject to the condition that the said Domenick Bonomi shall NOT be entitled to either parole or pardon during the term of his natural life."

Lieutenant Governor Murphy, chairman of the council's committee on pardons moved that the matter be referred to that committee and this was done by a voice vote.

Lieutenant Governor Murphy then pointed out that a 1913 law requires that the Attorney General and prosecuting District Attorney be notified of the hearing before the committee so that they can present information. A 1956 law, he added, requires that final action be held up until after a public hearing has been held.

The Lieutenant Governor inquired of the Councillors with experience as to what had been the procedure in years past. Councillor Gabriel explained that the pardons committee usually invited other Council members to attend the public hearing and granted them the right to question those who testify.

Councillor Gabriel suggested the Council, after its regular meeting at 11 a.m. today, recess and hold a public hearing on the commutation. Frequently the pardons committee made no recommendation and did not express themselves until the full council voted.

The Governor then said, "If the time element is pressing, or if some of those who should attend cannot be present and if the Council wishes me to do it, I would be willing to submit a 30-day respite if necessary.

"I have no knowledge with reference to the Boston newspaper strike, but this is a public hearing on a matter of great public interest and it would be my hope that if it appears that the papers will be published in the near future, the Council should give consideration that the hearing be covered by the large metropolitan papers. I regard that as desirable."

While agreeing the hearing should be given full news coverage, Councillor Means pointed out that there is no assurance the strike will be over soon. He stressed that some newspaper strikes have lasted for months. He said he felt procedure outlined by Councillor Gabriel should be followed.

After a recess in which the Councillors met in Lieutenant Governor Murphy's office, it was decided to hold the hearing on Furcolo's commutation request at 2 p.m. today.

News Events-

A year ago Cincinnati was hailing Birdy Tebbetts as the manager of the year and swearing eternal fealty to him. This week the same fans hung Birdy in effigy.

* * * *

Some Boston sports writers say privately they expect to see Ted Williams named Red Sox manager just as soon as it's definitely decided he's through on the field.

* * * *

Rocky Marciano will be able to keep his Mass. registration plate "K-O" as long as he files an application each year with the motor registry, according to Registrar Rudolph F. King. The "K-O" plate was awarded Rocky after he won the title. What Florida might say about it is something else again. That will be Rocky's future home.

* * * *

Who said the pro footballers don't play for keeps? It's weeks before the National Football League pennant race starts. Yet in a single exhibition game such stars as Ted Marchibroada of Pittsburgh Steelers and Jack Scarbath, a valuable quarterback, are shelved by serious injuries.

* * * *

Eddie Demars, New England light heavyweight champion, kept his crown by taking an easy 10-round decision from challenger Sammy Walker.

* * * *

Sixteen former all-American stars are carded for the lineups when the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers meet at Boston University Field on the night of Sept. 7 in the Harry Agganis Memorial game.

* * * *

Bob Keegan of the White Sox pitched the first no-hit game of the season as he shut out the Washington Nationals, 6-0. Keegan faced only 28 batters, one above par. He gave up two walks. Several sparkling defensive plays, one by Keegan himself, helped him to become the first White Sox hurler to achieve a no-hitter since Bill Dietrich turned the trick 20 years ago.

* * * *

The Red Sox pushed across three runs in a ninth inning rally but dropped the opener of a three-game series with Cleveland, 5-4. Ted Williams' batting average dropped to .390 as he went hitless in two official times at bat. He walked twice. Williams, incidentally, made his first error of the year in the game. Jimmy Piersall led the Red Sox attack with a single and a home run but grounded out in the ninth to leave the tying run stranded on base. Williams actually gained ground in his batting race with Mickey Mantle, for the Yankee ace went hitless four times in a game with Kansas City.

* * * *

The Cleveland Indians have virtually abandoned hope that fireball pitcher Herb Score will be able to help them in their late-season drive to climb out of sixth place. Score, who was struck in the eye by a ball hit by Yankee Gil McDougald on May 7, has been working out. His arm is okay, but he is having trouble focusing on his target. Manager Kerby Farrell said Score is "surprisingly weak," probably as the after-effect of the medication he took during the treatment for his injury.

Princeton is picked to have the top football team in the Ivy League this fall.

Six Claims Against City Before Board

Six claims against the city will be considered by the claims committee of the Board of Aldermen at a meeting next Monday night.

Frances L. Rogovin has made a claim for personal injuries suffered August 7, due to an alleged defect in the street in front of 52 Bontempo road.

James W. Kezer of 1044 Chestnut street has filed a claim for $38 property damage due to his automobile which, he says, resulted from the condition of Chestnut street at the entrance to his driveway.

Thelma Coplen is seeking reimbursement for damage she asserts was caused to her automobile last Feb. 4 by a defect in the street in front of 447 Dudley road.

Mrs. Josephine Pozzi has submitted claim for $33.75 damage caused to her automobile while it was parked in front of 106 Pine street on June 23. She says it was hit by a City of Newton employee.

A subrogation claim also has been filed in behalf of Russell N. Holbrook for property damage caused to a parked automobile when it allegedly was sprayed by a city worker.

Elio Pasquale is asking $64.92 for property damage to his automobile last June 11, when a metal curb cap at the corner of Middle and Chapel streets broke loose.

16,500 to Enter Public Schools

Asst. Supt. of Schools Charles O. Richter, estimates 16,500 pupils will report for the opening of school on Monday, Sept. 9.

At the high school, 2700 are expected. Close to 3500 will be attending the city's four junior high schools, and 9900 will be enrolled in the elementary schools. The Technical High School's enrollment of 350 brings the total to approximately 16,500.

New teachers will report on Thursday, Sept. 5, at their assigned schools for orientation with their principals. At 12:30 p.m. they will attend a luncheon at Meadowbrook Junior High and be welcomed by Dr. Richter and Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores and Robert Frost, president of the Newton Teachers' Federation.

On Friday, Sept. 6, there will be a general meeting of the entire teaching staff in the Newton High Auditorium, followed by building meetings at the separate schools.

An outing-picnic is being planned for Sept. 19 at 3 p.m. when new teachers and their husbands or wives are invited to Cedar Hill in Waltham. Chairman of the luncheon and picnic is Miss Rose Pilibosian. Chairman of the orientation committee is Mrs. Dorothy Huss.

★ ★ Roundup of Week's Major News Events ★ ★

(As a service to our readers we are giving a roundup in this edition of the major news events which have occured in the past week during the shut-down of the Boston daily newspapers.)

In a stunning upset, Democrat William E. Proxmire, 41, won a sweeping victory in Wisconsin over Republican ex-Governor Walter J. Kohler for the right to serve the year remaining in the term of the late U. S. Senator Joseph R. McCarthy. It was the first time since the Roosevelt sweep in 1932 that a Democrat has been elected to the Senate from Wisconsin. It increased the hold of the Democrats on the upper branch of Congress to a 50-46 margin.

The U. S. House of Representatives by an overwhelming 351 to 17 vote passed a measure designed to protect FBI secrets. The House by a 279-97 margin also approved a compromise Civil Rights bill, and the Senate in an initial test indicated it would accept the watered-down version.

At Portsmouth, N. H., the navy launched its fourth atomic-powered submarine, the 240-foot Swordfish. It was the first of the A-subs to be built in one of the Navy's own yards.

The U. S. Senate shunted aside President Eisenhower's objections and voted to increase the salaries of 1,488,000 postal and white collar government workers. The measure went to the House with the often-repeated warnings that the President would veto such pay hikes as inflationary.

A. Lincoln Filene, one of the nation's outstanding merchants for nearly half a century, died at Marstons Mills on Cape Cod. He was 92. His father founded Filene's store of Boston in 1881. The store was taken over by Lincoln Filene and his brother, Edward, in 1890.

Secretary of State Dulles feels that Russian claims that they have perfected a missile which can reach any spot on the globe may have some basis of fact behind it.

After a White House meeting in which Republican leaders conferred with President Eisenhower who reviewed the Syrian situation, Senator Knowland of California sized up the picture painted by the Chief Executive as "serious."

Donald Davis, 29, of Westbrook, Me., was sentenced to 50 to 100 years in jail after pleading guilty to setting fire in a Lincoln, Me., movie house. The fire was small and the audience evacuated without injury. The sentence was the longest ever meted out in the state on an arson charge.

Peace Talk At Lenin's Tomb

Red Sq., Moscow, Gets Truth From Local Man

From the top of Lenin's Tomb he told them about Hungary.

On street corners all over Moscow's Red Square, he told them about the United States — the real United States, the sort of really free country their masters deny exists.

He completely ruined what was to have been one of the biggest Communist propaganda gimmicks of the year — a propaganda setup they considered fool-proof: a sounding board they figured would start nice responsive reactions on every continent of the world.

That's what George S. Abrams, 25, who only completed his formal education at Harvard Law School last June, did in a comparatively few days right in the sacrosanct heart of world Communism itself — Moscow.

Mayor Removes Curbs On Watering of Lawns

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., yesterday lifted all restrictions on the watering of Newton lawns.

Whitmore announced that householders now may water their lawns whenever they wish and as much as they desire.

At the same time the Mayor expressed his appreciation to the people of Newton for their wholehearted cooperation during the past six weeks when they have been limited to watering their lawns between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Mayor Whitmore declared that the water levels in the metropolitan distribution reservoirs have now been restored to the point where a normal consumption is possible without endangering the supply of water for essential uses, including health and fire protection.

"Consequently, the restrictions on the use of water which have been in effect in Newton for the past six weeks are hereby rescinded," the Mayor asserted.

Loot Homes And Church

Newton police are investigating burglaries in a church and two homes in the city.

Thieves carried two silver-plated cream and sugar sets and a silver-plated tea set worth $100 out of the Chapter Room in St. Mary's Church at 258 Concord st.

After ransacking the church attic, they also took two summer handbags.

Burglars left with $220 in cash after looting the home of Saul J. Cutler at 20 Nahanton st. They found two $100 bills in a desk in the kitchen and $20 in quarters which had been wrapped in home-made wrappers. They entered the dwelling by

Taxpayers' Ass'n Oppose Income Tax Withholding

The Newton Taxpayers' Association came out strongly this week in opposition to the State income tax withholding bill sponsored by State Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton and now pending before the Senate Ways and eans Committee.

While members of the association praised Senator Gibbs or the objectives he is trying to accomplish, they expressed the conviction that the adoption of his measure at this time would be an unwise move.

The Association estimated that the proposed withholding tax law would cost the Commonwealth an additional $500,000 a year and that it would yield in the vicinity of $3,500,000 new taxes.

Church Women Turn Carpenters Show They Know How To Do It

When you have to stretch a dollar there's no one who knows how to do that little thing better than the housewife.

Accordingly, when the Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale found that the church building funds weren't adequate when it came to matching the bids of contractors for the erection of a new educational building it turned to the women.

And the women just applied their dollar-stretching ability.

For more than a month the men of the church have been busy. They have cleaned and prepared the forms for the new structure's foundation. They've shoveled tons of dirt with an able assist from a conveyor designed and built by George E. Eycleshymer.

They've put in most of their free waking hours on the project. But there's threat of bad building weather in the months ahead. If there was a construction schedule to meet maybe they'd be behind schedule.

Robert S. Rose Killed on Rt. 9

Robert S. Rose of Newton was killed this week in Shrewsbury when his automobile went out of control on the Worcester turnpike, struck a pole and then was rammed by a skidding trailer truck which had careened over the center safety lane to the wrong side of the highway.

George Paynton, 23, of Patchogue, N. Y., operator of the trailer truck, told police his truck skidded on the wet pavement.

Police believe that Rose turned right in an attempt to avoid the oncoming truck which had swerved over onto his side of the roadway.

Rose was a district manager for the Latrobe Steel Co. of Boston.

College preparatory students in that category will take tests in English, one foreign language and mathematics. Pupils enrolling in the business curriculum will be tested in English.

Boys and girls registering for the placement tests may do so next Tuesday or Wednesday, Sept. 3 or 4, at the Guidance office in the Administration

Driver of Vespa Hurt In Mishap

Newton recently recorded its first automobile accident in which one of the little Italian-made Vespa motor scooters was involved.

As Edward R. Vezina of 1056 Beacon street was driving his scooter at the intersection of Florence street and Louise road, an automobile cut in front of him to turn into the driveway of a market.

Vezina swerved to avoid hitting the car and fell off his scooter. He was taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered to his back.

'Borrowed' Tire Lands Four in Court

The tire went flat. They had no spare.

There was a car parked at the curb. It has a nice new tire. Besides, anyone of the four tires it was wearing would have made a nice replacement for the flat shoe.

Sooooh, they simply borrowed a jack from the parked car, used the jack to lift the parked machine and transferred one of the nice new tires to duty on their own car. Then they rode away leaving the jack under the jacked-up parked car.

It would have been quite a mystery if they hadn't speeded. But they did. The alert Patrolman Joseph E. LaCroix flagged them down. Then when he got them to the police station the

Ex-Gov Herter In 4-Weeks Far East Study

Undersecretary of State Christiar A. Herter, former Governor of Massachusetts, has been assigned by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to an important fact-finding and good will tour in Asia.

The assignment will last a month and from it is expected to come many important findings on which the State Department's future policy in the super-sensitive Far East will be based.

Furcolo Likely to Commute Death Sentence of Killers

The death sentence imposed upon three bandit-home invaders for the slaying of Merrill Lovinger early on the night of June 30, 1955 will never be carried out. Before the latest respite granted them expires on Oct. 2, Governor Furcolo will seek the commutation of their sentences of death in the electric chair to life imprisonment.

This was the almost unanimous opinion of observers at the State House after the Executive Council by a single vote margin approved Furcolo's request that Domenick Bonomi be permitted to escape the chair and be given a life sentence instead.

Furcolo attached the condition that Bonomi shall never be freed. Legal experts declared such a condition would not stand a test of law if some subsequent Governor and Council decided to free Bonomi.

At Walpole State Prison where he heard the news on a radio in his death cell, Bonomi, confidently voiced the opinion, according to guards, that he would be subsequently freed. The wife-slayer is declared to have said "That doesn't mean anything," when he heard about the condition which Furcolo sought to attach to the commutation.

The day after the commutation he was moved from the death cell to a lifer's cell and as far as the prison was concerned began the serving of a life sentence as a newly-received prisoner.

The commutation of the convicted wife-slayer's death sentence immediately greatly heartened three other Death Row prisoners at Walpole.

They were Henry P. Arsenault, Jr., of Natick, Arthur L. Devlin and Russell P. LeBlanc, both of Waltham. They were convicted in Middlesex Superior Court of the slaying of Lovinger, a young Cambridge lawyer, when he stepped into a room of his father-in-law's home in Newton.

The trio had forced their way into the house on a robbery mission, having mistaken it for that of another victim they had decided upon. When Lovinger attempted to ease the fears of his women-folk he was shot dead. The jury which convicted

Bonomi Commutation Strings Are Invalid and Meaningless

The condition imposed by Governor Furcolo and the Executive Council, in commuting the death sentence of Domenick Bonomi, that he may never be pardoned or paroled in the future and must spend the rest of his days on earth behind prison walls, is meaningless and unconstitutional.

The action of the Governor and Council would not present a future Governor and Council from pardoning or paroling Bonomi if they chose to do so.

That is the opinion of recognized experts on constitutional law.

Under the Massachusetts Constitution a sovereign authority cannot bind a sovereign who comes after him to do anything or not to do anything.

the trio returned no recommendation of mercy. As in the case of Bonomi the presiding justice was obligated by law to impose the death sentence.

In opposing a repite granted the three men in July, Attorney General George Fingold told Governor Furcolo that "no compassion, no sympathy, no sentiment" could be shown the Lovinger slayers.

Bonomi was due to be executed this week. He owes his life to Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Murphy, and Councillors Joseph DuPont, New Bedford, Joseph Crimmins, Somerville, Michael Favulli, Worcester and Raymond Sullivan, Springfield, all Democrats. Opposed were Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., Newton; Charles Gabriel, Hingham and Augustus Means, Essex, Republicans, and Patrick McDonough, Boston, Democrat.

Three Newton residents took an active part in the public hearing which preceded the vote by the Executive Council granting Bonomi commutation.

They were Mrs. Paul E. Johnson of Kingsdale road, Auburndale, Mrs. Wilson Lyons of 10 Oakmont road, Newton Centre, and Rev. James H. Burns of 61 Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands.

Mrs. Johnson is State president of the Massachusetts branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Mrs. Lyons is a member of the League. She said she stood for the attitude of the Universalist Church which opposed capital punishment "with no judgment of the right or wrong of this case."

The Rev. Burns, director of pastoral services department of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, spoke as a citizen. He referred to the Paul Dwyer case in Maine which, he said, he lived with for 20 years." He pointed out that if Dwyer had been executed 19½ years ago "The possibility of correcting an error would have been completely eliminated.

"It seems about now," said the Rev. Burns, "that very soon his innocence will be accepted as a fact."

Mrs. Herbert B. Ehrman of Brookline who has been vigorously seeking the abolition of capital punishment for nearly 30 years, advocated commutation for Bonomi. She claimed the murder rate in Massachusetts has declined slightly in Massachusetts during the last 10½ years when there have been no executions.

Attorney General Fingold strongly opposed commutation for Bonomi. He pointed out the case had been carefully reviewed by the Supreme Court which found no errors and that the court was satisfied justice did not demand a new trial.

"If the Chief Executive does not believe in capital punishment," Fingold said, referring to Furcolo, "it makes no difference. It is the law on the books." Regarding the stipulation that Bonomi never be freed the Attorney General said such a stipulation had been imposed on the Woodward case in which a Wakefield girl was slain and mutilated.

Photographs of the slain girl's body were attached to the record.

Yet, said Fingold, in November, 1956, he learned from the girl's father that Woodward was to be given a parole hearing under the 15-year law.

The hope of the three Lovinger slayers in escaping the chair lies in the Governor's expressed opinion that it would be repugnant to execute anyone for murder while a legislative commission is making a study of whether or not the State should retain capital punishment.

In his inaugural address, or what many people took to be his inaugural, Furcolo urged that the public be permitted to vote in a State-wide referendum on the question.

The Legislature rejected this portion of his inaugural recommendations along with many others. It also rejected other bills seeking the abolition of the chair. After the question of capital punishment had apparently been completely shelved for this session the Legislature decided to go along with the Governor to the extent of making another study.

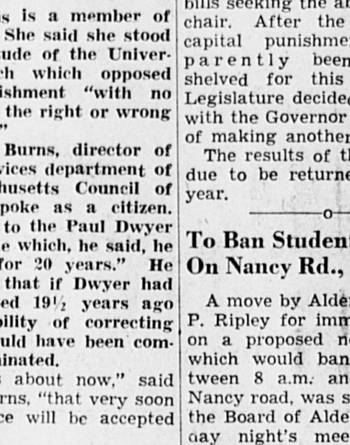

The results of that study are due to be returned early next year.

To Ban Student Parking On Nancy Rd., Near B.C.

A move by Alderman William P. Ripley for immediate action on a proposed new ordinance which would ban parking between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Nancy road, was sidetracked by the Board of Aldermen at Monday night's meeting until a hearing is held on the measure. Nancy road is located near the new Boston College football stadium.

Other Aldermen declared that the proposal can be considered by an Aldermanic committee in the regular manner and then be adopted at the meeting of the Board a week from next Monday.

Building of the Newton High School.

A record of 9th grade work must be submitted at the time of registration. Appointments may be made by telephoning LAsell 7-6267.

The Bigelow Junior High School will open Sept. 9 for students in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades. Newcomers may register next week at the school office.

The Meadow Brook Junior High School has the same Sept. 9 opening date. Registration for students new to Newton will start on Wednesday, Sept. 4, in the school's Guidance Office.

Pupils entering the Warren Junior School from the 7th grade of Newton's public schools need not report until Sept. 9. All others however, should report to the school office at 9 a. m. next Thursday, Sept. 5, bringing with them transfer cards and records of final marks from the schools they formerly attended so they may be assigned to the proper grades.

On the opening day, 7th grade pupils should report by 8:25 a. m., 8th and 9th grade pupils at 1 p. m. The school cafeteria will not be open on the first day of school.

Newcomers to the Weeks Junior High School, who did not register last June are requested to telephone the Weeks Guidance Office for an appointment for registration during the coming week (any time from Sept. 3 to Sept. 5).

The Weeks Junior High School, which is located in Newton Centre, will open for 7th graders a week from Monday, Sept. 9, and for 8th and 9th graders on Tuesday, Sept. 10.

New students entering the Frank A. Day Junior High School will take placement tests at the school at 9 a. m. next Thursday, Sept. 5. That does not apply to 7th graders entering from Newton public elementary schools. Makeup tests for incomplete marks or for students who have been tutored in a subject also will be given at that time.

The office at the Day Junior High will be open from 9 a. m. to noon from Tuesday through Friday of next week (Sept. 3 to 6) for the registration of new pupils and the issuance of transfers.

New pupils entering that school were reminded that when registering they should take with them their transfers and report cards. Parents were asked to accompany them whenever possible.

Classes at the Day Junior High School begin at 8:45 a. m. a week from Monday, Sept. 9, for 7th graders and at 1 p. m. for the 8th and 9th graders.

Life is fairly uncomplicated for pupils in Newton's elementary schools. They simply report on Monday, Sept. 9, to begin their studies for the next scholastic year.

Women-

That's when the women came to the fore. They were a little off when it came to swinging carpenters' hammers at the start but before they were on the job 20 minutes they weren't missing a single nail.

The Rev. Sydney Adams, pastor is pleased with their work. In fact he's pleased with all the volunteers' work. The more the merrier, he says. Next Saturday the members of the Youth Fellowship have promised to pitch it.

Looks as though that new building will be completed before all the leaves are off the trees. That's the kind of parishioners they have at Centenary Methodist.

flects not only the President's confidence in Mr. Herter but likewise his concern over the well-being of American interests as they are concerned in the Far East.

The Undersecretary made the first stop of his Far East sojourn at Manila where he made a two-day stopover. He met President Carlos Garcia at the Malacanang Palace in Malina and engaged in a long conference with the head of the Filipino government.

On Saturday the ex-Governor will be at Kuala Lumpur for the observance of the Malayan independence.

On his arrival in Manila the Undersecretary was asked to comment on Red China's demand for reciprocol rights if it accepts 24 American newsmen. Herter said Secretary of State Dulles had already flatly refused the request. He did not expect the U. S. government to accede to such a demand.

Speaking of this nation's regard for the newly independent Philippines, Mr. Herter said, "We in the United States are very grate admirers of Filipinos and of the very fine progress you have made in a comparatively short period in building of democracy and carrying out principles which both you and we feel are important in matters of government in matters of government and maintaining free peoples."

Thieves Ransack Newton Centre Library

Thieves ransacked the Newton Centre branch library this week, but apparently didn't find what they were looking for. Library attendants told police they found three packages of used matches on the floor and that the desks of drawers had been searched. As far as they could ascertain, however, nothing was taken.

Burglars removed the hinges to enter a barn owned by Robert Proctor at 66 Highland avenue in Newtonville and then took two saws valued at about $16.

Three New Principals Are Named to Newton Schools

Three major appointments have been announced by the Newton School Committee.

As of Sept. 1, Robert Frost assumes the principalship of the Bigelow Junior High School, succeeding Edgar Pray who served for 11 years before leaving last June to become a junior high principal in Burnt Hills, N. Y.

New principal of the Williams School in Auburndale is Merton C. Tefft, Jr., who replaces G. Winthrop Brainerd. The latter retired in June after 38 years' service in the Newton school system.

Miss Charlotte Forgeron, head teacher at the Murray Road School since 1952, becomes principal of the Burr-Murray Road School District, also in Auburndale. Brainerd headed these two schools in addition to the Williams School prior to his retirement.

Frost, who has been a mathematics and science teacher at Bigelow since 1950, was born in 1916 in Norway, Me. and spent his boyhood there.

He graduated from Norway High School in 1934, and continued his education at Bates College in Lewiston, Me., where he received his B.S. degree in 1938. While at Bates he majored in biology and played varsity football as well as basketball, baseball and track.

Following graduation, Frost entered the teaching profession as a science and mathematics teacher and coach at Wilton Academy in Maine. During the next ten years he served in a similar capacity at New London, Me., and Arlington, Mass., and was principal of high schools in West Paris, South Paris, and Southwest Harbor, Me.

In 1950, Frost came to Newton as a science teacher at Bigelow. He has been active in professional and community service, as audio-visual coordinator at Bigelow, on the steering committee of the Newton Junior High School Science Teachers group, as football coach at Bigelow as well as serving as vice-president of the Newton Coaches Club, chairman of the Bigelow Science Fair, and representative for the Newton Teachers Federation to the P. T. A. Council committee on teacher recruiting.

A member and chairman of the Newton Teachers Federation Salary Committee for three years, he has been elected President of the Federation for the current year. His community activities include service as a Red Feather canvasser, Sunday School teacher, church deacon, and Community Chest worker.

Frost has continued to improve his professional position, as is evidenced by a M.Ed. from the University of Maine in 1952, continued in - service course work, and an outstanding record as a classroom teacher.

Frost is married, has three children, and resides in Newtonville. His wife has been active in school and community affairs, most recently as a participant in the Day Junior High School Study.

During the summer months, the Frosts direct a summer resort at the Isle of Shoals, Portsmouth, N. H.

Taught At Warren

Tefft is well-known in the Williams district, having served there as a teacher since 1952 and as head teacher during the past year. Prior to this he was a physical education teacher at the Warren Junior High School for two years.

Tefft came to Newton following his graduation from Springfield College in 1950. He attended Springfield on a Rotarian Scholarship awarded from his home town of Scotia, N. Y. While in college, Tefft was active in campus activities, having served on various councils and committees as well as being a class officer, member of the varsity football team, and captain of the varsity lacrosse team.

Since coming to Newton, he has been studying at Boston University and was awarded his Master of Education degree in 1955.

His interest in children and their growth is evidenced by the fact that he has sought a year-round relationship with them in summer camp work since 1947. His most recent camp position has been that of Director of Aquatics at Camp Frank A. Day in Brookfield, Mass., a Newton Y.M.C.A. camp. He has also served on the Youth Work Committee at the Newton Y.M.C.A.

Tefft has also been active in professional affairs in Newton. He is a member of the Newton Teachers Federation, Mass Teachers Federation, N. E. A., Newton Men's Athletic Association, Newton Teachers Credit Union and the Newton Men Teachers' Club, and has held office in several of these organizations. He has also served on committees for the N. T. F., the Board of Directors for the Williams P. T. A. as well as various curriculum committees. His outstanding work with the Safety Patrol in the Williams School has received city-wide recognition. Other activities have included work with intramural sports, civil defense and visual aids.

Tefft served two years with the U. S. Navy as a radio operator prior to his college experience. He is married, has two children and makes his home in Natick.

Miss Forgeron came to Newton in 1947 as a teacher at the Carr School, having taught in Chatham and Fairhaven for six years. She received her Bachelor of Science in Education degree from the Hyannis State Teachers College in 1940 and her Master of Education degree from Boston University in 1956.

While in Newton she has been active in professional and civic organizations and has served on a number of curriculum and other committees. Among her activities are the following: member of N. E. A. Mass Teachers' Federation and the N. T. F., member of the State Science Committee, member of Newton Community Chorus, chairman of panel at Regional conference of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, and elementary consultant at Mass. Dept. of Education Conference in Science.

Her work on curriculum committees has contributed much to two publications, Toward Better Spelling and Tentative Guidebook for Written Expression. She has also been active in the P. T. A., and has served the community in various Red Cross and Cancer Fund drives.

4 Brookline Men Held In Club Break

Two Brookline men got a bit of a surprise and an example of some slick work by Newton police when Patrolmen James J. McCarthy, Edward J. Foley, Jr., and Richard J. Duffy walked into the Longwood Cricket Club early in the morning and collared them.

The pair thought they were all alone.

With two others from Brookline they were arraigned in Newton District Court before Judge Donald E. Mayberry. They all pleaded not guilty, but were held in $1500 bail on charges of breaking and entering at night with intent to commit burglary.

The quartet were Allan J. Sutherland, 30, Boylston street, James T. Malloy, Jr., 20, Perry street, Thomas J. Norris, Jr., 21, Cypress street and Thomas M. McCarthy, 25, Cypress street, all Brookline addresses.

The roundup began when Patrolman Edward J. Herrick and William C. Norris came upon Norris and Nally in a car parked in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Centre parking lot. After talking with the pair they advised the police station to send over to the Cricket Club. The three officers McCarthy, Foley and Duffy went there and discovered Sutherland and McCarthy.

The case was continued to Sept. 6.

The tire borrowers who appeared in Judge W. Lloyd Allen's session of District Court were John F. O'Brien, 19, East Eighth street, South Boston; Michael J. Connor, 18, of East Sixth street, South Boston, Kenneth J. Quill, 19, also of East Sixth street, and Arthur C. MacGregor, 19, who comes from Columbus, Ohio.

Owner of the car which they left jacked up was Elias Zakos of 422 Vernon street, Newton. He'd left his machine in the Pearl steet municipal parking area.

For larceny of a tire Judge Lloyd continued the case without finding, after assessing each defendant $10 in court costs. O'Brien was fined $5 for speeding and $5 for driving with no license.

At the same time, however, the Association maintained that the State income tax collections would improve and increase under the matching card system now being employed by the State Department of Taxation and that the withholding tax system is not needed.

Under the terms of the bill, it was pointed out, Massachusetts taxpayers in the first four months of next year would have to pay not only their complete 1957 State income tax but at the same time they would be obliged to pay a tax on their estimated income for 1958.

The directors of the Taxpayers' Association voted to recommend to the members of the Newton delegation in the Legislature that they vote against the witholding tax bill on the ground that it is "needless, more costly to the State, more burdensome to the taxpayers' and that it would not provide a collection system which would be any more fool-proof or efficient than the card system now being expanded.

The district includes the following playgrounds: Oak Hill, Memorial, Newton Highlands, Hawthorn, Thompsonville and Farlow Park.

Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson stated: "These Fun for All" play days on the city's individual playgrounds make for intra-playground competition at its best, since the youngsters within the particular area have an opportunity to compete with each other"

The special feature o the play days was the presentation in the form of a statuette, symbolic of victory, on all individual playgrounds, of the boys' and girls' achievement awards for the outstanding boy and girl during the 1957 summer season Winners must have shown qualities of leadership, good sportsmanship, participation, coopration, courtesy and neatness during their activities on their playgrounds. TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

The family that is still watching all their television on a black-and-white set probably doesn't realize just how much color TV is now reaching the screens. They'll see all the shows they want to see, of course, in black-and-white. But many of their favorite weekly half-hour shows . . . the big dramatic shows . . . all of the spectaculars . . . are being transmitted in compatible color.

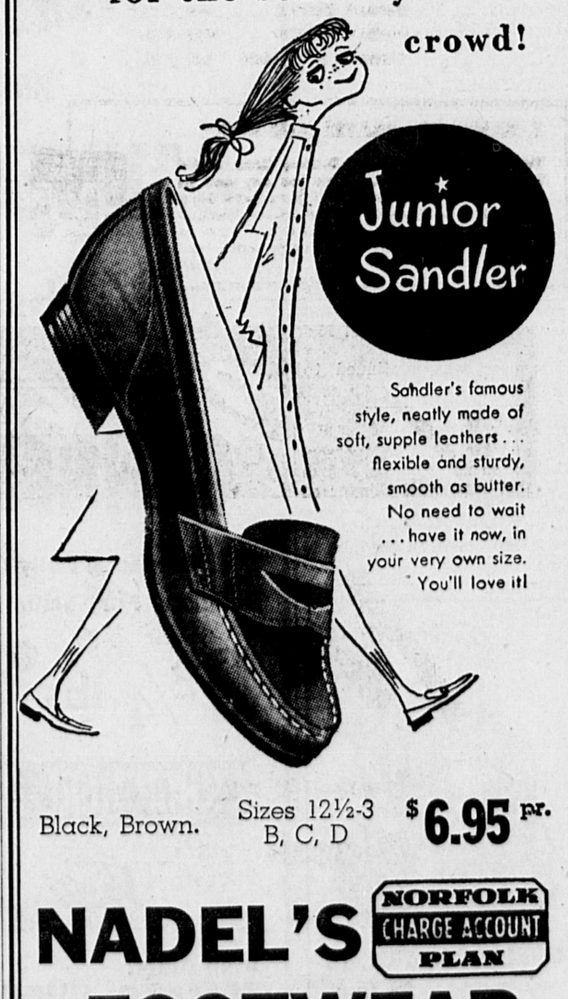

Now comes a news release from NBC, stating that their 1957 fourth quarter season (October thru December, that is) will feature 250 hours of color programming. That's quite a leap from the 149 hours they featured during the same period of 1956. And it gives us an idea of what we can expect in '58!

Meanwhile, practically 100% of the films now being prepared for TV are being shot in color . . . because the producers don't want to be caught with an unsellable series when, in the very near future, color TV really takes over the major portion of the market.

Yes, it's pretty obvious that the era of big-time color TV is no longer "next year or so." It's here now! So, if you're not already prepared, the time is ripe to get yourself prepared for the biggest COLOR TV season to-date. See us now and arrange for installation of the COLOR TV set that appeals to you most among the wide selection of models at

BE SMART! TAKE IT EASY!

Early in the week when it rained, they called it a $1 million rain. It was real rain, too. Steady and drenching.

But if it was a fine, valuable rain it was also a costly rain. It cost lives—human lives.

From the time it started until it had ended and the highways had dried more than 20 men, women and children were killed on New England highways. Almost without exception authorities blamed the sudden outbreak of highway fatalities on the wet pavements.

Within a comparatively few hours motorists ruined a summer-long record for safety which wasn't perfect but nonetheless very good.

And now there's another one of those "three-day holiday" periods ahead. We don't know what the condition of the roads will be. We do know that in the past our Labor Day weekend has proved one of the worst periods in the year as far as motor vehicle accidents are concerned.

Maybe, mass psychology has something to do with these stretches when we have many road accidents capsuled into a brief period of time.

Perhaps, the good rain that fell on the first of the week wasn't as much a responsible factor as the carelessness that had been bred by a long succession of weeks of dry roads.

Maybe, people just forgot that wet roads can be dangerous. Some of those who forgot were killed.

On the same theory of mass psychology we have plenty of evidence that when men like Rudolph F. King, top police and other officials sound pre-holiday warnings about the need for safety—our best highway records are almost invariably compiled.

With the absence of the metropolitan press you may forget about the high-pressure warning campaign such as preceded Labor Days in the past. They may have sounded like old hat but they were effective.

On the coming Labor Day weekend all records will probably be broken for motor travel.

If you make the summer's last big holiday what it should be—a day of relaxation—you'll also be thinking of the hazard that goes with the day.

A Governor cannot tie the hands of a succeeding Governor. He has no power or right to decree that another Governor who follows him in office must or must not take any action.

Nor can the Executive Council stipulate what any future Executive Council can or cannot do.

That was why the eyebrows of many persons who are familiar with our State Constitution, clicked up in surprise when Governor Furcolo, in recommending to the Council that Bonomi be spared from death in the electric chair, added the condition that Bonomi never can be free from prison.

That stipulation presumably was intended to mollify those who feel that Bonomi should have paid with his life for the crime he committed.

Whatever its purpose, however, it seems clear that such a specification was unconstitutional, illegal and beyond the scope of the authority of the Governor and Executive Council.

When former Governor Christian A. Herter and the then Executive Council commuted the death sentence of Kenneth Chapin, they appended a memorandum to the commutation documents expressing the hope that no future Governor and Council would pardon or parole Chapin.

That was as far as they could go under the Constitution. If they could legally have prevented any future Governor and Council from pardoning or paroling Chapin, they undoubtedly would have done so. But ex-Governor Herter was aware that his authority did not extend that far.

The basic principle involved, of course, is precisely the same in the Bonomi case as in the Chapin case. Governor Furcolo and his Council had no more right to decree that Bonomi couldn't be pardoned than ex-Governor Herter and his Council had to apply the same order to Chapin.

The reason Governor Furcolo sought a commutation for Bonomi, who otherwise would have died this week in the electric chair for murdering his wife, Mildred, is that he (Furcolo) is opposed to capital punishment. No other argument was offered than that.

A tremendous number of people agree with the Governor in that position. A great number disagree. Which side has the greater weight of public opinion is something that only a referendum vote on the issue would determine, and Furcolo has been striving to place the question of abolishing the death penalty on the ballot for the people of Massachusetts to decide in next year's State election.

That is an issue on which there is a deep and sharp difference of opinion. Those advocating the repeal of the death penalty are both articulate and well organized. Police and prison guards, on the other hand, believe the abolition of the death penalty would be an invitation to murder under some circumstances.

While Massachusetts still technically retains the death penalty, Governor Furcolo for all practical purposes is circumventing it, just as former Governor Paul A. Dever did during his four years in office.

Having commuted the sentence of Bonomi because he is opposed to capital punishment, it is now generally assumed that Furcolo also will recommend the commutation of the death sentences of the three Lovering slayers for the same reason. That would be certain to stir another sharp controversy.

One interesting aspect to the 5-4 vote of the Executive Council to commute Bonomi's death sentence was that veteran Councillor Patrick J. McDonough was one of the four recorded against the move. As far as this observer can recall that was the first time McDonough ever voted against a commutation of sentence.

McDonough has a summer home in Scituate where Bonomi formerly lived. He is in a position to know the public sentiment in the community where Bonomi killed his wife. Whether that influenced his vote is a matter of conjecture.

Executive Councillor Charles J. Gabriel, whose district takes in Scituate, also voted against commutation.

Governor's Right to Commute Not as the Movies Depict It

Because of the movies they have seen, many persons are under the impression that the night a murderer is to die in the electric chair, a Governor, if he so desires, can pick up a telephone and call off the electrocution at the 11th hour.

That can happen in some States, but Massachusetts is not one of them.

A Governor in this State cannot commute a death sentence without the consent and approval of the Executive Council. If the Council had turned down Furcolo's recommendation, Bonomi would have died in the electric chair, and the Governor would have been powerless to prevent it.

Furcolo Causes Surprise By Dropping O'Brien and Ouimet

Widespread surprise was caused along Beacon Hill's political front by two of the recent appointments made by Governor Furcolo—or rather by his action in dropping two public officials who were displaced to make way for new appointees.

One of those upon whom the gubernatorial axe fell was James E. O'Brien of Jamaica Plain, replaced on the State Civil Service Commission by W. Henry Finnegan of Everett.

O'Brien was a strong supporter of Furcolo in the campaign last fall. He worked for the present Governor and had Furcolo signs plastered around his home. That didn't prevent him from getting fired.

The belief at the State House that O'Brien was dropped because he is a close personal and political friend of State Senator John E. Powers, who opposed Furcolo so vigorously on the sales tax, appears to be unfounded. It is hinted by those close to Furcolo that ex-Governor Dever intervened to have O'Brien given the heave-ho.

Needless to say, Powers was not happy over the dropping of O'Brien. But the Democratic State chieftain, who has asked no favors of Furcolo since the start of their sales tax dispute, made no effort to save O'Brien, possibly because he felt it would be futile to try. In any event, he did not inject himself into the picture in any way.

Even more surprising than the ousting of O'Brien was Furcolo's action in dropping Francis Ouimet, former internationally famous golfer and a prominent sportsman, from an unpaid position on the Boston Arena Authority.

Joseph C. Tomasello, brother-in-law of Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., Furcolo's campaign manager, was named to Ouimet's place. It had been expected that Tomasello would be given some State post. The displacement of Ouimet, particularly from an unpaid, honorary position, however, came as a stunning shock.

But shocks and surprises are a dime a dozen at the State House this year.

Laurence Curtis Now Rated An Outstanding Congressman

Congressman Laurence Curtis has come into his own as one of the most able and respected members of the national House of Representatives.

During his first four years on Washington's Capitol Hill, Curtis was a rookie Congressman, first a freshman and then a sophomore, who had to spend a good part of his time learning the ropes and adjusting himself to the congressional procedure.

Now serving his third term, however, Curtis has assumed greater stature and commands vastly increased prestige. A visitor to Washington finds that he is now looked upon as one of the outstanding Congressmen.

As a member of the House judiciary committee, Curtis took a leading role in the fight for the enactment of a strong civil rights bill. He also is regarded as one of Washington's foremost authorities on constitutional law.

Ike's Influence In Congress Has Dropped To Lowest Level

Because of the landslide victory President Eisenhower gained in achieving reelection to a second term 10 months ago, it was generally assumed by political observers that he would wield a greater influence over Congress this year than he did in any of his previous years in office.

As the experts reasoned it, Ike was starting his second term with an overwhelming vote of confidence from the American people who had endorsed his policies in unmistakable and clearly wanted him to go ahead with the program he had started.

A majority of the members of Congress, however, have given little indication of being impressed by the tidal wave of votes the President received at the polls last November. As far as they are concerned he might have squeaked in by the thinnest of margins.

The actual fact is that President Eisenhower's influence in Congress has dropped to its lowest point since he assumed office.

What is the explanation for that seemingly political paradox?

One answer is that any President's influence and power wane when it is known that he is serving his last term, and under the United States Constitution Mr. Eisenhower cannot run again in 1960. Usually, that decline in influence occurs nearer the end of a term, not at the beginning.

A second factor, of course, is that President Eisenhower's political thinking is in conflict with that of the right wing of his party, and despite Ike's overpowering victory last year the conservative Republicans have made definite strides toward regaining control of the GOP. It's a strange situation.

Insult was added to injury when Gerald A. Kimmler of El Paso, after being struck by a motorcycle, sustaining a broken leg and being removed to the hospital, was handed a ticket for jaywalking by a police officer who visited his hospital bed. They probably gave the motorcyclist a special commendation.

He said the BC helped lift the cultural and educational level of the general populace.

EVERYWHERE we look in our community we see the signs of progress that foretell a happy and prosperous future for all: New industries creating new jobs; new homes bringing new neighbors; improved highways to speed the flow of commerce and recreation; new shopping centers to keep pace with a growing population; and, of particular concern to us, the opportunity of making and serving new friends as we have been doing for years. Because we feel that Newton-Waltham Bank is inseparable from the life of the community, we take special care to offer almost every conceivable type of metropolitan banking service on a neighbor-to-neighbor basis through our conveniently located neighborhood offices. Author's Teacher Brings Fine Background to Jr. College

Julius Vexler, who will conduct a course in Great Authors in the evening division of the Newton Junior College, will bring a wealth of study and experience to the post.

At Harvard where he won both a B.A. (cum laude) and an M.A., he studied under such great teachers as Lowes, Kitteredge and Babbitt. He has conducted adult education classes at both under-graduate and post-graduate levels.

He is an author of essays of criticism, poetry, and plays, as well as documentary reports on Massachusetts matters. His "Essence of Comedy" was published in the Sewanee Review; his translations of Racine's Esther and Phedre won praise from Katherine Cornell; he has written and directed pageants and two plays, Jonah and Esther. He is a frequent newspaper and magazine contributor.

Mr. Vexler has done research among colonial manuscripts in Beacon Hill where he is with the the Massachusetts Archives on Documents Division at the State House and has been secretary to the joint legislative committee on State-Local Relations.

In the Great Authors course which is expected to enroll both adults and students from the day division of the College, he seeks out permanent values to be found in Homer, Virgil, Dante, Shakespeare, Robert Frost and others. He discovers with his students what has made "classics" endure, their meaningfulness to any reader's emotions and problems. With his students, Mr. Vexler tries to rediscover moments of illumination in great books.

The first meeting of the course in on Thursday, Sept. 26 7-9 p.m. in the Junior College Building, Walnut Street at Washington Park, Newtonville. Inquiries about registration and fees may be had from the Registrar by phoning Decatur 2-3542. The College offers a wide range of cultural and technician courses.

50,000 Voters To Get Notices

An appropriation of $300 was approved by the Board of Aldermen at their meeting this week to pay for the printing of notices which City Clerk Monte G. Basbas will mail to 50,000 Newton voters informing them of the precinct in which they now live as a result of the redivision of the city into eight wards.

The voters also will be reminded in the notice sent out by Basbas that in the Nov. 5 election they will ballot on the question of raising the pay of the Mayor of Newton from $12,000 to $15,000 a year beginning next Jan. 1.

On President's Honor Roll

President C. Fred Burdett of Burdett College, Boston, announces that Miss Gloria M. Osgood of 11 Allston st., Newtonville, achieved the President's Honor Roll for excellence in scholarship for the last semester of her first year at Burdett.

Col. Sullivan, Hub Police Head, Dies In South Boston

Boston Police Commissioner Thomas F. Sullivan died Tuesday at his South Boston home following an illness of several months. He was 79.

Death ended a long career in the service of his city and state. A veteran of the Spanish-American War, in which he rose from the rank of private to major, he was identified with various important posts for nearly 50 years.

It is expected that Registrer of Deeds Leo J. Sullivan will be appointed by Governor Furcolo to head the Boston police department.

Commissioner Sullivan had served as police commissioner for 14 years. He was appointed by the then Governor Saltonstall following a period of several years when the Boston police came under attack from a number of sides.

His administration was marked by a complete independence which at times drew criticism of Sullivan, but he weathered all attacks and usually wound up by having things done in the way he wished.

He even took on the FBI when the Washington office of that great law-enforcement arm declared that the Boston crime records were not kept in a modern, efficient manner. Sullivan's answer was that to use the system favored by the FBI would be too costly. He won his point.

He was considered one of the nation's top construction engineers.

In a large measure he was responsible for many of the traffic facilities of the city. Three of the most important traffic links were built under his guidance the East Boston rapid transit tube across the harbor; the Sumner tunnel and the Kenmore square subway extension.

Register Sullivan is a former member of the State Senate and was elected register of deeds in 1946. He served last year as Gov. Furcolo's Boston campaign manager.

Woman Alderman Seeks 3rd Term

Miss Adelaide B. Ball, only woman member of the Board of Aldermen, announced today that she will be a candidate for reelection to a third term from the Ward 1 section in the municipal election to be held Nov. 5.

Miss Ball, who lives at 35 Waban street in Newton, is the first woman ever elected to the Aldermanic Board.

During her two terms in office she has served on the franchise and licenses committee, the public buildings commitee, the public works committee, the wards lines committee and the municipal parking and meters committee.

For the past two years she has been acting chairman for the Kendrick Fund.

Miss Ball was born in Newton and was educated in the city's schools.

She has been actively associated with a number of civic organizations and at the present time is a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton Community Chest, the Family Service Bureau of Newton, the Newton Boys Club, the Newton Girl Scouts and the Newton Improvement Society.

The lady Alderman also is active in the Newton Community Club, the Social Science Club and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and is president of the Friends of Jackson Homestead.

Miss Ball asserts that these activities, together with the knowledge and experience gained during her two terms on the Board of Aldermen, have given her a good understanding of the problems of Newton and its citizens.

House Cuts $8 Million Off Furcolo Budget In 'No-New-Taxes' Stand

In a marathon night session, the Democratic- controlled Massachusetts House of Representatives this week administered another severe rebuke to Governor Furcolo as it slashed nearly $8 million from his proposed $20 million supplementary budget.

It followed the recommendations of its tightly-economy-minded Ways and Means Committee with an amazing item-by-item fidelity as it swung its keen-edged axe through a session which technically consumed two legislative days.

When it completed its night's work there fas $12,602,773 left for the supplementary budget. That's exactly what the Ways and Means Committee recommended. Furcolo had asked for $20,059,369.

..Concerning the ruthless 40 percent pruning, Ways and Means Chairman John J. Toomey (D-Cambridge) laconically said, "This budget will require no new taxes."

Furcolo had proposed three new taxes to finance the extra $8 million. One of them would have put another one-cent tax—the sixth—on every package of cigarettes sold in the Commonwealth.

The Senate is expected to concur with the House.

By way of answering Furcolo's plea that the State would not be able to provide necessary public health and education services the House provided 379 new State jobs, 120 in mental health, 81 in education and 32 in public health. And it did so within the limitations of the $12 million-plus budget.

Following the long debate the House adjourned for a week's vacation.

Even in the face of the powerful attempts of the majority of legislators to effect economy in State government and halt the upward climb of taxes the total Furcolo budget for the fiscal year will break all previous records.

Total authorized appropriations for the current fiscal year is $395,773,100—about $21 million more than the State spent in the last fiscal year which ended June 30.

Thieves who broke into the home of Edward Dangel at 65 Hammond st. carried away a large quantity of silverware, a Revere tape recorder and two neckties, and as they were leaving also stole a 1954 Oldsmobile as well.

The automobile subsequently was abandoned in Boston, and police have been checking it for fingerprints.

Also reported were several other thefts.

Lillian Friese of 895 Dedham st. reported that thieves carried away six plaster paris ducks and a cement flamingo which had been decorating the lawn in front of her home.

Benjamin Shaffer, building contractor who is erecting a new house at 975 Dedham st., notified police that thieves carted away a $50 screen door, a $50 aluminum window, eight building brackets worth $30, an $11 bag of nails and two area ways worth $15.

While Edward Cooney of 1307 Centre st., had his automobile parked in the driveway of his home, someone carried away a navy blue suit, a whipe poplin raincoat, a pair of cord trousers and a pair of dacron trousers. Cooney placed a $90 value on the clothing.

Mrs. Francis Luzzo of 40 Byrd ave. reported to police that while she was shopping in a drug store at Washington and Waltham sts. an alumninum pushcart with rubber wheels, worth $5.95, which she had left outside the store, was stolen.

Registration for All-Newton Music School, Open Sept. 3-6

Plans are complete for the opening of the 47th season of the All Newton Music School at 398 Walnut st., Newtonville.

Registrations will be held during Labor Day week, Tuesday through Friday, Sept. 3-6, from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. All former students must re-register as soon as possible, after which new applicants will be considered. The latter must apply for an interview and will be accepted as far as openings permit.

On Monday, Sept. 9, the Music School will begin the Fall Semester offering private individual lessons in piano, violin, viola, cello, double bass, clarinet and flute. Orchestra rehearsals will begin at once during the first week of school.

Pre-instrumental and musicianship classes will start during the first week of October. It is advisable for all children to start their music study no later than seven years of age in these classes. The work here lays a foundation for the knowledge and skills needed in any future music study. Without this training, the young child has too much to learn all at once when he starts piano or any instrumental lessons. At the All Newton Music School, all students must have one year of pre-instrumental and theory study before starting instrumental lessons, or must take the class work along with the private lessons.

The All Newton Music School begins its new season under the direction of Mary Bartlett Lenom, B.S., M.A., who succeeds Mrs. Mabel B. Worth, former director who retired Sept. 1. Mrs. Lenom is a graduate of the New England Conservatory, a pupil of Nadia Bowlanger, Paris, F. S. Converse, Boston, and Isidor Philipp, Fontainbleau, France. She has her Master's Degree from Columbia University and was for ten years a member of the faculty of the Manhattan School of Music, New York City. Mrs. Lenom brings a wealth of experience in dealing with the young student and a personality that will endear her to her teachers, parents and students.

The music school's faculty which is of the highest order will remain the same as last season with the exception of Miss Leslie Kyte, voice teacher for the past 22 years, and Miss Edna Tuckerman, cello teacher for the past 12 years. Both of these exceptional teachers will be greatly missed. The school is fortunate in securing Robert Ripley of the Boston Symphony to head the cello department. He will be assisted by Miss Dorothea Jump, also a well known cellist of Metropolitan Boston.

The new director, Mrs. Lenom, will shortly announce the successor to Miss Kyle in the voice department, as well as other changes and new developments.

The All Newton Music School has been a center of art and culture in Newton since its founding by Elizabeth Fyffe, in April, 1911. It is a charter member of the Newton Community Chest, the Newton Community Council and the National Guild of Community Music Schools.

Radio Equipment Installed At Leland Powers

During the summer Leland Powers School of Radio, TV and Theatre in Boston has Completely re-equipped its second full sized radio studio with the latest RCA console, turntables and microphones.

The school now has two RCA equipped major radio studios and a news studio as well as a Theatre Radio studio complete with a director's control console and dual bandwagon. Using this equipment students are able to create and produce any type of program broadcast by commercial stations today. Thus they are not only technically well trained in all phases of radio broadcasting but are well grounded in the overall picture of the radio and TV profession as a whole.

Marine Flyer Wins Medal For Heroic Action

David N. Ganz of 48 Old Colony road, Newton, a second lieutenant in a Marine helicopter transport squadron, recently was presented the Navy and Marine Corps Medal for his heroic actions while serving as a flight student in Pensacola, Florida.

While serving as a flight student attached to a helicopter training unit in Pensacola last November, the helicopter in which Ganz was receiving instruction crashed and started to burn.

The Newton man freed himself from the wreckage and then re-entered the burning plane to help rescue his instructor.

As soon as he had pulled the instructor to a place of safety, Lt. Ganz with his bare hands attempted to smother and put out the flames in the instructor's blazing, gasoline-soaked clothing before the crash crew arrived.

Colonel Keith B. McCutcheon, commanding officer of the Marine Air Group-26 at Pensacola, presented the medal to Ganz in recognition of his valor. The ceremonies were held at the Marine Corps air station in Cherry Point, North Carolina.

In making the presentation McCutcheon declared that by his quick initiative and courage in an emergency Lt. Ganz was directly responsible for saving his instructor's life.

His heroic actions were described by the colonel as in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service.

Lt. Ganz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ganz. He is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and entered the Marine Corps in July, 1955.

Sewer Job to Cost More Than Officials Expected

It is going to cost more to build a sewer pumping station on Edgewater park in Auburndale than municipal officials had anticipated.

A low bid of $30,665 quoted by a Hyde Park firm was $665 more than the Board of Aldermen has allowed for the project which will provide sewer service for about two-score homes in the East Pine street and Edgewater park sections.

Rob't Oxnam Gained Junior Archery Title

Robert Oxnam, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Oxnam of 121 Kirkstall Road, Newtonville, swept the junior events in the 73rd annual championship tournament of the National Archery Association, held recently in Sacramento, California.

Showing exceptional skill, the young archer shot the highest Junior American and Clout Rounds ever recorded in a National Tournament, winning by a 180 point lead over Terry Dziuk of Des Moines.

The new junior boke the single Junior American round setting a new national record of 90-752. The previous record was 90-722. He shattered the quadruple Junior American Round with 360 hits for a score of 2974, bettering the record 156 points. Shooting with perfect form, he broke or tied all the previous national range records. One of his most remarkable feats was in the Clout Round, a distance of 120 yards. In this round he made 36 hits with 36 arrows for a total of 284 points of a possoble of 324, beating the national record by 28 points.

The title of champion is not new to Rob as he has been junior champion of the Newton Archers and of the Massachusetts State Association for the past three years. He has held the junior championship of the Eastern Archery Association for the past two years. This was his first national championship. He placed second in the championship event at Lakewood, New Jersey in 1956. Rob has only attended two national tournaments.

The young Newton archer surprised everyone with his skill with this ancient weapon. He has been in the sport for three years but has gained an outstanding record. He now holds all of the junior records in the Massachusetts, Eastern and National Archery Associations. The Eastern States Association includes all of New England, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Washington , D. C. and the National Association has memberships in every state in the union.

In his 1957 championship competions he has not missed a single arrow. In fact in the past two years of competition in club, state, eastern and national tournament events he has only missed one arrow. There are few senior archers who can boast such accuracy. This control of the bow is indeed an accomplishment for one so young.

Last year at Hyannis at the Annual Indian Summer Tournament, he set an all time high by shooting in tournament 90 hits for a score of 774 in the Junior American Round. While accomplishing this score he shot six consecutive six golds, which means that thirty six arrows were shot consecutively into the gold. This is the highest tournament score ever recorded by the National Archery Association.

Archery is a family sport with Robert Oxnam. His father, Dr. Oxnam, Vice President of Boston University placed sixth in the men's National championship competition. Dr. Oxnam is President and Champion of the Massachusetts Archery Association and placed second in the Eastern Association tournament in July. Dr. Oxnam was president of the Newton Archers in 1955-56 and has held the men's club championship for the past three years. During the time he was president, the club grew from 30 members to 270 members.

Rob's 11-year old brother, Phil, has held the Beginner Boy Championship of the Newton Archers for the past three years. Mrs. Oxnam and her daughter, Mary Beth, 7, enjoy archery competition. Mrs. Oxnam has been ladies club champion of the Newton Archers for the past three years and is one of the high scorers in the state club tournaments.

MICHAEL HANSEN

Travel Service Agency To Open In Newton Centre

"Travel is practically my middle name!" says Michael Hansen, manager of the Hammond Travel Service, opening Sept. 5 in Newton Centre, and looking into his background it is easy to see what he means. In the past fifteen years he has visited practically every major city in the United States, plus most of the capital cities of Mexico, Central and South America. He has toured the Caribbean and travelled extensively throughout Western Europe, North Africa, the Middle East and the British Isles.

Hansen was born in Salt Lake City, but has spent the majority of his 36 years in Los Angles. After graduating from college he went to work for the Automobile Club of Southern California, where he received a thorough training in travel and traveller's needs. From here he went on to become a travel agent, rising eventually to the position of manager of one of the largest independent travel agencies in California.

He has recently completed a travel book on Europe: "European Mosiac," and plans similar book on Mexico and South America.

Hansen is now a permanent resident of Newton and looks forward to personally welcoming Newton residents in the smart new offices of the Hammond Travel Service, at 767 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

Scottish Games on Monday List Top Talent and Bands

The annual picnic and program of Highland games to be conducted by Clan Sutherland, of Brookline, at Brookline Field, next Monday, September 2nd, will feature many innovations.

Thousands are attracted to this event each year to enjoy the spectacle of Old Scotland on parade, the traditional music, the centuries-old dances, and the thrilling marching lilts of the pipe bands.

Competition is drawn to the annual games from all over the eastern part of the country and Canada to match skill against the New Englanders. The games are ranked with the best Scottis competition in the United States and Canada.

One of the interesting entries this year is the Burke family from Prince Edward's Island, comprising six people. Burke senior is a Pipe Major at home. Other members of the family, Heather, ten, Tommy, eleven, Donald, seventeen; Frank, eighteen; and Shirley, twenty-one, will be entered in the dancing events.

Other entrants will represent Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, New York, Pennsylvania, and all six New England states.

The big attraction is the Pipe bands, and the entries this year are really interesting. Pipe bands from Bridgeport, Stamford, Manchester, (Conn.) and Worcester and Boston will strive for the championship of the eastern United States, while there is also a probability of Canadian military participation. After the competition the bands form into one unit and march in massed formation, which is a truly unforgettable experience to witness.

The Scottish Country Dance Society of Boston under Miss Jeanie Carmichael will demonstrate the group dances that graced many a Highland Castle hundreds of years ago and would have been forgotten but for groups such as these.

Other athletic events will round out the program such as the soccer football game between Clan Sutherland and the Revere Soccer Club, the invitation Tug of War and the Pillow Fight.

A spacious new dance board for the general public to use will be available with appropriate music, and there will be ample catering on the field.

When he walked into his home at 16 George street, Newton, the other day, he was 20 pounds lighter than when he went away. It wasn't the food. The Russians plied him with the best they had. It wasn't the lack of sleep that went with preaching the gospel of freedom in a land where they've done their best to erradicate freedom and even the thoughts of freedom.

However, you can't come as close as he did to one of those Soviet brain-washing shops and maybe a little sojourn of 20 to 50 years in Siberia, without getting a little nervous.

In the end the Russians decided to allow him to go home. He'd done enough damage to their propaganda machine. To attempt to punish him for tossing a nice big monkey wrench into their carefully oiled machine would have only made things a lot worse for the Soviet.

If you happen to hear in the next few months that the comrade who thought up the idea of the Moscow World Youth Festival has disappeared mysteriously — blame it on George Abrams of George street, Newton, Mass. Somebody will have to pay for what George did to the Soviets prize show of the year.

In 15 days George probably did more than the Voice of America could do in 15 months. And George didn't have millions of dollars to do it with either. All he had was his voice, a sharp mind and courage galore.

He'll never be invited behind the Iron Curtain again. At least not as long as the Commies keep Asia and its millions in a straigh-jacket.

George is the son of Attorney Samuel Abrams of 16 George street, a prominent Boston lawyer with office at 1 State street.

He was invited along with 159 other young Americans to participate in the Moscow Youth Festival. The Russians figured they'd put on quite a show. They'd trot out the best. Show the young men and the women the brightest facades. Then the young men and young women would go home and tell the folks we had Russia all wrong.

"Russia," they'd go home and tell everybody, "is just a great big freedom-loving bear that should be permitted to control the whole world."

It was as simple as that.

George Abrams didn't go along. As soon as the American party got to Moscow, they rolled out the red carpet. There were delegates from other countries but it was apparent the propaganda masters in the Kremlin were aiming their best stuff at the Americans.

They went out of their way to give the Americans the best. They even gave them interpreters and told them to stroll around and take a good-look-see. That's where they made their mistake.

George seized the opportunity.

He strolled Red Square all right. He'd stop on street corners and through his interpreters tell the Russians about things their masters don't dare let them think about — much less than read. There were question-and-answer sessions.

At the start the Muscovites were attentive. They asked questions. Good lawyer that he's going to be, George answered.

Once he found himself atop Lenin's Tomb itself. More than 1000 heard him. He read the United Nations' report on Hungary condemning the Soviet government as it has rarely been condemned. The folks listened. They asked more questions.

Like Socrates, George continued his perambulating. He found opportunities to slip leaflets to the natives telling them about the Soviet brutalities in Hungary. Lots of the recipients were university students.

Instead of being converted, as the Russians had hoped, Of course, it had to happen. George was converting.

The Russian propaganda masters caught up with the manner in which their gimmick was working in reverse. Pretty soon George had company when he went out for a stroll. Heavy-footed guards plodded behind him everywhere he went. There were hecklers planted in the crowds, too. They heckled in English.

When he tucked himself into bed at night he knew that at the hotel room door a boy from the Kremlin was stationed.

The Commie bosses had had enough of George Abrams. But they didn't dare act openly against him. That would have had a bad reaction on the rest of the outsiders attending the Youth Festival.

But the papers screamed. The official Sovetskaya Rusiya (all Russian papers are official, of course) screamed. It called him a Fascist and a provacateur. And suddenly a group of well-brain-washed from Hungary declared he was one of the men who actually started the Hungarian counter-revolution.

However, George wanted to make hay while the making was good. He continued to roam Moscow addressing street corner gatherings from 3 p.m. to 4 a.m., often without sleep and often without the nice food the Russians were dishing up for the visitors.

"Whenever I read the Hungarian report the people got very interested," he related when he landed at Idlewild Airport the other day aboard a KLM Royal Dutch airliner from Amsterdam.

"I feel strongly that the Russian government is really separated from the Russian people. The government has them in a vacuum and they feed them whatever they want. The Russian people are actually a brain-washed state."

As the Festival neared its end, Abrams was told he needed an exit visa to leave Russia and that it would be approved one minute before his flight time. It was only then he became a bit scared. The visa came through just one minute before the plane took off.

Of the 41 youthful Americans who went from Moscow to Red China against the urgent advice of the U. S. State Department and even President Eisenhower himself Abrams believes that maybe two to four are Commies. He emphasizes that that is only a guess.

As he was speeding his way home, the willful 41 were being given a royal welcome in Peiping. Peiping wanted no part of the trained American newsmen to whom the State Department finally decided to grant visas to go behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Red China was willing to go along with giving the willful 41 a guided tour. They'll probably be on the alert, too, to make sure that there's no George Abrams among them.

One of the 41 is known to the Attorney General's office in New Hampshire. He was questioned at length about his extensive membership in Communist-front organizations several months ago.

It isn't likely that he will pull a George Abrams on the Red Chinese.

It isn't likely either that any of the 41 will be taken around to the prison camps to see the Fecteaus and the other Americans who remain prisoners of Mao's tough red brass. They won't see much of the brain-washing stations either.

They'll just be conditioned to come home and tell the folks that we've got the Chinese Reds all wrong, too. What's a little blood and a few million lives when you're trying for world domination?

ity to again express my appreciation to the citzens of Newton for their full cooperation during the period when it was felt necessary for the entire area to reduce its water consumption," the Mayor stated.

He reported that the reduction in the amount of water consumed in Newton was actually greater than the cut requested by the Metropolitan District Commission.

"I am fully aware of the inconvenience which the people have willingly accepted and of the restraint which they exercised to the detriment of the appearance of their properties," he said.

"I share with them," the Mayor continued, "the feeling of relief that we can now use a normal amout of water. The supply of water in the city is entirely adequate, and the distribution problems which have been troublesome over the last few years have been corrected so that all sections of the city should now enjoy a full supply."

Pajama Game Delights Audiences at Met

"The Pajama Game," Warner Bros.' colorful screen version of the sensational Broadway musical, is now on view at the Metropolitan Theatre. Starring Doris Day, John Raitt, Eddie Foy, Jr., and the entire cast of the original Broadway production, the film tells the story of a union's attempt to win an hourly pay raise of 7½ cents in a midwest pajama factory.

A George Abbott-Stanley Donen production, the movie is gay with sparkling dialogue and such hit tunes as "Hernando's Hideaway" and "Steam Heat."

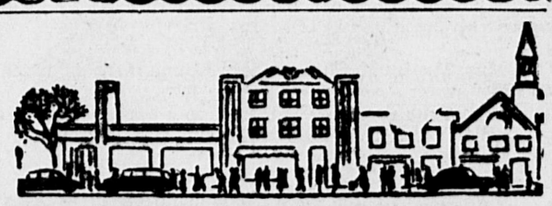

The companion attraction is "Pawnee," starring George Montgomery and Lola Albright.

Final Union Services Will Be Held Sunday

The Rev. Benjamin R. Andrews Jr., minister of the Central Congregational Church, will be the preacher at the Newton Union Summer Services on Sunday, September 1, at 11 o'clock at the Central Church on Walnut street in Newtonville.

Mr. Andrews continues the policy of having one local preacher participate in the union services. He came to Central Church last fall from the First Church of Christ in Northampton, Massachusetts, and was formerly chaplain at Northfield School for Girls.

This will be the final union service. On September 8 the cooperating churches will resume regular services.

Fall Schedule at St. Mary's Church

St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls, will begin its fall schedule next Sunday, Sept. 1st.

There will be three services beginning with Holy Communion at 8, a family service at 9:30 and morning prayer and sermon at 11.

Executive Secretary of Chamber Of Commerce Resigns Position

Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce since July 1, 1956, has resigned. At the same time Carroll W. Walters, vice president also resigned. The resignations were accepted "with regret" by the board of directors.

Muther, who is also executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, said his resignation was due to the increase in his law practice and because of difficulty involved in representing both organizations. Mr. Walters is moving to Somerville.

Named vice-president to succeed Mr. Walters was Richard J. White, West Newton contractor. Elected a director to fill the vacancy resulting from Mr. Walters' resignation was Philip Bram, Newtonville merhant. The executive committee was authorized to engage a new executive secretary who must have had experience in Chamber of Commerce work.

Muther's letter of resignation to President Colburn was as follows:

"I regret that, due to the growth of my law practice and the dificulties involved in one man's satisfactorily representing both the Chamber of Commerce and the Taxpayer's Association in the same city, I must tender my regisnation as executive secretary of the Newton Chamber.

Police Locate Young Vandals

Three boys, aged 15 and 16, who made a shambles of the home of Michael Chapman at 4 Glemore ter. in Newton Highlands, were apprehended by police, and their parents forced to pay for the damage they caused.

The youths squirted shaving cream around a bedroom, emptied wine in the kitchen, removed food from the refrigerator and damaged the microphone of a recording machine.

They were rounded up by Patrolmen William E. Olds and Richard J. Duffy.

Archers Will Hold Tournament Mon.

The Newton Archers will hold their annual open Labor Day tournament at Brewer Park, Newton Centre Playground, next Tuesday.

This year's tournament is to be held in memory of Robert Campbell Goldich, former member of the Newton Archers, who was not only a champion archer but whose sportsmanship and leadership were an inspiration to those who knew him.

Goldich was killed in a racing accident at Sebring, Florida, last March 13. Members of his family, including his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Goldich of Dover, formerly of Newton, plan to be present at the field at 11 a.m.

A citation will be read at 5 p.m. after the tournament by Dr. Robert F. Oxnam, president of the Massachusetts State Archery Association, in the Playground House at Brewer Park.

Registration and practice for the tournament will begin at 9:30 a.m. on Monday and the tournament will start at 10 o'clock. The rounds that will be shot are Double American for ladies, York or Double American for gentlemen, Double American for Intermediates, Double Junior American for Juniors, Double Worcester for Beginners. This is a N.A.A. and M.S.A.A. six golds tournament. The target fees are $1.50 for seniors, and 75c for intermediates, juniors and beginners. Awards will be presented in all classes according to the National Archery Association classification.
